

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Thanks to our old friend, Wm. Hurst for a bouquet of rare flowers from the residence of A. G. Rockfellow, Esq.

Mr. H. Horton of Lost River, spent a few days in town this week but on Tuesday left for his home in Lake.

The friends of Mrs. Wm. H. Atkinson will be pleased to learn that she is recovering from a long and painful attack of remitting fever.

We are glad to learn that Mr. G. F. Billings, manager of the Eagle Mills, is again around, after his severe experience with typhoid fever.

Gen. Jno. E. Ross, the old frontier leader, passed through our place one day last week, for Yreka. He will attend the Siskiyou Co. fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Saml. Grubbe, Miss S. J. Grubbe and Mrs. L. B. Applegate start to-day for the Yoncalla valley on a visit to friends and relations. A pleasant trip to them.

Mr. J. H. Russel, Miss Grace Russel and Miss Laura Thornton left Ashland on Tuesday last for Salem, to attend the State Fair. We wish them a pleasant time in the Capital City.

Rev. J. R. N. Bell and lady request us to return their hearty thanks to the people of Ashland and vicinity for the many favors they have received at their hands during their residence in Ashland.

The educators having the matter in hand are arranging for an unusually interesting session of the Jackson Co. Teachers' Institute, to be held at Ashland on the first three days of November next.

Morris Bann Esq., of the firm of J. M. McCall & Co. has returned from San Francisco, where he purchased one of the finest assortments of goods ever brought to this market. Call at the Ashland store and see for yourself.

B. C. Goddard, assessor of Jackson county, started on a visit to his old home in Missouri on Sunday last. He expects to return in a month, bringing with him some of his relatives, who propose to make their homes in our valley.

Dr. N. Shrewsbury, dentist, a graduate from the Ohio Dental College and member of the California State Board of Regular Dentists, will remain one week more. Those requiring the services of an experienced dentist should call soon.

J. M. Sutton has disposed of his elegant painting of Rogue River falls to W. Dees Esq., who will leave it on exhibition at the post office for a few days. Those who have not seen this excellent representation of one of our mountain wonders should avail themselves of this opportunity.

LIBERAL.—Our new Jeweler, Mr. S. G. Watters, has just shown us a postal card which was sent in pursuit of him from the Grasshopper State, and which visited Winnamucca, Elko, Surprise valley and Canyonville before it found Mr. Watters in the Granite City. Our benign Government did all this for warding for one cent.

We were favored this week by a call from Henry Brophy, the modest and unassuming proprietor of Red Blakket prairie on the Rogue River road to the Lake country. His home is away up among the clouds near Crater Lake. Mr. Brophy is regarded as the champion bear hunter of Rogue River, having captured seventeen in the last two weeks.

Gen. Sherman was to leave Portland yesterday for San Francisco overland. He may then be expected to-day or tomorrow on the stage, accompanied by his son Thomas E. Sherman and Col. Poe and Bacon, his aids. He is making a hurried campaign hoping to reach Washington about the 15th inst., so as to be present at the opening of Congress.

On Saturday last, as that old veteran of the war of 1812, Uncle Jimmy Loughlin, was in the act of entering the gate at the residence of Mr. Thornton in Ashland, he was attacked by a myriad of "yellow jackets," and after a fierce engagement was compelled to retreat. He afterwards remarked that the conflict was almost equal to the battle of Lundy's Lane, in which he was a participant.

Many thanks to the Siskiyou Agricultural Society for an invitation to attend the regular annual fair in Yreka, to commence on October 3. The people of Siskiyou take a commendable interest in agriculture and their fair will undoubtedly prove both pleasant and profitable. We regret that our business will not admit of our attending.

The M. E. Quarterly meeting will be held at the M. E. Church in Jacksonville, Oct. 20th and 21st. W. Harlburt.

Mr. Watters one of the Kansas immigrants, an experienced jeweler, has commenced business at the front of Dr. Chitwood's drug store. Do not fail to give him a trial.

We regret that that gigantic bunch of grapes weighing 3 1/2 pounds, which Mr. Atkinson intended for us was so damaged in transportation that it failed to reach its destination.

Wm. M. Prime, B. B. Deming, R. L. Powe, James Taylor and other citizens of Sprague River are in Ashland with their teams on a trading tour. They start on their return in a few days.

Mr. Wm. Hurst who has spent several months of energetic labor in the Grouse Creek mines, about 18 miles from Ashland, on the south side of the Siskiyou, has at last struck promising diggings.

