

Counterfeit Farms

When is a farm not a farm? A good many folks already know the answer—they are sadder and wiser—and their money is gone. But those who have not yet been "stung" will do mighty well to read a series of articles starting next week in

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

Herbert Quick, one of the original members of the Federal Farm Loan Board, and a man of wide experience in farming, is the author. The subject—"Counterfeit Farms."

The fake orange grove, the bunk pecan orchard, the drought-smitten desert, the water-logged swamp, the sage-brush prairie—all the varieties of good-for-nothing "development" land that are offered to the public, are included in Mr. Quick's series of warnings. These articles are addressed to the farmer who has the moving bee and visions of easier money than he makes at home; to the struggling clerk, the poor school-teacher, the sick stenographer, and all the other city folks who dream of life on a farm—and bite at the land shark's lure. Read this series. ONE DOLLAR may preserve your lifetime's savings.
