

THE ASHLAND TIDINGS

FRIDAY.....SEPT. 7, 1877

General Howard would kill the Indians, but he hasn't got any place to bury them.

The fact that during the riots so many policemen were caught and kicked by the insurgents, has developed a strong movement, in all the great cities, for mounting the police.

Nothing is so reassuring to the country and the commercial world as for successive state conventions to assemble, and alternately "view with alarm" and "point with pride."

Mr. Tilton has "arrived" in England Mr. Tilton's friends may breathe more easily; they have no grounds for apprehensions; there are no sleeping cars on the English railways.

A Columbus paper says a tramp insulted a lady of that city the other day and was promptly lifted out of the house on the toe of a No. 11 brogan. Good land, what feet the Ohio women must have.

A writer in a magazine says a man cannot marry on less than $10,000 a year. Please, sir, then can a fellow who didn't know that when he married, get a drawback for $9,000? (Needn't say anything about the odd $750)

DIPHTHERIA CURE.—We publish what is called a perfect and sudden cure of Diphtheria, gargling with sulphur, and when the patient cannot gargle, by burning the sulphur and letting him inhale it. If it be as represented how many lives will this save!

"There is something indescribably irresistible," remarked Mr. Adonis, "about a woman's smile." "Yes," replied his friend, an old married man, who had frequently accompanied his wife on shopping excursions, "a woman's smile runs about twenty-three furloongs."

Within the last eight years the value of real estate in the three States of Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York has depreciated an amount more than sufficient to cover the entire National Debt. Were this depreciation in values confined to this country, we might reasonably claim that it was caused by faulty legislation, but the evil is general throughout the world. In England, so far this year, the imports of raw material are some 30 per cent. less than last, and the exports of manufactured goods nearly 10 per cent. less, while business of all kind is stagnant, and an unusual amount of distress prevails in the manufacturing districts. Every where is heard the cry of dull times.

The poverty of the Irish is not exaggerated, nor their good humor, nor their whimsical absurdity, nor their courage. There is perpetual kindness in the Irish cabin—butter milk, potatoes—a stool is offered, or a stone is rolled that your honor may sit down, and be out of the smoke, and those who beg everywhere else seem desirous to exercise free hospitality in their own houses. Their natural disposition is turned to gaiety and happiness; while a Scotsman is thinking about the term-day, or, if easy on that subject, about hell in the next world—while an Englishman is making a little hell in the present, because his muffin is not well toasted—Pat's mind is always turned to fun and ridicule. They are terribly excitable, to be sure, and will murder you on slight suspicion, and find out next day that it was all a mistake, and that it was not yourself they meant to kill at all, at all.—Walter Scott.

IMPORTANT PERSONAGE.—Day before yesterday a man of gentlemanly and intelligent appearance, neatly attired and carrying a fancy cane, walked into Gov. Chadwick's office and informed him that he had "come for the State taxes." The Governor, not to be outdone in politeness and not fully understanding the request, suggested that perhaps it was land he wished, and referred him to Col. Cann. The gentlemanly visitor then astonished the Governor by informing him that about six thousand years ago he made all the lands in this country, hence he did not want to purchase any; that he had made the land, the water and the air; and that as the people of this beautiful country were enjoying the fruits of his labor, he thought it nothing but right that they should pay him the taxes collected on their present possessions. He said it was due him and he wanted it. The Governor, evidently feeling uncomfortable in the presence of so august a personage as his visitor claimed to be, asked him to call another day and he would see about it. The visitor politely took his leave. To-day a letter was received at the State Department from him, dated at Portland, reiterating his demand for the State taxes. This is the first time we have ever heard of the Creator of the Universe visiting this city since its foundation. He did not stay long, though, evidently realizing that there was greater need for his presence in the "Metropolis of Oregon" than here.—Mercury, Aug. 23.

This is the season when newly married couples make their appearance at the watering place hotels, languish on a four-dollar a day diet for one week precisely, and then go home to the realities of corn-beef and cabbage for the balance of the natural lives.