Mr. W. C. Myer, the champion horse man, left Ashland on Monday last to attend the State Fair. Mr. Myer takes with him a number of his finest percherons and we confidently expect a victorious campaign for him.

Judge P. P. Prim, Judge E. B. Watson, attorneys Jones and Neil returned by stage on Tuesday last from Lakeview. We have not as yet received a report of the proceeding of the session of the Circuit Court just concluded in Lake.

We acknowledge a pleasant call from Rev. J. R. N. Bell, who is arranging for his removal to Roseburg, where his Conference has located him for the ensuing year. Mr. Bell has made many friends during his residence in Ashland, who will regret his change of residence, but as he remains the Presiding Elder of the District we shall see him again in Ashland occasionally.

AN EXTENSIVE BUSINESS.—We learn that Wagner, Anderson & Farmer's Co. who control both the Ashland and Phoenix mills, are doing a heavy business this season, having already ground upwards of 45,000 bushels of wheat. Three weeks ago they had on hand at Ashland 225,000 lbs of flour, and though they have continued to turn out from 15,000 to 16,000 lbs per day, they now have on hand but 20,000 lbs. This remarkable activity in the flour trade shows that the people still continue to lean with great confidence on the staff of life.

EAGLE POINT.—When returning from Crater Lake via the Rogue River road one day last week, we spent an hour or two very pleasantly in the village of Eagle Point on Bette Creek. We were surprised to find a village of so much promise and prominence in the midst of the so-called "desert." Much of the surface of "Big Sticky" is now successfully cultivated, producing the finest of wheat, a vast quantity of which we saw in the flouring mill of Daley and Emery at Eagle Point. We have no doubt but that almost the whole surface of the desert will be cultivated in the near future. This, with the fertile bottoms of Bette Creek, will make that part of the country one of the finest agricultural sections in Southern Oregon. The flouring mill seems crowded this season about 40,000 bushels of wheat and still the grain comes in, making it necessary to run the mill day and night up to its fullest capacity. Mr. Inlow's store is located at this point and Mr. Brown, late of Brownsborough, is putting up another, having a fine stock of goods already on hand. The outlook is certainly favorable for Eagle Point and we confidently expect in a few years to see it quite a town.

AN IMMIGRANT TRAIN.—When at Alkali Lake, in Lake county, a few days ago, we actually saw a live immigrant train of six wagons coming slowly across the sage plains towards the stage station. It was a picture of the long ago, and although the progressive spirit of the age has made the crossing of the great plains infinitely less difficult than formerly, we could not help thinking of the toils of the early pioneers, of—

The restless tramp of the leaders As they led the devoted way, Of the boundless wish for rest That came with the close of day; Of the pain of thirst—of hunger That the very best stings a word, Of the matchless patience of mules, Who their sweat banded to us.

On the arrival of the immigrants at the station we found that they were from near Topeka, Kansas, having been four months en route from the grasshopper State to Oregon. They have since arrived in Rogue River valley where they have met with a kindly welcome. Messrs. McBride and Waters, of the train, with their families have located in Ashland, while the others design making their homes elsewhere in the valley we believe. When they left Topeka they only intended coming as far as Sidney, Nebraska, but they failed to find any place to satisfy them until they reached the rich valleys among the Oregon mountains.

PIONEER STORE.—We learn that Mrs. M. W. Hargadine, while below purchased quite extensively for the Pioneer Store. Look out for the new goods now en route for Ashland. Pull your beans. A storm is brewing.

APPLAGATE ITEMS.

Sept. 26th, 1877.

Ed. TIDINGS.—Since my last there has been no material change in the weather.

One death to record; a young babe, daughter of Mr. Carson.

One case of sickness; a child of H. York has been quite ill with diphtheria, but is now out of danger.

"Sweet will be the song and chorns" is what Messrs. Knox and Bays think. They are now in the molasses making business and are manufacturing an extra article.

Some freight is being brought from Crescent City and some flour taken down.

Nickle & Co. from Crescent City are putting up a store of general merchandise at Wilderville.

Wimer & Sons have bought the McIlwaine store at Waldo and are going soon to take possession.

Green Bros., of Galice Creek, recently crushed sixteen tons of ore in an arrastra and got $490, or $30.625 to the ton, at a cost of about eight dollars to the ton. Dan says they have about 1,000 tons more of said rich ore out.

Rev. A. Miller, one of your Jackson county Commissioners, held meetings on Saturday and Sunday last on Williams Creek. Regular meetings by the Dunkards on Williams Creek and Applegate.

