NUMBER 21

SILETZ

Died at Siletz, July 13, 1919, Nellie Catherine Tronson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tronson, aged 20 years. She was a kind, affectionate child, loved her home and was noted for her cleanly house-keeping and good cooking. She was educated in the government Indian school, where she got a fair common school education. Within the last few months she attended church and expressed a desire to become a Christian. A few days before she died she expressed a desire to be baptized and this was attended to by Rev. Walter Ross, pastor of the M. E. Church of Siletz. She leaves a mourn her loss a father and mother, two sisters and one brother, one brother having preceded her on the "long trail" to the great beyond. The funeral was conducted by the pastor and was largely attended by relatives and friends. The floral offerings were very beautiful, typifying the young life that had been so suddenly brought to a close.

Russel Adams has just returned home from a seventeen months service in the Navy. Mr. Adams went across the sea to France and saw the great battlefields where life was sacrificed by the thousands on one side to preserve liberty and civilization, and on the other side trying to destroy it. He said the awful conditions of France and Belgium were not exaggerated. The German soldier is dull and stupid and brutal in his nature and has no milk of human kindness in his makeup. He said Paris was a beautiful city and the people were kind and hospitable to the American soldier. Mr. Adams saw the great city of London and the English people, but he thought the American soldier outshone them all in his splendid spirit and his high sense of justice and fair play.

A number of people from Newport were here during the week fishing. Among them were Capt. John Fogarty and wife, Dr. Hyland and wife of Salem. This party stopped at Siletz and stocked up with some edibles and then went on up in their autos to the Gorge where they had a fine time fishing and caught a fine string of speckled beauties.

Fishing is good either above or below the gency. The roads are also in splendid condition.

The county work on the Siletz-Toledo road and on the road to the Upper Farm is going on nicely. The grade on the river is being put in apple pie order. Ed Stanton has charge of the catapillar and grader and Phil Elting is the supervisor. No slackers are allowed among the road workers and I don't think anyone wants to shift.

The rock crusher is up and ready for business, and the plank road will soon be completed to the bridge, then the work of moving gravel will commence. It is the purpose of the supervisor to finish the road to Toledo so autos can travel it during the winter.

Hay harvest is in full blast and the crop is good this year. Everyone is busy now and anyone that will sit around and do nothing is considered a man of leisure or a slacker. The crops look good and we expect a big yield in hay, oats and gardens. Siletz has no reason to complain this year of short crops.

Several farms have changed hands lately. The fine farm owned by James McGuire was sold to Charlie Hyde, consideration $5,200. The farm of Clayborn Orten was also sold a few days ago to W. J. Dunlap and Cornet, consideration $4,500. The farm contained about one hundred acres. Good land on Siletz is worth from $125 to $150 per acre. This part of the county is rich in farm land and the fishing interest is also very important.

Miss Nora L. Houge, stenographer at Siletz, has resigned her position and leaves today for her home at Port Angel, Washington.

SOUTH BEACH

Delbert Ewing, went to Nashville last Tuesday to work through the haying season at his grandfather's.

Mrs. Herbert Pruner is slowly improving, but is still at South Beach with the family of Curtis Cox.

J. W. Dozier is again back at South Beach, and is engaged in building an addition to his barn. He will stay long enough to complete it then return to Portland where he has been employed as a shipbuilder for two years. He will begin another year's work at that business the first of August.

Lee Doty has placed a large truck to serve as cab on the railroad track between South Beach and Waldport. There is a great deal of traffic and travel going thru here since the way of travel has been improved.

Mrs. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Libach and George Moore are visiting with F. L. Moore of South Beach. George Moore is lately from France, the youngest of three brothers who went to France. F. L. only got to Camp Lewis, and Joe is still in France.

The Mining Company on J. O. Hendrickson's place reports that they are doing a paying business.

Wm. Blair, who has been suffering from an incomplete operation, has gone to Toledo for medical treatment.

The South Beach dock is being enlarged so as to give plenty of room for the steamer Newport and other large boats to land on the East side of it. This will enable the Newport to land at any stage of the tide.

