SILETZ

Siletz honored Washington's birthday by giving an entertainment at the public school. All three of the schools participated in the exercises. The Indian children taking part with equal success and honor with the white children. The schools are composed of about one third Indian children, who are as well dressed, well behaved and learn as fast as the white children, and the teachers treat them all alike—show no partiality whatever among the children. The stores were closed, business suspended and every one attended the patriotic exercises held in honor of the day. The schools numbered about 150 pupils, all present. The exercises commenced out doors with a bugle call by Coquette Thompson—as the flag went up the bugle played and when it reached the masthead a flag salute was given under the direction of Prof. Deeg. America was then sung by the whole audience with the spirit of fervor that I think was never heard before at Siletz. "It made the sounding wiles of the dim woods ring to the anthem of the free." This closed the outdoor exercises, after which the audience repaired to the primary and high school rooms where the programs were to be rendered. In the high school room the following program was given by Miss Treat and Prof. Deeg: Darling Nellie Gray—all; Sheridan's Ride—Joe Kosydar; Immortality—Margaret Miller; Battle Hymn—Bill; Declaration—Agnes Winkler; Like Washington—Donald Warwick.
