

R. J. Gatling writes to the New York Evening Post that recent improvements in his gun have brought it to such a stage of perfection that it can fire 1,000 shots per minute, and one man can feed and fire 600 shots per minute. In an official trial 64,000 rounds were fired from a single gun in rapid succession, and without stopping to clean the barrels.

When in 1848 that heroic old chief-tain Wrangel determined to put down the insurgents in Berlin, they sent him word that at his first shot they would hang his wife. For answer he opened fire. When he got the upper hand of the rebels he remarked to his aid: "My wife. Do you know I am curious to see if they did hang her?"

THE CABBAGE WORM.—Mr. Harris writes to the Richmond Palladium as follows, under date of Peru, Indiana, Sept. 6: "Aware as I am that the cabbage worm is doing great damage to the cabbage crop in your vicinity, I take the liberty of informing you that since coming here I have learned that a simple application of wheat bran will completely eradicate the destructive pests."

SITTING BULL ORDERED TO GET.—The World's Wolf Rapids Canada special says: Sitting Bull has been ordered out of the British possessions and has obeyed. Bill Culverson, a Government scout, was the cause. It occurred in this way: A British officer and Sitting Bull had a council, after which the tribe performed the usual dance. Culverson, who is a young half breed, joined in. After it was over he became excited, counted his scalp and said to Sitting Bull: "I have killed so many of your hostile redskins. Sitting Bull drew his revolver, a movement imitated by Culverson, but before either could shoot, Major Walsh, with his revolver drawn, sprang between them and told Culverson to put his pistol away. Turning to Sitting Bull, he said: "I want you to understand you are on British soil, and must not attempt to take any person's life. Drop your revolver or you are a dead man!" He dropped it.—See.

SULPHUR A SPECIFIC FOR SCARLET FEVER.—Dr. Henry Pigeon writes to the London Lancet as follows: The marvelous success which has attended my treatment of scarlet fever by sulphur induces me to let my medical brethren know of my plan, so that they may be able to apply the same remedy without delay. All the cases in which I used it were very well marked, and the epidermis on the arms in each case came away like the skin of a snake. The following was the exact treatment followed in each case: Thoroughly anoint the patient twice daily with sulphur ointment; give five to ten grains of sulphur in a little jam three times a day. Sufficient sulphur was burned twice daily (on coals on a shovel) to fill the rooms with the fumes, and, of course, was thoroughly inhaled by the patient. Under this mode of treatment each case improved immediately, and none were over eight days in making a complete recovery, and I firmly believe in each it was prevented from spreading by the treatment adopted.

TREE CULTURE.—The following from an essay by Prof. Beal, of the Michigan Agricultural College, are valuable suggestions for apple-growers everywhere: A young tree should be treated very much as you would treat a hill of corn. Hoed crops will answer in a young orchard; sowed crops will do much harm to young trees. I think it a good plan to keep young trees mulched, and I am not sure but it is the best of all ways to treat large or old trees as long as they live. Mulch prevents the rapid evaporation of moisture from the soil, keeps the surface mellow, prevents the soil from often freezing and thawing in winter and becoming overheated in summer. Whether or not to cultivate trees which have become well established depends upon circumstances. I have never seen an apple orchard which I thought was injured by too frequent shallow culture, but this may be the case in some places, especially in warm climates or where the soil is deep and very rich. Whether or not to cultivate can be told by the looks of the tree. If the color of the leaves is good and the growth all right, and the trees bear well of fine fruit, they are doing well enough, even if in grass. But if the leaves are pale, and the growth of the annual twig much less than a foot in length on trees set twelve years, and the fruit small and poor, something is the matter, and they are suffering for want of plow, harrow, or cultivator, or a heavy mulch or a coat of manure, or two or more of these combined. The upper twigs of trees set twelve to twenty years ought to grow six to twelve or more inches each year. To judge of the condition of an apple tree is much like judging of the condition of sheep in a pasture. Look at the sheep and not at the pasture. As long as the sheep are plump and fat they are all right.

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

By a skillful use of the stop, and of the patent knee swell, the music is adapted to the human voice, ranging from the softest flute-like note to a volume of sound
