NORMAL SCHOOL NOTES.

The work in all the departments of the school is progressing very satisfactorily and more interest than ever is manifested in the work by the students.

One thing which is attracting much attention at the present time is the play-ground movement. The need of systematized and supervised play for children is being felt more and more, both in the home and the school, and, as a result of this need the regular play ground course has been introduced into the Normal. Miss Gertrude Wilcox, who is a graduate of Wellesley College, is giving a course to all seniors. Miss Wilcox has had much experience in supervision of play grounds in schools and cities of the East and is thoroughly competent to give the course in the school here. All features of play ground work and management are brought in and students coach games and become thoroughly familiar with the duties of supervising and maintaining playgrounds. All the large cities are maintaining play grounds in order that the children may have the advantage of play, which is so necessary to their physical growth. Play, when supervised, has also a mental and moral side. Children are taught fairness and respect for other's rights, a knowledge of which will make them better men and women. We only can have healthy minds when we have healthy bodies, and play, which is suited to the age of the child, is a great factor in developing a healthy body.

The first issue of the "Norm" the official publication of the Oregon Normal, came out just before the Thanksgiving vacation. The paper, taking into consideration the difficulties of the first publication, was a success. Every department was most excellent and the staff is certainly to be congratulated. The cover design was the work of one of the students and was a credit to the art department. The Christmas number will be out in the near future and all are looking forward to it with great interest.

Different members of the faculty have been called to various parts of the state to assist in institutes from time to time. President Ackerman, Mr. Gentle, supervisor of the training department, and Miss Shearer, critic teacher of primary grades, were called as instructors to the meeting of the Eastern Oregon State Association of Teachers, held at Baker during Thanksgiving. They report that much interest is shown in the Normal throughout the state and many are coming in after the first Semester.

A club for the study of the English classics has been formed by the students in the English Department. The club has been named "Entre Nous." It is the intention to study Shakespeare's productions during the first Semester. We have had but two meetings but both have been very instructive and enjoyable.

Cyrus Walker, chaplain of the State Grange, and the oldest living white child born west of the Rockies, gave a very interesting and instructive address on the pioneer days of Oregon. Mr. Walker concluded his remarks by singing a Jargon song and giving the war whoop, which was highly appreciated.

Each senior is expected to deliver an oration or talk in chapel during the year and the first speaker was Miss Alice Morrison, who gave a splendid oration, the subject being "Laurel Wreathes." The subject matter of the oration and her delivery were both excellent. We are looking forward to these chapel programs and we know from this beginning that we shall not be disappointed.

Among the social events of the past few weeks and those of the coming are and were: On Tuesday evening, November 28 the gymnasium was the scene of another very brilliant party for the students and invited guests. The room was prettily decorated in the school colors, crimson and gray. Varius games and dancing were indulged in during the evening and fruit punch was served. Prof. Butler entertained the members of the faculty at his home on Friday evening, December 1. A most enjoyable time is reported. Upon next Friday, the faculty will give a reception in the chapel to the students and townspeople. E. C.
