WHICH ALL HELPS ADVERTISE OREGON

Few people realize the great amount of publicity that the Northwest received last year and will receive this year on account of the Washington State-Brown University football game last year and the University of Oregon-U. of Pennsylvania football game to be played at Pasadena, Cal. as a special feature of the 28th annual Tournament of Roses on coming New Years Day.

Lovers of sport and others in all parts of this country will read of this game and of the University of Oregon, conceded by many to be the strongest football team ever turned out at Eugene. It is without doubt the greatest amateur sporting event of the year for Western sport fans.

Last year Washington State College football team brought fame to their Alma Mater and a feeling of pride to the whole Northwest by decisively defeating the strong Brown University team of Providence R. I. Should the U. of Oregon duplicate this year by winning from the U. of Penn. it will show without argument that the Pacific Northwest schools are to be reckoned with when picking the champion football team of the United States.

In addition to the football team representing the Northwest at Pasadena New Years Day, the Portland Hotel will be represented by a very beautiful float in the parade of the Tournament of Roses.

OBITUARY

J. N. Arnold was born at Carbondale, Pa., March 21st, 1836, and died at Toledo, Oregon, December 8th, 1916, at the advanced age of 80 years. His death being hastened by a severe attack of La Grippe.

Deceased enlisted under the Union Flag in the war of the Rebellion, February 4th, 1862, as a private under Capt. Wheeler, Co. F. Fourth Minnesota Infantry. He was honorably discharged in 1864, and again realisted February 24th, 1864, as Sergeant under Captain Adrin K. Norton, serving as Sergeant until the close of the war.

He was joined in wedlock to Miss Mary A. Card at Carbondale, Pa., March 30, 1859, and soon moved to Auburn, Minnesota. In 1875 he started over and for Oregon, but while on the road, sold his outfit and finished the journey by rail to San Francisco, and came from San Francisco to Portland by Steamer. He homesteaded about two miles down the bay, below Toledo, and resided in Toledo until the time of his death. There were four children born to Mr. and Mrs. Arnold. Deceased is survived by his wife and one son, R. A. Arnold, of this city. He was a genial and kindly man, a true friend and a good neighbor and was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

Rev. C. R. Ellsworth preached the funeral sermon at the Methodist Church, and interment took place in the Toledo cemetery, a large number of relatives and friends paying their last respects to the deceased.

A DARK AND STORMY EVENING

At the Albany Hotel there is a combination of names on the register that looks worse than the weather. J. D. Winters, the Studebaker repair man, of Portland, heads the list. Further down is R. E. Storm, of Portland, another salesman. A. A. Hale, another knight of the grip is on the list and Joe Snow, also of Portland, is a frequent caller. In an effort to offset this combination and thaw it out a bit, J. D. Summers, the local motor expressman, put his name on, but the odds are against him and the weather remains near the freezing point.—Albany Democrat.

IT KICKED BACKWARDS

Recently a merchant of Natchez happened to see a farmer receive a box at the depot and noticed that it came from a mail order house. He also noticed that the goods were right in his line and the same as he had carried for years. He immediately approached the farmer and said: "I could have sold you the goods you have here for less money than the Chicago house and saved you the freight."

"Then why don't you do so?" said the farmer. "I have taken the local paper for a year and have not seen a line about you selling these or any other goods. This mail order house sends advertising matter to me asking for my trade, and they get it. If you have any bargains why don't you put them in the paper so we can see what they are?"—Ex.
