

THE ASHLAND TIDINGS

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1877

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Careless punctuation is dangerous.

Our old friend Eugene Wairal was presented with a bran new son last week.

An excellent assortment of goods always on hand at Helman & Fountain's. Give them a call.

Mr. H. F. Phillips having sold his farm near Jacksonville, has removed to Ashland with his family.

Mr. I. O. C. Wimer has returned to Ashland, after a sojourn of several months at Myrtle Creek.

A full line of new goods now on hand at the Pioneer Store, and for sale at the lowest prices. See the new ad.

C. B. Howard and A. T. Wright of Scotts valley, came over on the 25th inst., to attend the Ashland Academy.

It is reported that the cabbage and cold potato festival of Wednesday evening was a high-toned and elegant affair.

Thanks to young Hammond for the concentrated extract of our sleeve button. The wagon wheel was too heavy for it.

New goods continue to arrive at Rorer's. Among other things he has a very fine assortment of stoves of the latest patterns.

Mr. J. A. Leach has returned from his visit to Lake county Cal., and will probably abide with us during the winter—perhaps longer.

Mrs. J. M. McCall returned from Yreka on Friday of last week, having had a very pleasant time among her many friends in Siskiyou.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hatchison of Langell valley were in Ashland on the 25th, after their winter supply of fruit etc. Also Mr. Donner of Goose Lake valley.

The young Irish-American who saws wood in front of our window is a "tramp." Wont some subscriber bring us a cord of dry manzina for him to lacerate?

Mr. Harst, who has been for some months mining on Grouse Creek, across the Siskiyou, returned to Ashland last week. The mines did not pan out as William expected.

We regret to learn that our old friend John Q. Latta, formerly of Ashland but now of Dardanelles, recovers very slowly from his late attack of fever. He is still rusticated at the Soda Springs.

M. H. Drake and his son Fred, who have spent several months looking after their cattle in the Warner Lake country, have returned to their home in Ashland to remain during the winter.

Our old friend, C. B. Watson Esq., editor of the Sentinel, came up from Jacksonville on Wednesday, en route to Lake county, on legal business. He reports things tranquil in our sister town.

We acknowledge a call, on Monday last, from Miss Della Howell and Miss Mary Watson. Miss Howell returns to her home in the Granite city, from Applegate, where she has been teaching for some time.

THE ACADEMY.—We are pleased to learn that the attendance at the Academy is increasing rapidly. Already there are 90 students in the lower room; 17 new recruits having enlisted during the present week.

Hon. Geo. Conn, Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Lakeview, started on his return to the capital city of Lake on Monday last. He spent some days in Jacksonville making a transcript of the county records.

One night last week Mrs. H. C. Hill fell from the steps of Prof. Skidmore's residence, hurting her right side quite severely. She was not able to leave her room for some days, but is now able to be up again.

LOST.—On last Sunday night by Mrs. H. Smith, somewhere between the Soda Springs and Mr. Kingsbury's residence, a new black shawl. Any one finding it will please leave it at the TIDINGS office and much oblige the owner.

THE NEW BRICK.—A number of mechanics are employed every day on Capt. McCall's new brick and it rapidly approaches completion. The roof is on, ceiling finished, the plastering process almost done, and the building will be ready for use within a few days.

Chitwood & Atkinson have just received a large and well selected assortment of drugs, chemicals, school books etc. The old drug store is blooming out brilliantly and the shelves are already resplendent with elegant things. Give them a call. Their new ad. will appear next week.

Mr. Riggs, the photographic artist, is now at work in his beautifully arranged gallery in Dr. Inlow's new building, near the Post Office. He is well skilled in his art, and would be glad to see you while this clear weather lasts.

Messrs. A. E. Bending and T. M. Harrington, late of Fort Klamath, have become Ashlandites. Mr. Bending is now associated with Mr. Sayers in the bakery and restaurant, and Mr. Harrington works at his trade with Marsh & Valpey.

NEW MILLINERY STORE.—By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Misses M. A. Swingle and I. C. Swingle have opened a millinery store in Dr. Inlow's new building. A beautiful assortment of goods on hand. Give them a call.

PHENIX STORE.—We call attention to the ad. of Sergeant & Co.'s new store at Phoenix. Be sure to give them a call and examine their fine assortment of just such goods as the people want. "Coony" is the man to give you good bargains.

DEATH.—We are pained to learn that Mr. L. J. White died at his home at Rock Point, on Friday the 26th inst. Partial paralysis was the cause of his death. Mr. White was an old and esteemed citizen, and his loss will be severely felt in the community.

The horse is a magnificent animal and must depend upon man for his sustenance and it is unkind to drive him from Ashland to Jacksonville and leave him standing for half a day on the desert like Nicholson pavement, right in front of a livery stable at that.

In speaking of the gigantic vegetables from Lake county last week, we forgot to mention that our old friend David Shook of Alkali Lake, was the individual who presented us with those two carrots which so nearly approximated in size the big shoulder blade from the Oregon Desert.

Mrs. W. C. Myer also furnishes us a copy of the old poem mentioned last week. The title is: "On the Shortness of Human Life." Mrs. Myer has in her possession a copy of the old United States spelling book which contains the poem having preserved it, we believe from the days of her girlhood.

The Fall Creek Copper Mining Company has incorporated to operate in Josephine county, with $350,000 capital. Directors—A. P. Clair, Z. Morizio, Z. Genova, C. Koopmanschap and L. H. Van Schick. This incorporation is entirely a California institution, the directors being residents of that State and Europe.—Register.

THE PIONEER TIN SHOP OF LAKE.—We invite attention to Geo. T. Baldwin's new ad. in this issue. He has just received extensive additions to his stock at Linkville, and can furnish just what the people want in his line. Geo. is the pioneer tinner of Lake county and is deserving of the patronage of the people.

