CLERKS AND TREASURERS WANT CHANGE OF LAWS

Both the County Clerks and County Treasurers of the state in convention at Portland last week recommended legislation to abolish the present uniform accounting system. This system makes it necessary that the auditing of the books of the Clerks and Treasurers be done under the direction of the State Insurance Commission. It was the opinion of both bodies that the system is cumbersome, expensive and otherwise unsatisfactory.

The Clerks also went on record for legislation which will abolish the present law requiring examination of males before the issuance of a marriage license.

A bill making it possible for counties to retain 10 per cent of all money derived from fishing and hunting licenses was urged.

A bill repealing the present registration law and substituting an act requiring what is called "permanent registration" was also recommended.

The County Treasurers objected to the law requiring Treasurers to file weekly financial reports with the County Clerks and asked more authority in the correction of tax rolls. The payment of taxes in two installments and the abolishing of the law requiring interest on second-half payments were recommended.

Legislative committees from each organization will urge the passage of the laws recommended to the next Legislature.

The following officers were elected by the Treasurers: W. W. Francis of Linn county president; G. B. McCluskey of Lincoln county secretary; E. G. Gearhart of Clatsop county vice president; and J. E. Sawyers of Douglas county treasurer.

WAR TO BE WAGED ON PREDATORY ANIMALS

According to the announcement of the district forester at Portland, the recently passed agricultural appropriation bill contained a provision by which $100,000 is to be set aside toward the destruction of predatory animals.

It is estimated that over $15,000,000 worth of stock is destroyed annually in the United States through the depredations of such animals as wolves, coyotes, wildcats, cougars, and bears.

While the Biological Survey will have charge of the work, the Forest Service will co-operate with them in the regions of the West where there are National Forests. The Service has already had some experience in hunting wild animals. The invasion of the National Forest range in years past by wolves, coyotes and cougars has been very marked, and it has at times been found necessary to employ trained hunters to trap and kill these invaders. The rangers, too, have done excellent work in trapping and poisoning these preying animals. But the Service has been handicapped for lack of funds to spend in hiring men for this purpose and furnishing them with the necessary arms and ammunition. Hence, the work done has been but a temporary relief.

Now, however, that an appropriation has been made, the work can be carried on with some hope of success, and stock owners, both inside and outside of the National Forests, may look forward to the time when their sheep and cattle will be free from the attacks of these rapacious marauders.

As a result of this activity on the part of the federal government, the stock owners themselves have awakened to the needs of the situation. At a recent meeting of the Oregon Wool Growers' Association, a resolution was passed and a petition mailed to Washington, urging Congress to make an appropriation of $300,000 for the extermination of predatory animals in the United States. While it is felt that the present appropriation of $100,000 will do much good in reducing the menace, it is not sufficient to bring about a permanent relief. Therefore, Congress is urged to increase the appropriation with a view to the complete extermination of all predatory animals in every part of the United States where they have done damage to stock.

The fat stock show at the Portland Union Stockyards last week was one of the most notable events ever held on the Pacific Coast. From year to year the stock exhibited at this annual show shows great improvement, but the animals presented in the ring last week were of a quality to make one wonder if the limit of perfection has not at last been reached and if it is possible that further improvement can be made. And in this matter of improvement of stock the agricultural colleges of the Pacific Northwest states are certainly occupying the front rank, as animals entered by students at these institutions were awarded the highest honors. The Grand Champion of the entire show was a splendid two-year old Angus steer weighing 1650 pounds exhibited by the Agricultural College of Idaho. This steer was sold at auction and brought 24 cents per pound.

Practically all stock shown was sold at auction, the prices ranging fairly high. The highest price paid for a single animal was $1,025 for a Holstein bull, a close second being a cow of the same breed which brought $1,000. One and two year old Shorthorn breeding stock brought from $200 to $500 each. Taken as a whole the sale was one of the most successful ever held in the Northwest. Attendance for the week aggregated about 40,000, many of the visitors having come from distant points, staying all the week and following the sales closely.

At a meeting held at Medford late last week it was decided to establish a sugar beet plant at that point if the necessary acreage could be secured. Business men from Salt Lake, Utah, met with more than 500 ranchers and guaranteed to put up the sugar factory, to cost not less than $500,000, if contracts can be signed up for not less than 5,000 acres of beets.

Merry Christmas to All.
