

THE ASHLAND TIDINGS.
FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1878.
FROM WILLIAMS CREEK.

Feb. 5, 1878.
ED. TIDINGS.—At the regular meeting of Washington Grange, No. 181, P. of H. held January 19, the following persons were installed as officers, by Wm. Pernoll, Past; Master of Applegate Grange: W. W. Fiddler, Master; O. F. Topping, Overseer;—Lecturer; H. H. Sparlin, Steward; H. W. Cooper, Chaplain; Chas. Dahne, Treasurer; E. E. Topping, Sec'y; Wm. Mc New, Gate Keeper; E. Payne, Ceres; R. Sparlin, Pomona; N. Pernoll, Flora; Julia Dahne, Lady Assistant Steward.
The new saw mill of Cunningham & Goucher commenced running last Friday; they feel sure it will prove a paying investment.

The Grange, Good Templars and Greenback club are all in a flourishing condition, so say those who know. We have been having heavy rains in the valley and snow in the mountains. All "Complain" of good health, with one exception, within my knowledge—a brother of Judge Baldwin who has heart disease which come near proving fatal last Friday. He is some better at this writing. Dr. Aikin is the attending physician. Mr. Baldwin came to this coast hoping the climate would be beneficial to him. In haste,
Yours, A SUBSCRIBER.

A WOMAN WANTS TO BE KISSED MORE.

I know not how to address you; I have never dared to come before so great a tribunal before, but I do wish that I could show you my heart just as it is, with all its aches and longings. Yes, longings is the word. You men think that we women folks don't care if we are not loved, so we have a good home [and plenty to eat and wear; but I do wish you could see into some of our hearts. Down in the corner, there is a spark ready to burst forth into a flame which a kind word and a kiss would enkindle. How much brighter would our work seem if our husbands, when they leave home, would greet us with some such token instead of passing us by, and walking in, ask "if there is any mail," or some such trivial question. I, for one, have a good, kind husband, just such a one as I have described. Come, come, you men folks, just try love and kind words, with kisses thrown in as dessert. Just try it for a while, and my word for it, home will seem happier, and your wife's countenance will amply repay you for all the expense you go into. I know my husband will kiss me if I go to him and turn up my face—if he would, when he comes home, just throw his arms around me, stoop over and give me a kiss, how much sweeter it would be. We women don't like to make all the advances. I think 'tis the husband's place as well as the wife's to come out of this reserve and be as loving after marriage as they were before. Often, oh, how often, when my hubby comes in, I look into his face almost asking for a kiss, but withholding the words, how my heart would ache if he should pass out without any such token. I have taken a good many cries over it, almost wishing I was sleeping in the cemetery, rather than live to be a wife without love on my husband's side. What do I care for riches without love to weigh in the balance? I would far rather be poor and have my husband's love than to have all else besides. Give me love, for it will weigh more than riches. Just you husbands try it. Try this receipt and see how it will work.—Correspondence, Iowa State Register.

Says the Walla Walla Union: Messrs. Lang & Ryan, inform us that up to the present, this season, their firm has purchased 12,000 head of cattle, at an average of $13 per head, being a total of $156,000 disbursed by them since the 1st of last October. The greater portion of the cattle were bought in the Yakima and Crab creek counties. They expect to commence collecting their cattle about the 1st of March, and to drive them this season to Colorado. From Colorado all beef cattle will be shipped to Missouri, where they will be fattened on corn, and sent to market next year. The rest will be driven to Missouri next year. They propose to buy yearly, all the surplus cattle of this country. They are now buying all good saddle ponies offered.

On Sunday Jan. 27, the dam at Tindall's saw mill on the Luckiamute was washed out. The pond contained nearly 100,000 feet of logs. Loss about $1,000. So we learn from the steamer.

The Record states that on the 1st inst. Chas. Williams shot and instantly killed Dr. Field at Brownsville. Williams is under arrest.

The Statesman reports that a robbery was committed at The Dallas on Sunday evening last. Sixty dollars in coin were taken from Wells, Fargo & Co.'s safe.