What indeed, is the world coming to, when even that modest individual, the muscle, bone and sinew of the country is not safe in his private citadel, who cannot in peace and quiet cook his humble meals but must have some one spy in private. I allude to the Breichlor, and what causes my surprise is this: On last Sunday, three young ladies might have been seen wending their way up H-g creek towards the cabin of J—, a bachelor rather timid of the strong-minded sex. Not finding him at home and the door being locked, they hoisted a back window, crept in and took a survey of said cabin, but he has missed no property and would not have suspected anything wrong had not a naughty nail on the window sill taken hold of a piece of fabric seldom seen except on the wash line, a piece of tating, and held on to a piece of it. J— says he is going to have it put in a frame and hang it up in his cabin as a trophy of his escape. I will mention no names. MACK.

Messrs. McPherson and Coolidge have lately returned from a successful hunt away up on the backbone of the Siskiyou. One who enjoys the chase and can appreciate the wildest mountain scenery can find no better place to spend a few days with gun, blanket and frypan.

We saw some timothy the other day from George Townsend's ranch, in Lower Hot Spring Valley, which lays in the shade any thing yet recorded in Modoc County. It was 8 feet 10 inches high, and the heads were 1 1/2 inches in length.—Modoc Independent.

ROCKFELLOWS ADJUSTABLE GATE.—No gate of the great number invented with a view of combining cheapness, elegance and ease of operation, seems so much of a success, as the one invented by A. G. Rockfellow of Ashland. The gate is soon to be patented, and the model is now ready for transmittal to Washington. The novelty consists of an adjustable hinge and latch, so that neither the swelling of the gate nor fence can ever interfere with its perfect opening and closing. For a farm gate it can be made with little additional expense, so that it can be closed or opened from a wagon thus saving time and trouble. Such a gate will seem almost like a thing of life, and we predict it will eventually take the place of many an old ragged arrangement which our farmers are wont to repair up with old ropes, keg-hoops and wishes and yet have to drag them around laboriously through the mud. Mr. Rockfellow starts this week for Salem with the intention of exhibiting his gates at the State fair. Good luck to him.

Silas W. Kilgore, Mrs. M. W. Hargadine and Miss Lezlie Hargadine returned from San Francisco on Wednesday evening, having had a pleasant sojourn in the Metropolis.

THE LECTURE.—Gen. E. L. Applegate delivered his lecture on the Korean, Mohammed and Al Koran, at Ashland on Wednesday evening to a very appreciative audience. This lecture abounds in historical information, and is calculated to throw light on the war of the Cross and the Crescent. It has been repeated before a number of audiences and we believe has always given great satisfaction. The music furnished by an Ashland choir, under the management of Prof. Skidmore, reflected no little credit on the performers and was highly enjoyed by the audience.

PIONEER STORE.—We learn that Mrs. M. W. Hargadine, while below purchased quite extensively for the Pioneer Store. Look out for the new goods now en route for Ashland.

Pull your beans. A storm is brewing.

THE FIRST WEDDING IN ROGUE RIVER VALLEY.

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 28, 1877.

EDITOR TIDINGS.—Permit me through the columns of your paper, to correct a statement made by Gen. J. E. Ross in his speech at the Pioneer Rennon at Ashland, Sept. 13, in regard to his being the first man married in Rogue River Valley. Mr. Ross is mistaken for N. C. Dean and Anna Haston were the first. They were married by Rev. Mr. Gilbert, Nov. 15th, 1852. No one knows this better than Mrs. Ross, for she was a bridesmaid. Her name then was Hopwood. J. E. Ross was one of the invited guests, I understand, but failed to make his appearance. Mr. and Mrs. Ross were not married until Jan. 7 or 8, 1853. Yours, A PIONEER.

Misses Clara and Emma Anderson of Scotts Valley, Siskiyou Co., are visiting their many friends in Ashland.

An Opportunity for the Afflicted. Dr. J. M. Hinkle, of the National Surgical Institute, with a competent corps of assistants, will visit Portland Oregon, Rooms at St. Charles Hotel, October 22d, to Nov. 1st, 1877, inclusive. No other institution in the world has successfully treated so many cases of Spinal Curvature, Dislocations of the Joints, Paralysis, Club Feet, Piles, Fistula in ano, Scrofula, Nasal Catarrh etc. Patients from almost every county in the United States have applied to it for relief, either at the home Institute at Indianapolis, Indiana, or to one of its Grand Divisions at Philadelphia, Pa., Atlanta, Ga., or San Francisco, Cal. The afflicted cannot afford to miss this opportunity of being cured at home. The Doctor makes no charge for consultation and examination, and his terms for treatment are within the reach of every one.
