Sam Center has been laid up this week owing to a mixup with a runaway last Thursday. Mr. Center was on his way home from town and as he was crossing the road near George Hoeslein's a drunken Indian came driving down the hill, running his horses as fast as they could go. Mr. Center did not hear the team until they were right upon him and it was too late to get out of the way, and so was knocked down and the team and wagon passed over him. Fortunately no bones were broken but he was bruised up pretty fierce. We do not know who the Indian was but he should certainly be punished.

Montana is getting in line with other Pacific Northwest states for development. Billings, a city of less than 11,000 people, raised $17,760 at one meeting for publicity work during the past week. The Oregon system is spreading and this state should not fall behind others in the good work.

Prof. James Dryden, head of the Department of Poultry Husbandry at the Oregon Agricultural College, will judge the work of the contestants and award prizes.

LOCAL INSTITUTE

AT NASHVILLE.

Saturday, November 4th, there will be held a local institute at Nashville. Nashville is not the largest city in the state, but it has a better location for a local institute than any of the other stations on the railroad in this county. The teachers of Newport, Toledo and other districts along the line can go there, spend five or six hours, and return to their homes or schools the same day. There are at least thirty teachers who are now teaching that can attend, so we will be sure to have large attendance of those who are now at work in the school room, but this meeting is not for the teachers alone, it is for the school officers, parents and friends to the public school.
