THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

Genuine Merit Required to Win the People's Confidence.

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper.

CHINA'S FUTURE OF INTEREST

Every Student Realizes the Possibilities That Are Part of Country's Present Development.

China is tossing restlessly in her age-long sleep, and shows signs of awakening. This situation appeals to the United States only indirectly; but most of the land-hungry European nations are waiting at her bedside, and are guessing as to her present pathologic condition and her outlook for future health and strength. Competent judges near at hand agree that if China were to produce, soon, some great leader, he would become the center of crystallization for the saturated solution of loyal sentiment, which is latent in this mighty people. Lacking such a living leader, the Chinese may call upon Confucius, and unite the several diverse provinces under a potent bond of religious fervor. However the influence of the great ethical teacher may have waned during the past century, he has not become a negligible quantity, as the recent surprising observance of his birthday fully attests. About a week before that date a circular letter was sent to all the governors of provinces, setting forth the virtues of Confucius. The intention was that this statement should be presented to local magistrates, and by them be brought before the plain people. Thus a way would be prepared for the subsequent elevation of the great and honored sage as the true leader of the new republic.

Naturally, we would expect him to be held most highly in honor by the old dethroned Manchu dynasty. "Young China," however, realizes that the country greatly needs both a leader and a religion, and that these two needs could be met by a revival of the Confucian cult probably in a modernized form. Twenty years ago the sage's birthday was observed only slightly and sporadically, but this year there has been a widely spread and distinctly fervent expression of public devotion to him. Decorations, processions and public meetings are reported from all the provinces. "Young China" is willing to concede much, if only it can gather in most of the factions, conservative and radical, throughout this heterogeneous nation. At one celebration, not far from Canton, hymns in favor of Confucius were sung by four graduates of the Canton Christian college; and the words were set to the music of "Ye Banks and Braes of Bonnie Doon," and to a favorite Methodist melody. The effect of this year's observances is to suggest the conjecture that China's awakening may have to be primarily religious, and secondarily political. What will result from this call to Confucius?—American Review of Reviews.

Irishman Turns to Mahomet.
An Irishman who worships at the shrine of Mahomet, prophet of Allah, and who prays with his face turned toward holy Mecca—such is Baron Charley Mark Allanson Winn Headley. The venerable Irish lord is a recent convert to the faith of Islam, the announcement that he had embraced Mohammedanism having been made at a meeting last month of the Islamic Society of Great Britain. Many Englishmen have become disciples of Mahomet within the last few years, but Hibernian Moslems are almost as rare as the proverbial hen's teeth.

Lord Headley comes of a distinguished ancestry, the baronetcy dating from 1660 and the baronial title from 1797. He is the fourth baron, and succeeded his father in the title and estates in 1877. He married a daughter of an Anglican clergyman. Baron Headley has been a representative peer for Ireland for 30 years, and has also had a distinguished military career. As an attache he went through the Franco-German and Carlist wars. He has a handsome town house in London and owns about 126,000 acres in Ireland, including Aghadoe house in Killarney and Mlaunaguini in County Galway.

Prison Reform Praised.
Law Notes makes this comment on the recent prison reform in the state of Washington by which the inmates of the penal institutions are allowed a small daily wage for their labor, which is paid to their families:

"Aside from the humaneness of this practice, it has its value in the administration of the criminal law, for no one will venture to dispute that many criminals who should be in prison are at large because juries, out of regard for the suffering of their families, have refused to convict, or judges after conviction have suspended sentence, or imposed a light sentence, out of regard for the same fact. Of course with such a system in force the reason for such unwarranted (from a legal view) leniency is removed, and the criminal receives his just punishment regardless of family connections. And certainly if the state can make money out of the labor of its convicts, there is no good reason why it should pocket the gains, leaving the family of the criminal, in no way responsible for his misdeed, to bear the real punishment for his crime."

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.
