100,000,000 DOLLARS—WHY

Oregon, outside Portland must subscribe $400,000 of the $100,000,000 emergency Red Cross war service fund during the week of June 18-25 in order to meet the expectations of President Wilson who has appealed to the nation for this fund.

Prompting the President's appeal are the thousands of Red Cross ambulances on the firing line that must be maintained. Other thousands of ambulances must be built and sent to the front. Forty-five base hospitals already have been established and their work must be supplemented with that of many more hospitals in order to treat the wounds and save the lives of thousands of soldiers, including our own home boys.

The force of Red Cross physicians and nurses must be greatly increased and kept on duty.

British, French and Belgian soldiers can be sent home when, under hospital care, they have commenced to recover from wounds or sickness, but for Uncle Sam's soldier boys convalescent hospitals must be built by the Red Cross.

Mothers and wives who have given up sons and husbands and who have no other support must be cared for by the Red Cross organization.

Vocational schools for soldiers incapacitated by wounds for ordinary work must be organized and financed.

From the front line trenches to the mothers left at home the Universal Service of Mercy must maintain a vast organization and spend tremendous sums in order to meet an almost overwhelming emergency growing out of United States participation in the World War. Nor can the work be delayed one day. Bullets will not wait on tardy dollars. The man who offers his life on the battlefield for the defense of his country must not be left to bear the burden alone.

Why does the government not finance this relief work? The question is often asked. The American Red Cross is ranked as a neutral, as long as it is maintained by private subscriptions. The administration of the Red Cross cannot be carried on as are the national naval and military operations. Relief work, also, must cut red tape, must be promptly ready for every emergency, must be governed by humanitarian principles and quick decisions and must not be hampered by the restrictions of governmental machinery. At the same time the Red Cross is the only relief agency formally authorized by the government. Its need is the President of the United States. Its accounts are audited by the war department. It is chartered by Congress. President Wilson declares:

"A large, well organized and efficient Red Cross is essential. It is both a patriotic and humane service that is rendered by every citizen who becomes a member of the Red Cross."

Red Cross subscriptions need not be paid all at one time. One-fourth will be due July 1; one-fourth, August 4; one-fourth, September 1, and the balance, October 1.

A task as great as that of getting the subscriptions is to inform every man, woman and child of the purposes and emergency character of the campaign before Red Cross Week, as proclaimed by the President, which begins June 18. Community committees are urged to have a forceful speaker present at every gathering whether small or large. Newspapers are called on for liberal space. Ministers are asked to present the subject to their congregations. Let every patriotic citizen speak of the campaign to every other person he or she meets.

In this world war some must give their lives, others their money. No patriot at home could bear to think that a patriot bled to death on the battlefield because he or she failed to contribute his dollar to the Red Cross. You have no right to say you are patriotic unless you give your utmost in service no matter what it may involve in personal sacrifice.

RED CROSS WEEK

Until the Red Cross Week, June 18-25 is past and the $400,000 asked of Oregon, outside Multnomah County, for the $100,000,000 emergency Red Cross fund, has been secured, it is asked that large social affairs be discontinued in order that all energy may be given to this patriotic task assigned to this state.

Arrangements have been made for reports from all Oregon communities which will be summarized and sent out as bulletins of progress. The state at large is asked for $400,000; the city of Portland for $200,000. There will be keen competition between State and Portland Committees to be first in reporting success.

There are those who want to know why the Red Cross is so important to the nation in its war emergency that President Wilson issued a proclamation appealing for $100,000,000 fund and setting aside Red Cross Week in which to raise it.

At the front line trenches, stretcher bearers wearing the insignia of the Red Cross will be found carrying the wounded to the rear. Red Cross ambulances are carrying the wounded to Red Cross base hospitals where Red Cross Physicians and nurses faithfully nurse the wounded soldiers back to health, in order that they may return to the world war for liberty, or be able to come back to those who wait for them at home.

The bandages used in Red Cross hospitals are made by devoted women, working for the Red Cross in many communities.

The vocational training given soldiers incapacitated for former employment will be organized by the Red Cross. The mother who has given up her boy, her support, to the service of his country, will find her necessities cared for by the Red Cross and he can march away with no anxious thought as to her welfare.

The Training of Red Cross Nurses is under Red Cross direction. Thus all along the line the Universal Service of Mercy helps to lessen the horrors and rigors of war and to strengthen the nation. The United States cannot do its part without the Red Cross and the Red Cross is dependent on the contributions of those who want to help win the war but cannot serve at the front.
