Newport Has Big Entertainment

Newport, Oregon—(Special)
The big concert and humorous entertainment given Tuesday evening at the Casino was a splendid success. The hall was decorated with green fir and hemlock trees, the Stars and Stripes, shamrock and ivy. It looked like a small forest, the green blending with the red, white and blue, made a pleasing appearance. While it was a splendid entertainment in all its parts, special mention might be made of some of the best performers. The audience was large, appreciative and responsive, just such an audience as stage performers delight to have. The opening piano solo by Mrs. Seley and Miram Seley was very fine and impressive. Song by Mrs. Dibelbiss was greatly enjoyed. She was encored and so were the most of the performers. Selection by Dr. Bell was well rendered. It was Irish and humorous. The brogue was perfect. Song, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," by Elmer Patrick, was a gem. Mr. Patrick has a splendid voice, well trained and he knows how to use it. He was recalled and sang another beautiful selection, Irish jig, danced by Bernice and Anna Chambers, Russell Seley and Earnest Stuart, was the best hit of the evening and was loudly applauded. J. A. Reed was the violinist. They were encored. Bernice Chambers did the training on this performance. It was a grand success. Song, "A Little Bit of Heaven," by Roy Baynard. Mr. Baynard is noted for the power and volume of his voice. He is one of Newport's best singers and musicians. Violin solo by Cecil Berry. This was one of the sweetest, softest pieces of music played during the evening. Cecil has good taste for good music. Character song, "The Three Old Maids of Lee," conducted by Mrs. Seley, Babe McDonald, Marion Seley and Thelma Tindall. This was a laughable, comical piece which was highly appreciated by the audience. Vocal quartet, "Killarney," Mrs. L. C. Smith, Miss Harkleroad, Elmer Patrick and Mr. Reisinger. This quartet is master in the art of singing. The song was so well rendered as to call for an encore. Song, "Don't Bite the Hand That Feeds You," by Bert Geer. This was so well sung and sentimental as to captivate the audience. Mr. Geer was recalled and responded with a short, witty pun. Violin and piano song without words, by the composer, Rich Chatterton. This was beautifully executed and loudly cheered. Rich is also a sweet player on the violin. Vocal duet, "Whispering Hope," Mrs. Green and Miss James. These ladies are accomplished singers and this was one of the sweetest songs of the evening. It pleased everyone. Song, "Mother Mackree." Those who have heard Mrs. Smith sing will know she always pleases her audience. Selection by Dr. Berry. This was Irish, humorous and dramatic. It was so well rendered as to be greeted with rounds of applause. The Doctor is a great impersonator. Song, old melody "The Last Rose of Summer," by Miss Harkleroad. This was so full of pathos and sadness as to make the whole house so thoughtful and quiet as to hear the least whisper. Miss Harkleroad has a trained voice and she knows how to bring out the melody, harmony and expression to the best advantage. This grand, old song was a favorite of the late James Ball. Mrs. Arthur Miller received a beautiful bouquet given her by the members of the Commercial Club for her efforts in getting up such a splendid entertainment. The bouquet was presented by Mr. Kirkland, president of the Club. This closed the entertainment. The receipts of the evening were $80, which amount will be used for the benefit of the Club.

Great preparations are being made for the ball to be given on St. Patrick's Day, March 17th, by the Women of Woodcraft, Newport Circle, No. 782, assisted by the W. O. W. at Elk Hall. The Bandop, with 600,000 feet of lumber on board, passed out over the bar Wednesday in tow of the Ollie S.
The people of Newport are greatly elated over the prospect of having an early survey of the bar and harbor. This was brought about by the united action of the people.

Married—At Toledo, March 12th, 1916, Mr. John Nye and Miss Lulu Miller, Rev. C. R. Flisworth officiating. The bride and groom are both members of well known pioneer families. Miss Lulu is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Miller and Mr. Nye is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nye the former deceased, who came to Yaquina bay as early as 1868. When the young couple returned to Newport they received in good measure a real, old fashioned charavari which was greatly appreciated by the happy couple. The boys received from the free-hearted groom a splendid treat of nuts, candy, etc. Mr. Nye is engaged in the meat market business at Newport, where he and his bride will make their future home. Their many friends wish them joy and happiness through life and none of its sorrows.

The gasoline launch Enterprise in going out over the bar Monday evening, the engine became disabled and the life saving crew, with the power boat, had to go out and bring her in. She was on her way to Siletz. No damage was done.

Joint Meeting Held Yesterday

Newport, Oregon—(Special)
The committees of five members each appointed by the Commercial Clubs of Newport and Toledo met in joint session in the parlors of The Abbey Wednesday in the afternoon and effected a permanent organization by electing B. F. Jones chairman and George McCluskey secretary. A resolution, offered by Mr. Jones, in relation to creating a new port district and urging the citizens of the county to use their influence to have the Yaquina bar and harbor improved. It was to the best interests of the whole county to have but one port district and to concentrate our efforts to have but the one harbor improved. The resolution was unanimously adopted. A committee of three was appointed on legislation, looking to the change of this law creating port districts. This is important. This committee consists of Geo. McCluskey, J. F. Stewart and A. Kirkland with the chairman of the joint meeting to be chairman of the committee. Another committee was also appointed by the chair, consisting of L. C. Smith, Lee Williams and Charles Gardner, to interview the people and ascertain if they desire such a change. It was urged that the committees get busy and strike while the iron is hot and keep striking until the work is done. It is a long way to Tiparary and it will take lots of hard work before we get there. A good delegation was down from Toledo. We noticed A. T. Peterson, C. H. Gardner, Walter Ball, G. B. McCluskey, Bert Geer, C. E. Hawkins, I. R. Wishart, J. F. Stewart, H. G. Guild and others. Some soul-stirring and rousing speeches were made by a number of gentlemen. Charles Gardner started the fire works by making a great speech urging the whole people of Lincoln County to stand by the improvements of the harbor. This was followed by other speeches from J. F. Stewart, Walter Ball, Sam Irvin, Arthur Miller, Lee Williams, L. C. Smith and M. Wyant. Great harmony prevailed and it looks as though something would be done now. The meeting adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.
