

SMITH WANTS
Thousands and thousands of poultry for Thanksgiving. Ship immediately. He will pay the market price and he will not charge you commission. As we go to press the market prices ruling are as follows:
Dressed Turkey, 25 to 26c. Dressed Chicken, 16 to 18c.
Dressed Goose, 17 1/2 to 20c. Dressed Duck, 20 to 25c.
Chicken, 15 to 16c. Dressed Black Hops, 11c.
Dressed Veal, (small) 11c.
Remember Smith was a good, fat stuff. He will pay the ruling market price at Thanksgiving. Can any other man do more? I think not. Smith uses more poultry than any other dealer in the whole Northwest. He has 20 markets of his own and supplies other dealers as well. Address all shipments:

The Domestic Band.
Father is an adept at blowing his own trumpet, while mother is equally expert at harping on one string. Mother-in-law has to play second fiddle, and Aunt Jane leads a humdrum existence. Grandpa gives every night a solo on his nasal organ, without stops; uncle spends his time in wetting his whistle, John is foud of his pipe, and Emily is forever ringing the changes on her lovers—and I'm a bit of a lyre myself.—Judge.

Restoring Ivory.
To restore ivory carvings that have become discolored, expose them under glass to the rays of the sun, after having removed the dust by brushing them with warm water and soap. Turn them from time to time, so that all sides will be equally bleached.

Conscious of Superiority.
"Bliggins seems exceedingly self-confident." "Yes. He has just bought an encyclopedia and feels that if he doesn't know more than any of the rest of us he can whenever he chooses."

FAVORS NOT APPRECIATED
Gratitude Not Shown to Helper—People Do Not Feel Honest in Getting Something for Nothing.

It is a strange phase of human nature, which does not quite appreciate or feel the proper gratitude for favors. I have hardly ever known a boy whose way was paid through college, for example, by some one interested in him, to show the proper regard for his helper, or to quite respect the one who boosted him—who furnished crutches for him when he might have had to use his own legs.

As a rule, the things that we are helped to are never fully appreciated. We experience a satisfaction when we have honestly earned a thing which we do not feel when it is given to us. There is something within which rebels at being helped, because help from others tends to kill self respect. We do not think quite so much of ourselves after having accepted favors or a position which we have not earned, as we did before. The sense of justice in us is violated. We do not feel quite honest in accepting something for nothing.

The man who tries to get along without satisfying his sense of justice is always placed at a disadvantage. He may try to be grateful for unmerited help, for the assistance in getting that which he has not earned, for being given a position far above his merits, through a "pull;" but he never feels quite right about it. The man who has been lifted above others because he was a son or a relative, or because his father owned controlling interest in the concern, never quite respects himself when he goes around among the employees and sees those who have struggled for years and have worked over hours for the position he occupies, and who in fact have developed the strength to maintain the position after they get it. His sense of fairness is violated. He knows that it is not right to take the place which somebody else has honestly earned, and who according to merit should have it. He is conscious, too, that he is not equal to the demands of the position into which he has been boosted.

Failed to Introduce New Clock Idea.
About a year ago all America and England were talking about the new clock idea—turning the clock an hour ahead in summer and back again in winter, so that the whole country would sleep when it was dark and work when it was light. Thus, we would rise at what was really 5, but the clock would call it 6, and retire at 9, but the clock would say 10. Therefore, without changing our daily habits, we could get the benefit of the daylight and save in illumination.

The idea was introduced into the British parliament, but failed to become a law. Two cities, however, adopted it—Birmingham, England, and Cincinnati, Ohio. Both tried in vain to enforce it on the people, but public opinion was against it, and now it has been wholly abandoned. It is rather a shame, for it was a good plan, and in time the public might have been brought to see its utility.

However, here it rests in "innocuous desuetude" until some progressive schemer brings it up again.

Witness Turns the Tables.
Samuel Kallsch tells the following story of a famous lawyer he knew several years ago: "This lawyer," said Mr. Kallsch, "had a fashion of browbeating every witness that came on the stand for the opposite side in the case. Once he was examining a rather meek looking man who steadfastly refused to give a plain answer to any of the lawyer's questions. At last in replying to one question the witness answered that he was unable to say either yes or no.

"Now, that is a ridiculous answer," said the lawyer. "Do you mean to tell me that you could possibly ask me a question to which I could not answer yes or no?"

"Well," said the witness, as he leaned forward and looked at his tormentor, "will you please tell the court, by answering yes or no, if in your estimation you are really as stupid and foolish as you look?"—Newark Star.

Cats Become Semi-Wild.
Domestic cats soon revert to a semi-wild state when once they take to the woods, and are terribly destructive in the coverts. They destroy pheasants, partridges, leverets and rabbits. The life of these wild tabbies is wild indeed. Every dormant instinct is aroused; each movement becomes characteristically feline, and when these creatures revert to life in the woods it is impossible to reclaim them. Climatic influences work remarkable changes upon the fur, causing it to grow longer and thicker, and the cats take up their abode in stony crevasses or hollow trees. In summer, when kittens are produced, the destruction of game is almost incredible.

ONE HINT THAT DIDN'T WORK
Story of Man Whose Life Was Saved by Latch-Key in Pocket Fails to Produce Desired Result.

"The other night," remarked Mr. Timmins deferentially after he had waited two hours for an opening. "Brown was going home, when he was shot at by a footpad."

