PUBLISHING TAX LIST

That part owners or mortgage holders will have to pay fees to title companies to investigate whether taxes are paid upon many classes of property is the condition that will be faced if the Jackson bill is enacted next Tuesday. The bill abolishes publication of the delinquent tax list, and substitutes a flimsy and necessarily incomplete system of private notification by mail.

The mail notice cannot reach more than one person, while there are many pieces of property that are owned jointly, or in which an individual owns an equity. The taxes might go unpaid for many years without such owners ever having any chance to find out about it. Often the party receiving the mail notice would have failed to pay the taxes, and his associates in ownership would be entirely without protection unless they engaged the services of a title company to look up the records, a service which might be expensive.

Besides the actual owner of property, there are holders of mortgages, purchasers under contract, assignees of contracts, holders of unrecorded instruments, lessees and others who are interested in the payment of taxes.
Mail notice would never reach these interested parties. Under the present system of annual publication anyone can see whether the taxes are paid or not, and those interested in property on which taxes have become delinquent are enabled to take proper steps for their own protection.

Confusion, misrepresentation, delay in tax payments and gross breaches in trust are all certain to be fostered by abolishing publication and substituting the inadequate system of mail notices. No one owning any interest in a piece of property, or expecting to buy property, will vote against tax list publication after carefully considering what would be sure to happen were open publicity dispensed with for the incomplete private notice system.