BAYVIEW

The farmers here are all busy having the lovely weather.

Mrs. A. C. McCain, of Anniston, Ala., came in the latter part of June and is visiting with her friend, Mrs. F. Huntstucker and family.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Huntstucker and Mrs. A. C. McCain spent last Sunday at the J. M. Bower's ranch on Beaver Creek.

Herbert Twombly has just completed a new barn on his ranch at this place.

Mrs. H. J. Simonson returned to her home at this place. She had been visiting friends and relatives at Albany. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. Lillie Flegman.

Mrs. P. Shoppard and family have moved to the Briggs' ranch at this place. They will take care of the place while Mr. Briggs and sister visit in the Valley.

THE CHALLENGE

CHAPMAN-JENSEN

Waldport, Or., July 9th—One of the most beautiful home weddings ever witnessed in Waldport took place Wednesday, 9 P. M., at the home of the bride, when Miss Senna M. Jensen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Jensen, of that city, was united in marriage to Mr. William H. Chapman of Grants Pass, Oregon.

The guests were seated under the large shade trees in the front yard. When the appointed hour had arrived, Miss Joie Glines played the wedding march, and the bride and groom, preceded by a flower girl, Ruth Hallmark, who was scattering flowers before them, and followed by the bridesmaid, Miss Dora Walker, a former school mate of the bride, and Mr. Carl Jensen, brother of the bride who acted as best man, marched from the house and took their places under an arch, decorated artistically with flowers, where the pastor, Rev. E. N. Quist, of Waldport, united the two for life.

The bride looked beautiful in a white silk dress, and in the light of the Japanese lanterns, and the large bon-fire in the back ground, presented a picture long to be remembered. The groom was dressed in a handsome suit of black, while the best man, having just returned from service in France was wearing a fine uniform. The bridesmaid looked very attractive in a dress of white voile. The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations, and the bridesmaid carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The high esteem in which the bride is held was shown in the large number of valuable presents from the friends. Miss Jensen has just closed her second year of school, and the pupils are sorry to lose her as a teacher. Mr. Chapman is a carpenter and contractor from Grants Pass, where the young couple will reside in a few weeks.

After the ceremony was over the guests were conducted to long tables, loaded with elaborate refreshments, of which all partook to their hearts content.

The best wishes of all the many friends go with Mr. and Mrs. Chapman as they leave for their new home, and may their journey across the "sea of life" be successful and happy.

MORE SAWMILL RUMORS

It is rumored that Toledo is to have another sawmill in the near future. We understand that negotiations are under way for the purchase of a mill site near the Roberts mill. Should the deal go through it is said that the Brewer Mill at West Yaquina will be moved to this site.

NEWPORT ENTITLED TO BETTER TRAIN SERVICE

Thousands of persons are kept away from Newport this summer because we have no Sunday excursion trains. We are informed on reliable authority ## that Sunday excursions are being operated to the Tillamook, Clatsop and Coos county beaches. If this is so, Newport is entitled to a kick, and a good hard one at that. Newport is one of the oldest and best resorts on the Oregon coast, and it is not fair that she should be discriminated against in favor of the newer beach resorts.

JUDGE RYAN VISITS TOLEDO

Judge Thomas F. Ryan of Oregon City was in Toledo Monday on business, going from here to the Yachats where he will spend a few days. Mr. Ryan is president of the Bank of Commerce of Oregon City and is a Pioneer of the Oregon country. He has seen the land subdued and developed and can tell many interesting incidents that have occurred. A man tried to sell Mr. Ryan a lot of Oregon City when he first located there, asking $1400 for it. Mr. Ryan thought the price too high. His bank recently bought this lot paying $40,000.00 for it. He was formerly a reporter on a Boston paper, and was sent by his paper, on the first train that ever ran from Corvallis to Yaquina, to write up the country. The train left Corvallis at six in the morning, and the party got to Yaquina at nine that night, walking the last three miles.

Mr. Ryan predicts a bright future for this section and thinks the time is now ripe for its development.
