SHE UNDERSTOOD THE GAME

One Better Way of Finding Out if Man Loves You Than Putting Chestnuts on Hot Stove.

It was the dreamy hour after the Christmas dinner, and the girls were talking in the hushed tones appropriate to the occasion.

"I've just heard of a new charm to tell whether any one loves you, and, if so, who it is," whispered Elsie.

"What is it?" queried Sophie, absently fingering her new diamond ring.

"Well, you take four or five chestnuts, name each one of them after some man you know and then put them on the stove and the first one that pops is the one that loves you."

"H'm," said Sophie, "I know a better way than that."

"Do you?"

"Yes, indeed. By my plan you take one particular man, place him on the sofa in the parlor, sit close to him, with the light a little low, and look into his eyes. And then, if he doesn't pop you'll know it's time to change the man on the sofa."

Do Well the Thing at Hand.
Don't waste life in doubts and fears; spend yourself on the work before you, well assured that the right performance of the hour's duties will be the best preparation for the hours of ages that follow.—Emerson.

Battle of Sabine Pass.
The story of the battle of Sabine Pass is history, not fiction, though, it must be confessed, it sounded far more like the latter than the former. You will find the full accounts of the fight in the "Records of the Rebellion" and a very interesting history of the affair in the second volume of "The Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government," by Jefferson Davis, page 237. References to the battle may also be found in "Battles and Leaders of the Civil War," published by the Century company.

GET EARLY CROP OF MELONS

Start Seeds in House and Transplant When Danger of Frost is Over—Plan Pays Well.

(By M. COVERDELL.)
The following plan may be practiced in planting various kinds of seeds, but it is especially adapted to watermelons, since this fruit, when placed on the market early, is a wonderful profit maker.

Set small tin cans on live coals and heat them until the bottoms may be removed, place several cans in a box and fill them with loose, rich soil, prepared just as you would a seed bed for any other kind of seed.

Early in the season plant about a dozen watermelons in each can and keep the box where it is warm (in the house most of the time). A sprinkling of sand on the surface will help to keep down any weeds that may spring up.

Dampen the soil daily and provide as much sunlight as possible by setting the box in the window. When the day is warm and bright place the box out of doors, thus supplying those two essentials to plant-production—air and light.

When the plants are large enough for transplanting and the danger of frost is over slip the soil together with the young plants from the cans, place them in a rich hill prepared expressly for the purpose, being careful not to remove any of the soil from around the roots of the plants.

After they are all started growing thin them out until there are five plants in a hill.

Besides producing an early crop and securing a high price for the product this method is especially commendable on account of avoiding the danger of late frost and destruction by bugs and worms, which last-named is a common occurrence at an early stage where the plants are propagated in the open field.

Also the plants will have secured a growth of several inches before they are placed in the ground and the soil being free from weed-pests, less labor will be required to keep the plants thrifty and unobstructed in their development.

SHEEP REQUIRE WARM FOLD

With Proper Methods of Feeding and Care Animals Will Emerge from Winter in Good Condition.

Sheep, as a general rule, emerge from the winter in a poorer condition than they enter it. If proper methods of feeding and care are used the reverse of this should be the case.

Sheep will thrive much better on forage crops than on dry feed; hence the advisability of sowing some forage crop which will grow late in the fall. Several crops have proved very satisfactory, but none probably more so than cowpeas. This plant grows luxuriantly and has a large percentage of protein. Being a legume, it also enriches the soil by the addition of nitrogen, one of the main elements of plant food. Cowpeas should be planted in May, June, and the earlier part of July. The amount of seed to plant to the acre is from 20 to 40 pounds.

The change from green food to dry food should be made gradually. Straw, fodder, silage and alfalfa are some of the dry feeds which may be used. Cleanliness in both watering and feeding troughs is essential. A good way to keep the troughs clean is to turn them over after the sheep have eaten grain.

Sheep need a warm fold. Don't forget that. The fold should be made of tight board fencing which breaks the wind and also makes the sheep more secure from dogs and wolves. It should be large enough to provide room for all. There should be no cold drafts through sheep's quarters.

Dangers Before Asparagus.

There are few pests which affect asparagus. There is occasionally some trouble with rust, and there is asparagus beetle which sometimes bothers. There is also a black fly-like insect which eats on the stalk of the plant. The beetles and fly can be trapped by letting a few plants grow up without cutting until they are infested with the bugs. Then they may be cut and burned.

The rust may be combated by burning the dead plants in winter or sometimes by spraying in the summer after the cutting season. Care should be exercised not to spray on any plot that is being cut for use, as the sprays are poisonous. Lead arsenate solution is usually advised, though asparagus is not usually sprayed at all.

Budding Small Fruit Trees.

Budding of small trees is an interesting operation and an art that is easy to acquire, and one that may be useful on any farm. It sometimes happens that one has a choice apple, peach or plum that he would like to propagate and there are usually small trees that have come up here and there about the farm that can be used as stocks and in a short time they will become valuable trees.

Fog Hard to Pierce.
A dense or thick fog will obscure objects at a distance of 1,000 feet. The recent accident to an ocean steamer of the Anchor line illustrates the fact. An iceberg was run into as soon as seen. After the collision the passengers could hear the echo from their voices reflected by the walls of ice, though the iceberg was invisible to them. Otherwise, there are no echoes at sea.

The Coughs of Children

They may not cough today, but what about tomorrow? Better be prepared for it when it comes. Ask your doctor about keeping Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. Then when the hard cold or cough first appears you have a doctor's medicine at hand. This cough medicine is especially good for children. No anodynes. No alcohol.

Many a child is called dull and stupid when the whole trouble is due to a lazy liver. We firmly believe your own doctor will tell you that an occasional dose of Ayer's Pills, sugar-coated, will do such children a great deal of good. Ask him. Made by the J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

Making Use of Street Rubbish.
At Southwark, London, and at St. Ouen, France, street rubbish is transformed into a marketable product. At Southwark all the refuse is crushed to a powder, which is sold as a manure. At St. Ouen the powder thus made, with the addition of combustible substances, is formed into a cheap fuel.

Rheumatic Pains quickly relieved

Sloan's Liniment is good for pain of any sort. It penetrates, without rubbing, through the muscular tissue right to the bone—relieves the congestion and gives permanent as well as temporary relief.

Here's Proof.
A. W. LAY of Lafayette, Ala., writes:—"I had rheumatism for five years. I tried doctors and several different remedies but they did not help me. I obtained a bottle of Sloan's Liniment which did me so much good that I would not do without it for anything."
THOMAS L. RICE of Easton, Pa., writes:—"I have used Sloan's Liniment and find it first-class for rheumatic pains."
MR. G. G. JONES of Baldwins, L. I., writes:—"I have found Sloan's Liniment par excellence. I have used it for broken sinews above the knee cap caused by a fall, and to my great satisfaction I was able to resume my duties in less than three weeks after the accident."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

is an excellent remedy for sprains, bruises, sore throat, asthma. No rubbing necessary—you can apply with a brush.
