

THE ASHLAND TIDINGS

M. SUTTON, EDITOR.

FRIDAY, JULY 19, 1878

SOUTHERN OREGON'S PAPER.

We desire again to call attention to the TIDINGS. We would say to those who have already honored us with their patronage, that we shall, to the utmost of our ability, continue our efforts to make it worthy of their support.

In conclusion, we will repeat our request, that when you read this appeal, do not forget it, but make up your mind that you will secure us, at least, one more subscriber.

MAUG SAGE GETS HOME.

Big Butte Creek, July 14th, 1878.

EDITOR OF THE TIDINGS:—I suppose you'll begin to think that I'm dead, but I ain't. I'm dog on high onto being gone up the flame tho'. I've had the tinnest, hardest tramp any poor broke speculator had since the Trojan war of '55 and '56.

INDIAN WAR NEWS.

It is impossible for us to give all the Indian news that comes through the daily papers. Much of it is vague and contradictory, and shows that intense excitement prevails in the country invaded by the savages.

BOISE CITY (Idaho), July 13.—Mr. John Harley, Superintendent of the North-western Stage Company, this evening received the following dispatch from one of his division agents, now at Meacham's on the Blue mountains: "A courier has arrived and reports that three bodies six miles from here, supposed to be freighters. I went to the top of Crawford's Hill and saw the Indians set fire to Cayuse Station and heard rapid firing in the direction of Pendleton.

TWENTY ONE REDS CAPTURED.

BOISE CITY (Idaho), July 13.—Captain Viven of Major Ebert's command, while scouting in the vicinity of Crow creek, a tributary of North Powder River, captured twenty-one Indians, including women and children, and some stock.

A LIVELY FIGHT PROGRESSING.

WALLA WALLA, July 13.—A man who left Weston today says that the troops are fighting between the mouth of the Top Willow and Cayuse Station, twelve miles from Weston, on the Meacham road. The action commenced between 8 and 9 o'clock this morning.

HOSTILES IN FORCE AT UMATILLA RESERVATION.

UMATILLA, July 13, 8 A. M.—The following letter was received this morning from Pendleton, dated 12:30 A. M.

GOVERNOR S. F. CHADWICK—Dear Sir: Yours just received. Will try to get an escort for the wagons in the morning. We have been having an exciting time here today. Hostile Indians are in force on the reservation. George Coggins of Portland and Al Banker of La Grande were shot this afternoon, about six miles from here, on the stage road to Cayuse Station.

CAPTAIN VIVES HITS THEM AGAIN.

UMATILLA, July 13—1 P. M.—The following letter has just been received by courier from Pendleton, July 13th:

TO GOVERNOR S. F. CHADWICK—Dear Sir:—The troops under Captain Miles are now fighting about two miles above the Agency on the Indians, and have been for the last two hours. The Indians are on the river, near their general camping place.

SEVEN HOSTILES CAPTURED.

BAKER CITY, (Or.) July 13.—The hostiles have made their appearance on Claver creek, a tributary of the North Powder river. Captain Viven's company of Ebert's command, while scouting yesterday in that direction, captured seven Indians, eight squaws, some children, some twenty head of horses, after a vigorous pursuit.

UMATILLA, July 13, 2:30 P. M.—The Governor has made call for 301 volunteers to report to him, and sent courier last evening after he left this morning. Courier returned at 5 o'clock A. M., having rode 75 miles during the night.

relied on. They have misled settlers and soldiers and have acted as spies and scouts for the hostiles. He further cautions volunteers against doing any act not justified by oncoming governing modern warfare.

Settlers Pouring into Walla Walla from Every Direction.

WALLA WALLA, July 13, 12:30 P. M.—Many wagons have arrived in the City during the day and evening containing families who are coming in for safety. They are still arriving from various directions. We will probably hear some interesting news in a few hours.

Report from the Wallula—Summary of the Situation.

July 13, 10 P. M.—This place was thrown into quite an excitement this afternoon upon receipt of a report that reliable information had been received that the hostiles were on Walla Walla, and that fighting was going on there between the artillery and Indians, and that in all probability, the rebels would come down Vansyck canyon and make for the mouth of Snake river, passing within two or three miles of this place.

UMATILLA, July 13.—The troops under Capt. Miles drove the Indians into the foothills near Cayuse station. They fought four or five hours at long range in the valley. Finally the troops and volunteers made a charge and drove them four miles to the hills, and captured several horses on the hill.
