Leaves Taken in West End Condition

Mentioned in The Evening Post to-day is the condition of the leaves of some trees in the West End, particularly the elms, which seems to have in some degree the aspect of the leaves of some deciduous trees in the country. It is not unusual to see the leaves of the elms in this neighborhood, and it seems to be the case that they are either in the process of getting rid of their leaves, or that they are the result of some disease which has attacked the leaves of these trees. In either case, it is a matter of some concern to the people of the West End, as it is not uncommon to see the leaves of the elms in this neighborhood.
