ASHLAND TIDINGS.

ISSUED EVERY SATURDAY BY J. M. SUTTON, Prop'r.

OFFICE—On Main Street, (in rear Dr. Chittwood's Drug Store.)

Terms of Subscription: One copy one year $2.50...

Terms of Advertising: One square (ten lines or less) first insertion $2.50...

Job Printing: Of all descriptions, done on short notice...

ALL SORTS: Kin's business—Brick making. It has been discovered that a hen held up by one leg will not squeak half as much...

Sermon (to Irish laborer): "Here is some beer, Pat, if you care to have it; but I'm afraid it's quite dead."

A BUSINESS house in Columbus has conspicuously displayed in its show-window a man's skull...

EXCLUSIVE—Doctor: "I'm pleased to say, Mrs. Fitzrover, that I shall be able to vaccinate your baby from a very healthy child of your neighbor, Mrs. Jones."

"DONALD" said a Scotch dame, looking up from the Catechism to her son, "what's a scander?"

THE agents and quick-witted Rev. Lemuel Haynes, of Vermont, well known years ago throughout New England...

ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN.—"Suffering" Heavens, Elwin, what does this mean?"

EVERY one has heard the story of Lord North and the gentleman who asked him "who was that large, ugly woman he saw yonder?"

AT the Centennial, the Philadelphia ladies cry out, "Isn't it amazing?"

A DISTINGUISHED politician of this city, while conversing with a lady the other evening, became piqued by her attention to a beautiful spaniel dog that was resting its head comfortably in her lap...

A SCOTCHMAN, being examined by his minister, was asked, "What kind of a man was Adam?"

"GRATE something to cure a boil," exclaimed a citizen as he dashed into one of the drug stores yesterday.

HE must have been a bold man who would just with a "Pater" but John Heywood even ventured to jest with Queen Mary. It was a very wild joke.

YOUTH'S DEPARTMENT.

DICK AT THE CENTENNIAL.

May 25th, 1876. DEAR MOTHER:—Me and Willie go up to the Centennial every Saturday all alone. Men never get lost, but little boys get lost.

There was a bear, and he was stuffed and stood up straight, and held a tray, and said he was a dumb waiter on the card; but I guess he could growl once.

There is a little silver boy on horse-back, and he pours a drop of water out of a silver cup all the time.

Your boy, D. H. P. S.—How is the baby?

DICK AT MEMORIAL HALL. June 2d, 1876.

DEAR MOTHER:—There is a Memorial Hall, with a woman on the top, and some eagles. There is a soldier and two black horses in front, up on a block, with a woman on one side, and a wing on the other, and a big tail. She is big.

There are statues inside. There are some people without any clothes on. There is Washington, but he is cut off so he hasn't got any legs; and there is a little boy that has pounded his fingers. There is a little horse, and a man came and said, "Where is the lady that belongs to that little horse?"

There is a room full of old dirty heads and things that were dug up. The folks hold a telescope up to their eyes. It has two round places and you look through.

There are 'bout a million pictures, and you must not point a stick at them; it says so, or you'll get 'rested. There are some boots made of an alligator skin.

An alligator is a snake. There is one in a glass box. There are some whales, too. When they are little the mouth reaches almost to his tail, but when they grow big it is smaller.

There are some folks that have shot a ck. They stand up and have guns, but they are not real folks. There is a fountain where four women hold a dish on their heads, and there is another fountain made out of snakes.

The snakes hold their heads down, and the water comes out of their mouths, and squirrs back. They are pretty, and good-bye.

Your son, D. H. P. S.—They are not alive.

EMPLOYER AND EMPLOYED.—It is very common for young men to study how little they can make suffice in the way of labor they perform for their employers, rather than how much they can possibly do to render themselves useful.

We say this is common now, and we suppose it always has been common. But we think it will be found on examination never to have been the course pursued by men who in after life became distinguished for their success.

Such men worked for their employers as afterward, when they got into business on their own account, they worked for themselves.

"Though very low, he is able to talk," is reported of a life insurance agent who was shot, the other day, at Saybrook, Connecticut.

MAXIMS FROM BILLINGS.—True criticism consists in saying a kind word of an author whenever you can, and whenever you can't it consists in holding your tongue.

Tricks upon travelers are always dangerous. I have known a dead horse to wake up and sting just once more. Truth can take care of itself, but a lie has got to be watched as carefully as a sore thumb. Misery loves company, but it is always jealous. There never was a man yet but what thought his lame back was a good deal lammer than anybody else's. Nature has turned out sum indifferent jobs, but never turned out one so indifferent that art could duplicate it.

The sovereign mistake is that things are valued for what they have cost, and not for what they are worth. Ingratitude is wuss than hypokrasny. Mankind have been falling for over 5,000 years, and I don't think they have struck bottom yet.

Discussion between a wise child and its Abenonian tutor—"That star you see up there is bigger than this world." "No, it isn't." "Yes, it is." "Then why doesn't it keep the rain off?"