OFFICERS ELECTED.—At a regular meeting of Ashland Lodge, I. O. G. T., held on Friday evening, Oct. 25th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Miss Ella Anderson, W. C. T.; Miss Rachel L. Applegate, W. V. T.; F. Walter Meyer, W. S.; C. H. Gillette, W. F. S.; Miss Frances Meyer, W. T.; L. E. Willis, W. M.; Mrs. H. C. Hill, W. C.; Miss Laura Thornton, W. I. G.; W. T. Leek, W. O. G.

THAT OLD POEM.—And now comes H. W. Clayton and testifies that when a little boy, more than a half century ago, he stood up in a little old log school-house, in Clayton Township, Perry county, Ohio, and with tremulous voice and perturbed spirit, repeated these same lines, which he had learned from the Old United States Spelling Book:

LIKE as the Damask rose you see,
Or like the blossom on the tree;
Or like the daisy flower of May,
Or like the morning of the day;
Or like the sun, or like the shade;
Or like the sound which runs and rades.
Even such is Man! whose time it spans,
Down out and out and so 'tis done,
Withers the rose, the blossom fades;
The daisy fades, the morning has no;,
The sun is set, the shadow flies;
The sound consumes—so Man's days die.

STAGE ACCIDENT.—On Saturday last as Mr. J. D. Hanks was driving the stage down the Siskiyou, one of the horses became fractious and ran off the grade, upsetting the stage. Mr. Hanks was caught under the coach in such a way that he could not extricate himself. He called loudly for help, but he was so far from the Toll House that his cries were not heard for some time—until the dogs attracted attention by barking and running up the road. When at last help came, it was with no little difficulty that he was extricated from his perilous situation, as it was all four men could do to lift the stage, which was bottom side up. Although considerably injured he was able to go on to Rock Point, driving the greater part of the way himself. He writes us from that place under date of Oct. 25, that he is so badly hurt that he cannot hope to be out again for a week or ten days.

AN INTERESTING HUNT.—On Saturday last C. K. Klum, Gilbert Anderson, W. C. Daley and Mr. Robinson went out hunting in the forests of the Siskiyou. Making their camp away up near the summit, they separated to "beat the bush" for the game, as Gordon Cumming would say. Unluckily a storm was on hand, and the sun and other familiar objects became invisible. The various parts of the dense forest seemed wonderfully alike, and when Mr. Klum came to the place where he expected to find the camp, it was not there, but he found instead, a little creek which actually seemed bent on running up hill. Being a philosopher, Charley reflected on the situation awhile, and although it appeared evident that the law of gravitation was not very closely observed by this particular brook, a vague suspicion that he might be mistaken entered his mind, and he concluded to locate for the night and investigate the peculiarities of the stream the next day. Building up an immense fire he sat in its light all night, reflecting on the wonders of nature, with no eating, sleeping or idle conversation to disturb the continuity of his thought. The moon was also perverse that night, coming up in the wrong quarter of the heavens, and even the old familiar dipper, when it came out from under the clouds, seemed to have climbed clear over onto the wrong side of the sky. The next morning nature seemed to have assumed her normal state, and as Charley approached the camp he met the other members of the party, actually looking for him, under the apprehension that he had been lost.

APPLEGATE ITEMS.

Oct. 29th, 1877.—Weather has been a little changeable; some rain, wind and variable, but not rain enough yet to soften the ground for ploughing.

The usual good health of the valley still continues.

The mania for new roads still continues—hope they may all be successful. Viewers have been appointed to look out the road from Williams Creek to Waldo and also to view out the new route from Waldo to Crescent City.

I recently saw some quartz, silver, which I think will prove to be very rich, and what is better a good ledge of it.

It is true, "F," that good looking girls and widows add much interest to singing schools &c. but I would say that I have now so many proposals of marriage on hand, that even if the "ice is broken," I will not fall in at present, but must first decide on all the cases on hand, and will then be ready for others, but I would advise those who are disposed to tumble in, just to go ahead and make one another happy.

Accidental shooting has been rather common lately, but no case has proven fatal. I think, however, that one who came very near losing his life will be careful how he makes a circle with the breech of his gun, having one foot on the fence and letting it slip, thus striking the hammer and taking off a portion of his head. Perhaps he will hereafter attend to his work when he is set at it and not slip off and go hunting.

Circuit Court commenced this week, but as we are a moral and peaceable people, but little business was transacted.

This was my first visit to Kirbyville, and I was quite favorably impressed with the people, who all seem to be enterprising and clever, but I think the female sex very thinly sown, for I did not see more than five old or young ladies; but I tell you I saw many good looking, stout and stirring bachelors. Perhaps if they could only be induced to visit Ashland or Jacksonville, they would soon be changed men, for I believe many of them would not need to be asked the second time to marry; but then perhaps it is better as it is, for who would work the mines and get the scollings for not being "duck-pecked" (I claim "duck-pecked" as a new word.)

Avery, of Louse Creek, has two kinds of hogs, improved stock; one is the barkshear, which shears over rocks and barks the trees, the other, Self sharpened, which rubs its nose against a stump and turns on its side and slips through the fence.

It is really an improvement on the snobby way of taking bridal tours, for the husband to take a load of produce to the city and take his bride along and thus spend the honeymoon, as was the case in this county recently, and still we are told that our country is behind the times, but you now see it is ahead.

This is the way X. got the use of G.'s buggy: He told him that his mother was old and feeble, and could not ride in a wagon and that he wished to take her to town, but he went right off and got a girl and took her to a dance and thus forgot his mother, just like big girls often do, who sit in the parlor and sing, "who will care for mother now," while their mother, perhaps, is out cutting wood to keep up the fire for the dear ugly girl.
