

THE ASHLAND TIDINGS

FRIDAY, AUG. 10, 1877.

JOSEPH IN MONTANA!

The San Francisco Chronicle has this dispatch from Montana, Aug. 2:

Captain Rann of the Missoula post, upon McDowell's order to stop the hostiles and capture them, moved up to Lolo pass with 20 regulars and 40 volunteers. This was all the available force. A company was ordered from Ellis and the troops at Shaw ordered up, but the latter were so slow in movement as not to get started till it was too late. The war department refused to allow Gov. Potts to raise or organize volunteers, but many volunteers went on their own account, principally from Deer Lodge and Missoula. Capt. Rann, supposing that Howard was in pursuit, intrenched his little force in a commanding position in the pass where the hostiles could not get by with their stock, and held them there for four days parleying, awaiting reinforcements, and expecting Howard's force to strike the rear. The Indians, knowing they were not pursued, spent their time in cutting a new trail around the intrenched troops, and about the fifth day moved around Capt. Rann and took the road for Missoula; but they were met on the way by the Deer Lodge volunteers going to Rann's assistance, when they turned and retreated in a southerly direction up the Bitter Root valley. They are still moving in that direction, not molesting the scattered settlements, and seem to be on their way toward Lemhi, with a possible view of reaching the Snake river lava beds, but more likely of crossing by way of Henry's lake, or even south of there to the head of the Yellowstone and down to the buffalo country. They say they will not fight unless their retreat is arrested. The Deer Lodge volunteers have gone to the head of Deer Lodge valley, and detachments have gone to the head of the Big Hole, but it is not likely that any force of volunteers can rally sufficient to stop and give them battle, and no regular troops are at hand. If troops were sent from Corinne and the forces of the Yellowstone ordered to co-operate, they might still be captured and the disgraceful failure of the campaign prevented.

The absence of sufficient troops in this territory, the slow movements of the Fort Shaw detachment, and the refusal of the war department to authorize Gov. Potts on his demand to raise volunteers, are the causes of the failure to arrest their passage, and, above all, the fact that Howard failed to pursue. Capt. Rann's little band held them in the pass for nearly a week, expecting the pursuers to fall on their rear, and all this time the question among the people was: "Where the devil is Howard?" Gen. McDowell should have sent the 2d infantry north from Corinne after the Indians had retreated eastward. Some movements of this kind, in connection with the Yellowstone forces, would capture the Indians yet. Gov. Potts, Secretary Mills and Delegate Maginnis are entitled to high praise for their untiring efforts since the beginning of a threatened war.

W. H. Parrish, of Dayton has invented a machine which combines the machinery and does the work of the present harvester, thrasher and separator. It can be run by two men and six horses. This will be hailed with joy by all women of the farm, as they will have but few men to cook for.

There seems to be a craving for human blood prevailing rather extensively in this section of late. Last Tuesday night a certain person, armed with a shotgun, lay in wait several hours for another, who fortunately did not appear, and we lost an item and Sexton Dunlap a job.—Times.

Bogus Charley, the Modoc and hero of many a fight in the lava beds, is now a Methodist and is running a camp meeting down in Kansas, assisted by such adjuncts as a broadcloth suit, plug hat and paper collar. His own conversion, at the point of the bayonet, makes him a valuable exhorter.

Troops that left San Francisco on the morning of the 14th, were disembarked at Lewiston on the evening of the 19th; an instance of the quickest dispatch in the matter of transportation that has ever occurred on the Pacific coast. The distance is upwards of twelve hundred miles.

THE GATELING GUN.—This weapon of defense in use by the troops upon the frontier is described as a small field piece, usually transported on a carriage constructed for the purpose. It has four chambers or barrels, and is constructed so as to revolve and fire a charge with each revolution. It is charged with ball cartridge, and in an open field battle may be made to do great execution. It is different from a mountain howitzer in that it has more than one bore, and is smaller in calibre, carrying a ball but little, if any larger than a musket, while the howitzer has but one bore and is used principally for firing shells.

STAR

surpasses in tone and power any Reed Organ heretofore manufactured in this country. It has been tested by many competent judges, and gives

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION

By a skillful use of the stops, and of the patent knee swell, the music is adapted to the human voice, ranging from the softest flute-like note to a volume of sound

UNSURPASSED BY ANY OTHER

Instrument. The proprietors have noted carefully, for many years, the imperfections and needs of the Reed Organ, and direct their practical experience to the construction of such an instrument, and the experiments have resulted in the production of a quality of tone which assimilates so closely to the
