

VESSEL SINKS IN COLUMBIA FOLLOWING CRASH

ASTORIA, Or., May 29.—Seven bodies were removed from the sunken freighter Welsh Prince Tuesday and investigations were started to establish the responsibility for the crash between the freighter Iowan, inbound, and the freighter Welsh Prince, outbound, just before midnight in the narrow channel of the Columbia river off Altoona, Wash.

Pilots Sullivan of the Welsh Prince, and Pearson of the Iowan, agreed that a misunderstanding of the signals caused the crash. The Iowan plowed a 30-foot rent in the Welsh Prince's side, and the boilers exploded when the water rushed into the fireroom. Men scurried for the upper decks as the steamer settled, and the Iowan and tug Oneonta stood by to assist. When it was found that the steamer would not settle farther, and that the crew, except the seven dead, was safe on board, the Oneonta took three injured to a hospital here and the Iowan proceeded on to Portland.

The Dead
J. Blake, donkeyman, Portland.
Able seamen: Joel Buckwater, Portland; W. Stokely, Shields, England; Knute Yenstad, Portland; C. M. Jensen, Denmark; J. C. Care, England; H. Ward, England.

Although early reports indicated that heavy smoke banks from forest fires were responsible for the disaster, it was later agreed that a misunderstanding of signals was entirely responsible.

Huge Liner Burning at Sea

And then swallowed by the waves; a tropic hurricane which lashes a schooner and threatens its destruction; a mutiny at sea; a terrific fight between the master of the ship and a score of fear-crazed Lascars and Kanakas; a tiny babe tossed on the waves supported by a bit of wreckage; a leap from a high cliff into the shark infested waters of the South Pacific—these are a few of the outstanding features of the "SHARK MASTER," the romance of the South Seas, played at the

STEIGER INSTALLS NEW WATER SYSTEM

John Steiger, living on Strawberry mountain on the Southside, has just finished installing a water system to supply his home and livestock. The water is pumped a distance of 500 feet with a raise of 160 feet. Mr. Steiger, in the past, has been compelled to carry all the water he used with the exception of what he could catch from rain.

Mr. Steiger stopped at the Leader office while here Friday and he is as tickled as a boy with a new knife over the fact that the bond issue carried to build the bridge over the Yaquina river here.

JOBS OFFERED JAILBIRDS

Farmer Would Pay Fines, but Fails to Get Help.

BEND, Or., May 29.—(Special)—So scarce is farm labor that W. A. Clark Tumulso rancher, drove to Bend today and offered to pay the fines of all prisoners in the city if jail officials would release the men to work on his land. The request was refused and Clark departed vowing that he would import Japanese labor.

The Bend commercial club is planning to maintain a free employment bureau, which according to present indications, will have as its chief function the securing of men for the jobs rather than jobs for the men.—Oregonian.

Dr. Hall is very much enthused over the prospects of Toledo and Lincoln county. He has practiced in Portland for the past four years.

JERSEY BREEDERS TELL WHY OREGON IS AT TOP

Experiment Station Director Joins in Jubilee; College Makes Tests and Vouches for Records.

Good climate and skillful management are two leading causes of Oregon Jersey breeders' achievement in developing seven of the eight highest producing Jersey cows in the United States. So said speakers at the Jersey jubilee, just completed by a three-day tour of the Willamette valley.

"Your phenomenal achievement is of value to the dairy world," said James T. Jardine, director of the college experiment station in addressing the breeders. "It could have been accomplished only by men of vision who were unwilling to stop near the goal of a new record, but in the language of the football man, 'forced the ball over for a touchdown.'"

The responsibility for maintaining the great reputation rests with the men primarily benefited by the breeding work, the director explained, but the college also has a share—that of making the tests and vouching for the records. This testing, in charge of the dairy department, has recently been commended as among the best in the country.

Responsibility for speeding up increase of pure-breds, now only 4.6 per cent of dairy cattle, and for promotion of herd improvement by community testing and breeding, was also shared for the college by the director.

Protection from devastating diseases of dairy cattle by community and federal and state cooperation, rests in part with the college. "Disease is costly," said the director, "and the station is making valuable contributions toward control, best effected by prevention."

Training new men and women to gain vision and information to make themselves helpful in further development, was accepted as a college responsibility.

Ford THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Attention Ford Owners!

Ford parts, like almost everything else worth while, are counterfeited. Imitation parts are manufactured to SELL at the highest possible rate of profit and the grades of steel used are consequently not the same high quality, specially heat-treated alloy steels specified in Ford formulas for the manufacture of GENUINE FORD PARTS.

Don't be misled—Insist upon GENUINE FORD PARTS made by the Ford Motor Company. By so doing you will get from 35 to 100 per cent more wear from them, and you will pay the lowest possible cost—the same everywhere.
