Waldport.

The Commercial Club had a rousing meeting Tuesday evening.

Ernest Lebow returned home the 23d after a visit at Cottage Grove.

Uncle Sam's soldier boys are again camping in the Ruble pasture.

W. W. Allingham, representing the Pacific Coast Biscuit Company was in town on the 22d.

Fire Warden Evens had a crew of men working one day last week extinguishing a fire which started in the drift wood and was working toward some green timber.

Dr. Linton has decided to build a store in Waldport and has bought a lot north of the mill property. He will discontinue handling groceries and will confine his attention to the drug business.

W. G. Helms has purchased forty acres on Canal creek from Marion Ruble. The price paid was twenty dollars per acre. There is some fine bottom land on this place.

Skiff Morrison came home Saturday after having been out into the Valley where he underwent a surgical operation on his foot. Skiff still has to use crutches but hopes to discard them soon.

Miss Alice Griffin, who has conducted the Waldport barber shop for some time, left for Portland last week. Sam Smith run the shop a while Saturday.

Mrs. O. V. Hurt has been under the care of Dr. Linton for a couple of weeks, but is now reported to be much improved.

The band boys are taking a rest during the remainder of the fishing season and will not meet for rehearsals until November. Their work Saturday evenings will probably keep them in practice.

The Gerald C arrived in port early Monday morning, having brought in cannery supplies. The Condor came in Friday with a load of merchandise from Yaquina bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Nash returned home Monday after a ten days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nice. They took with them a beautiful collection of sketches made during the visit.

While hunting for water agates Kenneth Keady picked up a football emblem bearing the monogram of the Multnomah Club of Portland. Inquiry made through the club brought the information that it belonged to J. A. McKinnon and the property has been restored to him.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller of Kings Valley have sent in over fifty head of stock for their Drift Creek ranch. Mr. Miller returned home Monday to look after a couple of head which were lost on the road. The Coast country looks good to Mr. Miller after having spent the summer in the Valley. The second crop of grass on the ranch here is waist high.

Saturday night's dance was one of the most enjoyable events of the season. The ladies took charge and the way they kept things going was not slow. Even the music seemed to have an extra charm and all who attended expressed a wish that the club would again surrender the management to the ladies in the near future.

H. B. Darling, of the Damascus Creamery, has canvassed this part of the county and has found enough business to justify the establishment of a branch in this place. A full outfit will be shipped in and established in the old creamery building owned by C. L. Diven, provided it can be secured, and if not a new building will be erected. The establishing of a creamery at this place is one of the most important things which could happen to advance the interests of the community. The commercial club made an effort last Fall to get creamery men interested but it took the dry season in the Valley this year to convince them that the coast was the place. Several different companies have been looking over the ground but the Damascus Creamery has secured the business.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Falcon returned yesterday morning to their home at Ransburg, California, after a week's visit with Mrs. Falcon's brother, M. A. Nye, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Falcon are highly pleased with Lincoln county, where everything is green the year around. They were pleased with the water, the green grass and timber, the salt air and sea breeze. They say it is such a contrast to their home country, which is on the very edge of Death Valley, where they very seldom see anything green and the heat is intense. It would not be surprising to see them residing in Lincoln county before many months.

A Letter.

Fresno, Cal., Sept. 19, 1909.

To the good people and enquiring friends of Lincoln county, Oregon, I write once more. The other time I wrote we were in Burrough Valley. We stayed there nearly four months, but did not like it there as all farming is dry land farming and the land is rough and stoney and the birds, especially the woodpeckers, are very hard on the fruit and nuts. Then there are rattlesnakes, scorpions, centipedes, tarantulas, lizards or swifts, diamond bugs and ants enough for four states. The diamond bug is a blood-sucker and comes to your bed at night like a bed bug but much larger and can fly. To some people their bite is very poisonous, and make some very sick. One woman there was bitten and her friends thought she would surely die. We found one in Roys bed one morning full of blood but Roy is bug proof as it did not hurt him in the least.

We are now in Fresno. I took a trip over to Morgan Hill, a distance of nearly two hundred miles, passed through some fine country and some not so fine. I liked the country around Morgan Hill. Prunes, peaches, grapes everywhere. I was in one large peach orchard. It was a sight to see the trees covered with large yellow peaches. I was made welcome, and I ate until I became like the boy who ate the blackberry pie. He told his mother he did not like blackberry pie.

On my way home I had to lay over in San Jose from 9 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. After walking the streets and looking at the beautiful trees and palms and flowers until I was tired, I took an electric car and rode around the loop, thirty miles, seen a fine country, orchard after orchard.

Here at Fresno on the east side for twelve miles is almost one solid vineyard. Grapes of all kinds, and I suppose it is the same on all sides. I am told that there are fifty packing houses here. I am at work in the Fresno Home Packing Co. I get 17 1/2 cents per hour and can work as many hours as I wish. They run every day in the week and part of the night. They let me off before Sabbath, that is sun down Friday night, then I work Sundays.

The Adventists here have a membership of over three hundred and a house of worship that cost, I am told, $41,000. My wife's health is still improving and my health is excellent. We have seen rain only once since we came to California—one continuous sunshine. Roy started to church-school today. We are happy and getting along fine.

With best wishes to all the good people of Lincoln county, I remain Yours truly,

ADAM RAE, Fresno, Calif.