"Well," said Mrs. Timmins sternly, "would you expect him to be shot by a policeman or a clergyman?"

"No, no, my dear," said Timmins; "but he'd have been killed if the bullet hadn't struck a latch-key in his vest pocket."

"Indeed!" said Mrs. Timmins. "I happen to know that he is insured for $5,000, and if he hadn't had that key his wife would be a rich woman today. If you're hinting for a latch-key, Timmins, you'll have to give me a better reason than that. Now, I'm going to bed, so if you want to read you'll have to sit by the kitchen fire; but don't you dare to light the gas!"

Then with a sigh he resumed the article he had been reading, "How to manage a wife."

Contrary Opinions.
"Aren't some people funny?"
"What's the matter now?"
"The row those officers at West Point are making, when lots of neighborhoods would give the eyes out of their head to have college students give them the 'silence.'"

His One Regret.
"There's no use trying to deny it," remarked Mrs. DeFlatt, "this is the worst cook we've had yet. There positively isn't a decent thing to eat on 'the table.'"

"That's right," rejoined DeFlatt. "But," continued his wife, "there's one thing in her favor. She can't be beat when it comes to washing."

"Pity we can't eat the washing," sighed the hungry husband.

Literal Hospitality.
"In this charming suburb do you welcome the stranger within your gates?"

"We can't."
"Why not?"
"We haven't any gates—only hedges."

A Hard Feat.
"Harry is going to perform a very paradoxical action tonight."

"What is it?"
"He is anxious to know if the girl who is so popular here will accept him, so when he calls on her he is going quietly to sound the bells."

A Forbidden Art.
"I see where science has arrayed itself against a great criminal modern evil."

"What is that?"
"Kidnaping."
"How so?"
"It forbids rocking the baby."

Thoughtfulness.
Senior Partner (of automobile firm)—You're going to send Roxley a booklet about our new $6,000 machine? Why, don't you know he's hopelessly bankrupt?
Junior Partner—Certainly I do; but when he gets that booklet he'll think we haven't found it out yet, and that'll make him happy for at least five minutes.

WONDERFUL PERFORMANCE.

"Fred made a remarkable record with his automobile last Sunday."
"How many miles did he go?"
"I don't know anything about the distance, but he ran the thing nearly all day without hurting anybody or breaking down once."

On the Wane.
"John!"
"Well, honeybunch!"
"You are smoking!"
"Why, come to notice it, so I am!"
"You promised me that you would give up smoking the day we were married!"
"And I did give it up, dear—the day we were married."

One of Many.
He—So she's a business woman?
What business is she interested in?
She—Oh, everybody's.

A Doubtful Member.
In Miss Wood's kindergarten class there were eight pupils, four girls and four boys. One of the boys, however, had not yet reached the estate of kilts not to mention trousers. Accordingly when little Susan Phelps was asked by a visitor to tell how many boys and how many girls there were, her confused reasoning went as follows:
"There's eight, one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, Miss Elliott," she replied. "And if he's a girl"—she pointed at one who wore dresses in stead of manly garb—"why, there's five girls, and one, two, three boys. But if she's a boy, there's one, two, three, four girls, and one, two—four boys. She's really a boy, you know Miss Elliott," she concluded, in conclusion.—Youth's Companion.

Mothers will find Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup the best remedy to use for their children during the teething period.

Patriotism.
"I know a fellow," remarked the man on the car, "who says that every time he hears a band play 'Yankee Doodle' he can feel the goose pimples creeping all over him, and yet it takes a precinct committeeman to drag him to polls on registration day."

OLD SOLDIER WISHES TO HELP SUFFERERS FROM KIDNEY, LIVER AND BLADDER TROUBLES.

I am frequently troubled with kidney and bladder trouble, especially in the Spring and Fall. Being an old Veteran of the Civil War, a little exposure or cold settles on my kidneys, and then I am laid up with kidney or bladder trouble. Your Swamp-Root was recommended to me a number of years ago, and I took a number of bottles of it and was more than pleased with the results. I consider Swamp-Root the greatest and best kidney medicine on the market and it never fails to give quick results in kidney trouble, bladder trouble and lame back.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root has done me so much good that I feel if any words of mine will be the means of relieving any poor sufferers, that you are at liberty to use this letter as you see fit.

Yours very truly,
GEORGE W. ATCHLEY.
State of Iowa, Des Moines, Ia.

A. R. Hansen, a retail druggist of this city being first duly sworn deposes and says, that he is well acquainted with George W. Atchley who gave the above testimonial; that said Atchley made and signed said testimonial in my presence and that I have sold said Atchley a part of the Swamp-Root referred to in above testimonial. Affiant further says that George W. Atchley is a well known citizen of this city and an honorable man, and that it was Mr. Atchley's desire to give said testimonial.

Discontent and Progress.
The pessimist who refuses to believe in any advance is quite as wrong as the optimist who denies that there is any necessity for a forward movement. Now, as always, discontent is a duty, for it is condition precedent to progress. It is not discontent that throws the dynamite bomb; it is despair.—Brander Matthews.

A Contemporary Opinion of Byron.
These poems ("Hours of Idleness") completely prove, that although George Gordon, Lord Byron, a minor, whose portrait we give, may be a gentleman, an orator, or a statesman, unless he improves wonderfully, he can never be a poet.—From the Satirist, London, 1807.
