on sick call next day. How come, Beulah?

On Saturday, Jan. 14th, there was a dance in Brady Buckner's hall at Kernville. The evening's entertainment was well attended. The party broke up shortly after midnight, to go spooning home in the moonlight. More power to you, Moon!

There was a meeting of the directors of the Kernville school district on Jan. 11th. It was decided to continue the school three miles from Kernville, for two pupils, and to allow five other children in Kernville to remain without a school. The parents of these children were invited to move closer to the school! There is a school about a mile from Kernville that is said to be over crowded. It is admitted, however, that this school could be equipped to take care of the five extra pupils, and would do so if the Kernville District would pay this expense and tuition. This the Kernville directors persistently deny, as they have also refused to transport the children to their own school. The cost of equipment and tuition would be a very small matter. The cost of transportation, either to the Kernville district school or to the other district's school up the river (which is not crowded) would not exceed fifty dollars a month; and either of the teachers would be glad to have these pupils. If the Kernville district cannot afford to teach them, then neither can it afford to pay a teacher for two children. Come out of it, Kernville. If there's any private feud between the districts, let's fight it in the open, like men. This shooting in the dark and hitting children is bad business. Let's send the youngsters to school.

At a meeting of the "community organization" at Peter Munro's home on Jan. 8th, there was a good deal of discussion of the cheese factory project, and the question of a uniform breed of cattle. Mr. Cooter, the county agent, was unable to attend the meeting. No important decisions were reached.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kuehl were called to Newport last week to attend the funeral of Mrs. Kuehl's mother. The river people extend their sincerest sympathy.

Word comes from Charley Toberer in Portland that he and Al have invested in a Buick, and are lighting up the metropolis in proper fashion. Meanwhile Carl is putting finishing touches on Toberer's new launch at home. Considering the price of gas we must surely hand it to Charley for being an optimist.

The Roamer arrived at the Kernville port some ten days ago with a cargo of hay sent in from Toledo and Newport to relieve the shortage caused by our recent flood. We are poor at expressing it, friends; but you know we are grateful.

There was a stock holders' meeting of the Siletz Bay Telephone Company on Jan. 14th, at Taft. Discussion centered on assessments and arrears. No new business was transacted.

Mrs. Gertula and children returned last week from an extended visit with relatives in Portland. Bill was getting hardened in backboard; but he's left the kitchen now, and is "playing Woodrow Wilson,"—hauling wood.

Miss Toole, teacher of the Drift Creek school, also returned from a long vacation at her home in Portland. It agreed with her, and she with it. But now, "no rest for the teacher."

The Grand Opening of Brady Buckner's store at Kernville was fittingly celebrated last night with one of the best attended, best conducted and most enjoyed dance of the season. Brady, who had both arms broken in a fall a few months ago was much in evidence, elbowing his way among the best of them. Bert Morrison was master of ceremonies, and a very ceremonious master. Mrs. Clyver played hostess at a midnight supper, and saw to it that "Red" got plenty of cake. Dancing continued till about two o'clock, when the actors betook themselves merrily homeward.

Today, Sunday, there was a meeting of the Grange at Taft. The meeting was well attended, and immensely enjoyed. In the election of officers Bert Morrison was made master of the local Grange. With a live one like Bert at its head, an exhibition of brand new neppery pep is expected of the organization this year.

Mr. Robison Taft merchant, who has been in Portland the past couple of weeks on business is expected back tomorrow.

Bill Noon will be in Tuesday! Which Tuesday?

The Eddyville grange held their regular meeting Saturday the meeting was very interesting the forenoon was taken up with regular routine work, an excellent lunch was served at noon, the afternoon more interesting on account of installation of officers the work was very impressively by Mr. Loudon and his assistants, they were Miss Laurie Quant, Miss Joy Mauch and Miss Elenor Mauch. A short but instructive program was rendered under the leadership of the retiring Lecturer, Mrs. Quant. All enjoyed the day.
