

"MOOM" PARTY LANDS

(Continued from First Page) their hay while the good weather lasts. The cool shady nooks, big timber and fishing are attracting a good many tourist. The Siletz is getting to be the Mecca for comfort and pleasure for those who want to pass a few weeks in the mountains for rest and recuperation.

NOTE—The report that Mr. Daniels was cut with a knife is likely not true as those who saw the wounds claim that they are merely bad scratches, received while Abrams and Daniels were struggling over a barbed wire fence. Daniels is a former deputy sheriff of the Siletz section and, it is reported, had blood existed between him and the Indian boys as a result of his activities during his term of office.

The above named men, with the exception of Abrams who had left Siletz when Deputy McElwain served the warrants, appeared before Justice of the Peace Parrish Tuesday afternoon and pleaded guilty of the charge of "disorderly conduct"; they were fined $12.50 each, which they are making arrangements to pay.

$200,000 DOLLAR FIRE

Cliff Gates, manager of the Coos & Curry Telephone Co., and Clifford Johnson stood at the top of a ladder and held another ladder above them so a woman and three men could get over of the back of the Pioneer rooming house, where they had not been seen by the firemen.

CITY HALL DESTROYED

The city hall and the I. O. O. F. building were destroyed. Most of the other buildings lost were frame structures in the old part of Front street and the heaviest loss was on contents. Not over 25 per cent of the loss was covered by insurance.

The fire was the worst in the history of Marshfield both in point of total loss and in number of persons affected.

The cause of the fire is unknown. When it was discovered by roomers in the Portland House, the whole place was in flames, together with adjoining buildings. The flames jumped across the street to the Odd Fellows building and city hall, and worked in both directions on each side of the street. There was a high wind and Front street for a block was a seething mass of flames.

WHOLE TOWN THREATENED

For a time it appeared that the entire business section of Marshfield would be wiped out. From the center of the block the flames worked in both directions and consumed most of the buildings in the territory between Market and Alder on Front street, which is a long block, and the residence district on First street, which is close to the west of Front street. The department of North Bend responded and the new apparatus from Coquille was brought over the highway.

The port tug Fearless kept three lines of hose working and the bar dredge Michie was called from the lower bay.

G. A. Bennett, who until recently published the Coos Bay News, the oldest paper in Southern Oregon, lost his printing office, including the old files of the News, which were regarded of high value as a community history of Coos county. Many of the old buildings were landmarks and were owned chiefly by the pioneer residents of the city.

The brilliant illumination of the sky could be seen for miles and many from neighboring places hurried to Marshfield when a report was spread that the business section was burning. District Attorney Ben Fisher wired the state fire marshal's office, asking that a deputy be sent here to investigate the cause of the fire.

The follies of youth are often a bar to happiness in old age. Even the most blunted of consciences can not completely forget.

MOODY

Maud Crowley, Delmer Crowley and Forbild Brauti called on Cleo Williams who was visiting her grand parents Mr. and Mrs. Sharp.

Miss Margaret Rolston our former teacher came in from Corvallis to visit her friend for a few days.

Mr. Sharp and boys were helping Mr. Brauti with his hay Wednesday.

Frank Davenport has purchased a new shot gun now the bears will have to look out.

Mr. Andrews was a Toledo, visitor Tuesday.

Mr. Ed. Montgomery and wife, Mrs. Andrews, Mary Andrews and Forbild Brauti sailed down the for Newport Tuesday. They were a little bit risky and ventured out near the bar.

Mr. Stokes went to Toledo Saturday, for improving the school grounds.

Gen Dann of Winant took a beef down to Yapuna in his launch Friday.

day for Charlie Birch.

T. Huntsucker had engine trouble and had to row his launch home from work and buck the wind. That's pretty fierce.

SWEET BRIAR

Mr. and Mrs. Caswell Graves arrived in Toledo last week for a visit with Mrs. Grave's brother, V. D. Graves and family. Dr. Graves is at present head of the zoology department of Washington University at St. Louis but for many years was a member of the faculty of Johns Hopkins. He has made special studies of life-forms of the Atlantic coast and hopes to secure some interesting data while on the Pacific coast. These distinguished visitors will spend some time in California before returning East.

There has been considerable activity in developing the coal mine west of the Romtvedt place on Mrs. Steel's property this past month. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Carpenter of Roseburg are living in Toledo and are making frequent trips to the mine. A. L. Stevenson of Corvallis who is an inventor in the company which is engaged in developing the mine conducted a party here recently among those making the trip were Prof. Livingstone, mineralogist of O. A. C., Oscar Ingram of Lebanon and Mr. Francisco of California. Prof. Livingstone returned later and spent several days investigating and surveying the coal lands and will report his findings to the company. The Messrs Ingram of Lebanon have also spent several days at the mine recently. Mrs. Mary V. Steel of Portland, owner of the land on which the coal is located, motored out recently with Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter.

Miss Mary Thomas returned home recently after a two month visit with her grand-parents Mr. and Mrs. Morley of Southside.

Elroy Erickson, accompanied by James Thomas and Rudolph Thompson, has been scouting around the neighborhood looking for samples of grasses and grain to be used in our community exhibit at the fair this fall. Dora Kyniston assisted by her sister Julia has circulated a form of questionnaire among the housewives with the idea of learning what is being done toward providing a good exhibit of canned foods, jellies, etc.

Plans are being made to raise funds for improving the school grounds.

Gen Dann of Winant took a beef down to Yapuna in his launch Friday.
