VOLUME 30

TOLEDO, LINCOLN COUNTY, OREGON, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 24th, 1922.

NUMBER 1

SILETZ

A Portland bridge builder was at Siletz during the past week looking over the places where the bridges washed out, with a view—if they are rebuilt—of putting in a bid for rebuilding same. He thought cable bridges would be the cheapest and best for this river because they could be put up higher out of the reach of high water. He said if cable bridges had been put in in the first place they would never have washed out. He looked over the steel bridge that washed away and said it could be used again at some other place on the river. The percent of damage to the bridge is very little. He thought the bridge at Siletz had ought to be built right away, or as soon as the money can be obtained, but did not think the county should wait the slow process of bonding, but get it some other way. He thought Lincoln County was on the eve of great prosperity. Roads are no good without bridges. We threw in our hats for improvements and we must keep it up.

The public school will celebrate Washington's Birthday, Wednesday, February 22nd. A splendid program has been arranged for the occasion. Miss Smith of the Long Prairie school and Miss Hartley of the Lower Farm school will join in the celebration—Everyone—parents and children are invited to be present and enjoy the day. It is a legal holiday and people want to work, but stop and give the school a boost. Our schools are doing splendid work and we want to keep it up. Some people ask the question—what is the matter with our schools? They don't get along as they should. Too much play and not enough study and not sufficient concentration of mind on their school work and they don't get along as they should. Mrs. Parker became critically ill and was taken to Newport where she has a home, for medical attendance. Mrs. Calvin Balne is in charge of the children, and will move the household effects as soon as possible. Miss Elizabeth Osburn has been confined at home the past two weeks with a very heavy cold. Mrs. Melvin Johnston has returned from Portland, where she was over a month under a specialist's advice—and we are glad to say is much benefited, but will have to go back in a couple of weeks for a surgical operation. Andrew Nye has returned from Corvallis where he invested in some fine thoroughbred shorthorns. O, yes—Wade Osburn wants it clearly understood that he got more than a "smell" this time, having caught a 20 pound wild cat this time. We notice the past few days Mel Johnston's steed is picking up and doesn't have that tired, dejected look from his daily trips to the city and return, since Mrs. Johnston has returned. Also Mel looks somewhat better satisfied.

FRUIT VALE

Several items of interest have occurred since our last in print. A large cougar passed thru our country a week ago and although several hunters with dogs were out, nothing doing in the cougar line. O't Nye got a coon and a wild cat. Mrs. Parker became critically ill and was taken to Newport where she has a home, for medical attendance. Mrs. Calvin Balne is in charge of the children, and will move the household effects as soon as possible. Miss Elizabeth Osburn has been confined at home the past two weeks with a very heavy cold. Mrs. Melvin Johnston has returned from Portland, where she was over a month under a specialist's advice—and we are glad to say is much benefited, but will have to go back in a couple of weeks for a surgical operation. ## UPPER DEPOE

There was a program given at Sweetbriar School in honor of Washington's birthday, quite a number of parents and friends being present.

Too much credit cannot be given the children for their execution of their different parts. And it is not boasting do we state that all things considered, (number of pupils) the greater number being in the primary grades it was as good a program and as well performed as any in the United States today.

The program opened with an exercise—"Flag Salute" by the whole school; Recitation by Julia Kyniston; "I would like to be a Washington," an exceptionally well performed number by the Primary Grades, George in Nursery Land; Recitation "Salute the Flag," James Thomas; Playlet "A Boston Tea Party," Alice and Lucy Murray, Julia Kyniston and Mary Thomas; Recitation "Washington's Birthday," Alice Kyniston; Washington, sung by whole school, also exercise by same, Your Country Needs You; Recitation by Mary Thomas entitled "A Picture of Washington;" Song "Chee Up Honey" by girls of the school; Recitation "No Month a Prouder Day" Lucy Murray; the program closing with song, by the whole school "Our Old Sweet Song." ## LEGION NOTIFIED TO MOVE CLUB HOUSE

The local Post of the American Legion has been formally notified by the Pacific Spruce Corporation to remove their Club House from its present site, which is upon ground owned by the corporation. They give as their reason for desiring its removal that they need the ground as a site for dry kilns, and ask that same be removed not later than May 1st.

The Pacific Spruce Corporation originally contemplated the taking over of the Club building, but have since changed their plans and will build dry kilns where it stands.

The Legion intends moving it to the Fair grounds.

THAT TEACHERS INSTITUTE CALLED OFF

The institute that was to be held at Newport Saturday February 25, is called off, on account of the "flu." There seems to be a few cases in and about Newport and the Health Officer thinks gatherings of the kind should not be held.

R. P. Goin, County School Superintendent.

ROBERTS INSTALLS ANOTHER ENGINE

Clyde Graves, millwright and E. H. Olmstead, engineer, have just completed the installation of a high speed engine at the Roberts sawmill. It is of the vertical type and is guaranteed to run continuously at 500 revolutions per minute without undue depreciation.

The efficiency of the high speed engine is well known to steam engineers, and Mr. Roberts who is a persistent Toledo and Lincoln County booster as well as a progressive lumberman, feels that in these times of close margins and close competition, that the best is none to good. His installing another engine at this time shows his faith in the lumber business.
