After which the club adjourned to meet Monday evening, October 23d. E. DEPEATT, President. J. D. FOUNTAIN, Secretary pro tem. EASTERN OREGON. - The Dalles Mountaineer, with much commendable pride, says: "Eastern Oregon will soon have a world-wide reputation for all gone south. its fine stock. New importations and new purchases are made nearly every Friday. Shooting-irons were drawn, week, by some of the citizens living in the great pastoral region lying east of the Cascade range of mountains. This week we have the pleasure of recording the purchase, by Messrs. Nye & Todd, of the horse 'Champion,' a very fine, dark mahogany bay, fifteen and a half hand stallion, weighing 1,200 pounds. This horse has a very stylish action, trots easily in 2:50, and is a good roadster. He is remarkably kind and gentle in disposition, and has bred some of the finest trotters, and his stock has a wide reputation for being good, active and fast roadsters. Col Nye drove 'Champion' through the streets, this week, and his style and action attracted universal attention."

SAD.-'Tis sad, when times are hard, to pay six bits a glass for lemonade. Tis sometimes hard to hear the answer Posters may be seen about town which "No!" 'Tis sad to see fond hopes announce that the State, and W. F. blasted-no matter how 'tis done; 'tis Pogue & Bros., of Rice Valley, Lake sad, on Sunday eve., to wait two hours County, offer $2,000 for the arrest and for the coming stage; sad to see the conviction of John Mazino, who is wouldbe groom become so Hoffy as to charged with the murder of P. D. force a friend to walk a Milo(r) more, Pogue, of the same place. The murand to fall in the creek besides, but der was committed October 3d, in the sadder still to drive sixteen miles, with bright hopes of matrimony dwelling in the heart, only to realize that his girl had gone back on him. Oh! how sad to see her fail to connect at such a time. But it should be a consolation to him to know that the invited guests deeply sympathize with him in this, his sore affliction, and whether he be at home or abroad, in crowded street or the noisy tin-shop, their sympathy will attend him.

DOMESTICATED. - Mr. Lindsey Applegate has in his orchard, and ad- ing to learn the printing business, joining park, fifteen domesticated deer, went to see a preacher's daughter. from seven years old to last Spring When he attended church he was confawns. Among the number he has two siderably astonished at hearing the "mule deer," a species found east of minister announce as his text, "My the mountains, and much larger than daughter is grievously tormented with the black tail, or common deer. These a devil. beautiful animals are gentle as pet lambs and will permit themselves fondled upon with equal manifestations of delight. Mr. Applegate has also a flock of domesticated wild geese, as gentle as those raised upon the farm. These denizens of the lake and forest seem as well contented as though they inhabited their native retreats.

OUR TRADE WITH CALIFORNIA.-The San Francisco Commercial Herald of 7th inst. contains the following in an article about the Oregon Steamship Company: "Our relations with Oregon are steadily increasing in importance, with the prospect of being, at no distant future, equal to those which have man in the moon. long subsisted between California and the Atlantic States." Let California encourage, by every means at her command, the completion of the Californis & Oregon R. R. to the State line, and she will enhance the importance of our business relations about ten
