A. O. Rust, living on the Severson ranch near Toledo, has a little six-months old white Leghorn hen that he believes is a wonder. Mr. Rust Tuesday was exhibiting one of the eggs laid by this fowl. The egg is extremely large and more resembles a goose egg. It measures 6 1/4 inches by 7 5/8 inches.

BIG COWS GIVE MOST PROFIT

Records Show That Large Animals Are Biggest Producers of Milk and Butterfat.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Figures collected from various cow-testing associations throughout the country and compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture tend to confirm the previous conclusions of the department that within the breeds, so far as they were represented by these animals, which were mostly grades, the large cows are the biggest producers of dairy products and are also the most profitable. The evidence seems to point to the fact that in the individual farmer's herd it will be found that on the average the larger cows are more profitable than the smaller ones, although there are some indications that this may not hold true in the case of herds of native cattle containing much beef blood.

The cows whose records have been used by the department have been sorted out so that only mature animals were used for these comparisons, thus eliminating any differences that might have been caused by the immaturity of some cows.

In one group for which figures have been prepared there were 100 cows classified as small 201 as medium, and 129 as large. The small cows averaged 243 pounds of butterfat a year, and made an income over the cost of feed of $77.30. Those of medium size made 289 pounds of butterfat and an income over feed cost of $88.91. The large cows produced 345 pounds of butterfat and a return above feed cost of $106.74.

In another group there were 461 small cows, 483 classed as medium and 820 large. Those in the first classification made 240 pounds of butterfat on an average and an income over cost of feed of $80.11. The medium made 278 pounds of butterfat and $106.09 over feed cost. The large ones produced 299 pounds of butterfat and an income over feed cost of $108.20.

These tables were based mostly on figures for the years 1915 to 1919, inclusive, which accounts for the high average income over cost of feed.
