NUMBER 36

SILETZ

We've had a real old fashioned wind and rain storm, putting the Siletz river up out of its banks, and permitting the salmon to pass to their spawning grounds with the trout following them to get their eggs. The fall has been so dry and the river so low that the salmon were compelled to stay in the deep holes till the rise in the river. Siletz is one of the best fish streams in the state and its water shed has hundreds of small streams that empty into the main river. The Siletz river is 126 miles from its source to its mouth. It takes a serpentine course from where it starts in the Coast Range till it reaches the ocean. From the head of the river, on a straight line to the ocean, is twelve miles. The river has a rock bottom till it reaches tide water. All along its course the water is as clear as crystal, and to paraphrase Samuel Simons "Beautiful Willamette," we might say, "From the Coast Range frozen gorges, Leaping like a child at play, Winding, widening thru the valley, Bright Siletz glides away. Onward over, Lovely river, softly calling to the sea, Time that scars us, Mains and mars us, Leaves no track or trech on thee." Sam Simpson's father, Ben Simpson, was Agent at Siletz in an early day for eight years. Sam was then a boy and played and fished along the green border of the Siletz with the Indian boys and dusky maidens, and it may be he got some of the inspiration to write the "Beautiful Willamette" while playing along the banks of the beautiful Siletz.

A number of fishing parties have come to Siletz to fish. Among them a party from Salem; Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hartly, Mr. and Mrs. Craig and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Downing. These folks were all well-to-do farmers, retired, living in Salem. This party had never been to Siletz before and were surprised to find so much beautiful scenery. They had a good time fishing, caught all the fish they wanted and said they would come back again next summer. They came over in autos and were the guests of the Hotel King while here.

Another party of S. P. employees were fishing several days, consisting of Milo Waterbury, brakeman, A. M. Smith, conductor and S. P. Willis, engineer. Although it rained like blazes these sports fished right along. The genial host took them to the fishing ground in his auto. They were fishermen, alright. A genial good lot of fellows. They caught one hundred and sixty fine trout and sent the most of them to their families in Albany. This party was guests of the King also. These gentlemen think Siletz is one of the best river in the state to fish in and now that you can get here in autos it is easy of access. Come again.

Robinson and Roberts have their pool parlors nicely fitted up and are doing a good business.

Sam Brassfield has within the last week or two caught three big black bear. This is a great place for bear on account of the great amount of Seal and other berries and the elk cabbage. A great number have been seen this fall. Then again the mountains and canyons are so rough that it is a fine place for the bear to winter and keep out of sight. A bear skin is worth something now and the meat is also good to eat.

A Hallowe'en entertainment was held at the government school house Friday night. The room was decorated with jack-o'-lanterns and on the stage were a number of ghosts and around the room were ghosts, goblins and witches, and in the corners were fortune tellers who were kept busy telling fortunes. It was a weird looking room and it was pretty well filled with young and old and all had a lot of fun and a general good time. Large numbers of salmon are coming into the lower bay and the canneries are kept busy.

Tom Hawkins and Joe Booth came over Tuesday evening and put in three or four hours fishing.

ONA

The Hallowe'en Party given by the ladies of the Helping Hand Club, at the Grange Hall Friday night was much enjoyed by all present. The Hall was beautifully decorated with Autumn leaves, black cats, witches and jack-o'-lanterns. The pupils of the Ona school gave a short but amusing program, a mysterious old witch uncovered the secrets of the future for the curious, and the remainder of the prevail at South Beach.

Things would be rather quiet here since the railroaders are gone if people were not improving so much, but the music of the saw and hammer is still ringing as everybody has discovered something lacking.

Lee Doty is still unable to be out. He has been down about a month and seems to recover slowly. Warren Ashworth is running the mail car while Mr. Doty is sick.

Mr. Howe, of Ona and Bayview, passed thru our burg a few days ago enroute for points outside.

Last Sunday was the worst day of the season, but notwithstanding, there were quite a few at Sunday School and Church services. Mrs. Conrad talked to the people awhile on the subject of abiding in Christ as the branch abides in the vine.

TOLEDO HIGH SCHOOL

We students appreciate the support given by the people of Toledo toward our Carnival. The affair was a great success and the sum of one hundred dollars was cleared.

T. H. S.

Rah! Rah! Rah! Toledo High! We have started the ball rolling. The students interested in basket ball met Monday and Tuesday evenings for the first practices of the season.

A mysterious sign originated by the boys have set the girls thinking. Separate organizations opposing one another have been formed. The insignia adopted by the girls is a crescent which holds a secret unknown to the boys. The boys' insignia is a formidable "D" which also holds a deep meaning.

The pupils of the High School were dismissed at 2:35 on Tuesday, for the purpose of seeing the slides from O. A. C. On arriving down town, several of the students purchased "all-day-suckers," and lemon drops. The candy seemed to have an intoxicating quality and four brilliant girls spied a hack and decided to go riding. The horse seemed to be afflicted with the so-called dizzy sickness that is going around town, but the girls managed to steer him up Main street and back. After this exciting episode the show was opened and all were admitted to a very instructive show and a lecture by Professor Cox of Toledo High School.

WHO KILLED THE ROOSTER?

Last Saturday a bunch of local Isaac Waltons went over to the Siletz to try their luck. The fish bit for a time and then quit. "Tom" was getting disgusted with the fishing, so "Casey" suggested that he try somewhere else. Acting upon "Casey's" suggestion "Tom" threw his bait back over his head up on the bank and the first thing he knew he hooked one of Sam Brassfield's roosters. After a while Sam came down to see what luck the boys were having and discovered his rooster, dead. "Bert," "Casey" and "Tom," accused him that they did not know how the rooster had come to die. "Chief" said that while he did not kill the rooster, he knew who did, and that he would pay for it, so he gave Mr. Brassfield a dollar. NOW what we would like to know is who killed the rooster?

HIGH SCHOOL CARNIVAL PROVES HIGH SUCCESS

The High School Carnival staged in the Club House last Friday evening proved a huge success, in spite of the storm, and the gross receipts of the evening amounted to about $140. The darkened hall, with the ghosts flitting about gave one a sort of an eerie feeling, but this did not last long, for as soon as the spooks had gotten off some satire, with regard to conditions around the high school building they dispersed. The play was fine and the singing of the pintett was a scream. After the play the booths all opened up for business, and the refreshment stands, fortune tellers, fishing pond, stagger baby rack—only is happened to be a nigger cat rack—all did a rushing business. The cats were literally pounded to pieces, but they had lots of sand, and always came up for another wallop. The evening was topped off with a social dance.

The time of the funeral has not been set, as Mr. Andrews will wait until his children can come home.

Mr. Andrews has the sympathy of the entire community in his sad bereavement.

SCOPE OF THE FOURTEENTH CENSUS EXTENDED

That the Fourteenth Decennial Census, on which the actual enumeration work will begin January 2, 1920, is to be the most important ever taken is shown by the fact that the Act of Congress providing for this census expressly increased the scope of the inquiries so as to include forestry and forest products, two subjects never covered specifically by any preceding census act.

The inquiries to be made relating to population, manufactures, mines, quarries and agriculture were also extended in their scope by Congress, the keenest interest over the forthcoming census having been shown by the members of the census committees of both the House and Senate while the law was under consideration.
