A TRUE "FORD STORY"

Last Sunday evening as Ralph Pepin was driving his Ford car into town he had what might have been a most serious accident. On the Siletz road, just north of the Dundon bridge, where there is a high embankment. Besides Pepin there were four others in the car, Misses Hazel and Cecile Lutey, Basil Lutey and Earnest Parrish. Hazel Lutey suffered a broken collar bone, Earnest Parrish had his hand slightly hurt. Basil Lutey escaped without injury. Cecile Lutey was pinned under the overturned car but was not seriously hurt, escaping with a few bruises. Ralph Pepin, the driver, received a nasty bump on the head but was otherwise unhurt.

The accident occurred just as the car rounded a curve and was caused by a tire blowing out, which caused Pepin to lose control of the car. As the car went over the grade it narrowly missed hitting a telephone pole. The car went head on down the bank for about thirty feet, when it struck a barbed wire fence, which caused the car to slew around sideways and turn over. When it stopped it had turned completely around and was up side down. That some of the occupants of the car were not killed is hard to understand.

T. F. Lewis was up from Newport Tuesday.

Sam Brassfield of Siletz was in the city yesterday.

Today William J. Bryan will speak at the Albany chautauqua.

Attorney Edw. J. Clark had legal business at Siletz yesterday.
