WILL STAGE PRODUCTION AT DIME THEATRE

The Nashville Club Players, who are scheduled to produce "The Serpent" at the Dime Theatre in this city, June 30th, are just completing their county tour. In an interview yesterday with Mr. Lister, who is directing their tour, he declared he was billing a stellar attraction. When we take into consideration that E. S. Lister is a show-man of experience and that he has been on the staff of the Chicago Opera Company, we can easily believe he knows what he is talking about, and thus we feel sure the County Seat will be proud of Lincoln's thespians.

In telling of the work of the principals of the cast and the comments of people who have already witnessed their production, he said:

Miss Crystal Warnock, who is making her initial appearance, is playing the leading emotional role and it gave us all great pleasure when an ex-theatrical man of twenty years experience, who witnessed the Nashville production, declared that Miss Warnock revealed much real talent and that her interpretation of the role fitted to a nicety his conception of what the character should portray. Miss Warnock's pleasing personality and engaging stage presence leaves little to be desired in the heroine of "The Serpent".

Miss Martha Hager, a Hoosier girl and an adopted daughter of Lincoln County, is the merry widow of the play and shares with David Lister the comedy honors. Miss Hager is full of life and spirit—so much so that the minute she steps on the stage every little corner of the house feels and responds to her exuberant spirits. A comparison of Miss Hager's work to that of Mrs. Crocker of Prince of Filsen fame is not out of place and I could not say I had ever before seen such inexhaustible enthusiasm.

The male members of the cast have all played in Lincoln county towns before—they are all trying to add further honor to their present attainments.

Carl D. Edwards essays a new role forsaking comedy and playing for hero worship. Mr. Edwards has an additional asset in that he possesses a clear, pure, high tenor voice and will be heard in Toledo in several solos.

David Lister is playing leading comedy and puts it over in superior fashion.

As for myself of course I can say nothing because it is against show ethics to say anything but good about any player and I am a "modest man".
