Smile at Yourself in The Mirror

And probably several important things will be suggested to you. Your teeth may be decayed bad enough to interfere with your natural expression when you talk or laugh. Some of them may trouble you when you are eating or drinking. Again, they may keep you awake nights. If you recognize any of these conditions as being part of your experience, I wish to suggest that you ask yourself these questions:

First—Considered from a business standpoint, would not your time be worth more to yourself or employer if your teeth were good? Second—Is it dread of pain or on account of the expense that you neglect your teeth?

Patients of my office know that dental operations are not so painful, after all. They know that I guarantee my work to be the Best, and they know that my charges are the lowest.
