

THE ASHLAND TIDINGS

FRIDAY, AUGUST 9, 1878. LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Read the new ads. this week. Central Point has a new wagon shop. Miss Annie Swingle has gone to Jacksonville to visit friends.

Miss Hannah McGee, of Josephine county, is visiting friends in town.

LOST—A small gold ring. The finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving the same at this office.

Mrs. M. W. Hargadine arrived home on last Saturday, after a visit of some weeks to friends in Lake county.

J. M. Sutton, editor of this paper, is spending the week in Josephine county, among old friends and patrons.

N. S. Marshall has sold his one half interest in his upper saw mill on Ashland creek, to John Chandler.

This time it is a girl and Robt. Taylor, of Clear Lake, the happy father. The young lady arrived July 31st ultimo.

Mr. Sutton is absent this week and any editorial shortcomings, noticeable in this issue, is chargeable alone to ad interim.

A San Francisco firm has an agent in Sam's valley collecting chatham bark and wild grape root, out of which to manufacture bitters.

Charley Hargadine is back again from Lake county. We can notice little change in his appearance, except in the growth of his whiskers.

J. Q. Latta returned from the soda springs on Butte creek last Monday. Wailed away, he killed five fine antlers, and now he is ranked among the Nimrods.

Mr. G. M. Barlingham has ceased his connection with Mr. Joseph Brown in the butchering business, and Mr. Wm. Harris succeeds him. Read notice of new firm.

Master Horace Reuser, aged four years, stepped into our sanctum yesterday morning, with a treat of delicious ripe apples, for the printers. If that boy lives, he will never be in arrears to the newspapers.

The Yreka Journal commenced its twenty-fifth volume with its issue of the 7th inst. Robert Nixon, the present editor and proprietor, has presided over its columns for seventeen years, with marked success and ability.

MINSTRELS COMING.—The Morrell Minstrel troupe are billed to give an exhibition in Ashland on next Monday evening. This troupe has the reputation of giving excellent performances wherever they have been.

Garrett & Son is the name of a new firm in our town. The junior member arrived here last Saturday. He bears a striking resemblance to the elder partner, in everything but size, and is expected, when they become a little better acquainted, to call him "Pa."

J. W. Bradford is his name and California his destination. He left Oregon for the good of the State and is only remembered by a host of mourning creditors whom he "bilked" out of various sums large and small. May he ever cast his shadow before him.

Dr. W. B. Royal, late of Oakland, Douglas county, arrived in town on last Saturday with his family. He has located permanently in Ashland, and commenced the practice of his profession. His office and residence are on Factory street. See his card in this paper.

THE MAILS.—For two weeks past, there has been considerable irregularity in the mails, arriving at this place. On three occasions the Portland papers failed to arrive on the day they were due. The same has been the case with the mails from the south. Something wrong somewhere.

The most cowardly villain that breathes, is he who will write another an and anonymous, insulting letter, containing obscene language or pictures. A filthy cur, of this species, recently mailed such a letter in the Ashland Postoffice. It was inclosed in a Wells & Fargo envelope. Does any one know who he is?

MAN TRAP.—If our city fathers will examine the side walk, on Granite street just south of Spickelmier's shop, they will discover that the banisters next to the creek are such poor excuses that there is great danger of some one pitching over a precipice of about twenty feet, and fighting on their ear. A little timely work in this case may save a damage suit.

Mr. S. N. Hazen, of Lost river, Lake county, gave us a call last Wednesday. He reports his making still progressing. Vast amounts are being saved. Those who had sown grain or about through harvest. Some crops are remarkably heavy. Bybee & Caldwell at the mouth of Lost river, have two acres of wheat which is believed will yield sixty bushels to the acre.

LET AGAIN.—On the first of this month, the contract for carrying the mails between Roseburg and Reading was re-let. Williams is the lucky bidder's name and $55,000 the sum he proposes to perform the service for. What particular Williams it is who has made this lucky strike is not stated but the general opinion is that it is Rodger Williams, as no one but a dead man would make such a grouse of himself.

Weather Report table with columns for date, temperature, and wind direction.

We had a pleasant call from Wm. H. Parker, of Big Butte, last week. He, like all the others who have not visited our town for a year, expresses surprise at the rapid improvements going on here.

A middle aged woman of stout, hearty appearance and with resolution and endurance equal to the emergency, beaming from her comely countenance, passed through town, on last Saturday en route for Reading on foot.

THE BOULON FAMILY.—This troop gave one of their entertainments in this place, on last Thursday evening. The attendance was not large but those who did attend speak well of the performance. Had the troop given a more extended notice of their coming, they would doubtless have secured a larger house.

NEEDS REPAIR.—We respectfully call the attention of the town authorities to the horrible condition of the sidewalk, just north of the new M. E. Church. It is washed out into ditches which makes it difficult to pass in daytime and dangerous at night. A cess pool of stagnant water, also, stands near by, that should be drained for the sake of health and decency.

BROKE OUT.—A number of the most stalwart and active braves of the Klamath tribe of Indians broke out last week. They made a simultaneous and savage attack on a number of hay fields belonging to the whites and unmercifully pitched the hay in large stacks. Being somewhat intimidated, the owners of the hay paid the savages one dollar per day and allowed them to depart.

At Secord, one of the mechanics working on the Presbyterian Church, when near the comb of the building, the other day, slipped, with a bunch of shingles, but caught on the eaves and saved himself from a fearful fall. Yesterday the scaffolding gave way with two of the carpenters, at work on the M. E. Church, but they luckily escaped without broken bones. Items are scarce but we are not hankering after funeral notices.

INSTALLATION.—At the last regular meeting of Ashland Lodge, No 189, I. O. G. T., the following officers were duly installed for the ensuing quarter, by A. D. Helman, L. D.; J. S. Erbanks, W. C. T.; Miss E. Anderson, W. V. T.; Miss Kate Thornton, W. S.; P. L. Fountain, W. A. S.; J. C. Erbanks, W. F. S.; O. R. Myer, W. T. A. Secord, W. C.; M. Wagner, W. M.; Miss Lizzie Hargadine, W. D. M.; Miss M. Herrin, W. I. G.; Miss Laura Anderson, W. R. H. S.; Miss Bill Woolen, W. L. H. S.; and T. O. Ball, W. P. W. C. T.

PREMIERS FOR PERCHERONS.—Mr. W. C. Myer offers the following special premiums for colts and fillies sired by his celebrated imported Percheron horses: For the best yearling colt sired by White Prince, $20; for the best sucking colt sired by White Prince, $20; for the best yearling filly sired by White Prince, $15; for the best sucking filly sired by White Prince, $15; for the best yearling filly sired by Pride of Perche, $15; for the best sucking filly sired by Gen. Fleury, $20; for the best sucking filly sired by Gen. Fleury, $15, at the coming State Fair, commencing October 10, 1878.

WARM... Halo Chickens... Wild strawberries gone... Coyotes are very troublesome... School will close this week... E. H. Hughes and wife and a part of his family are "down at the heel"... J. P. Parker is now sole proprietor of the Yellow Jacket steam saw mill... Sam Cameron has sold out his interest in the Butte Creek "lightning express," to J. A. Obenehain, and now logs come in all the same.

"Dad" Stought will build a house and move on his land adjacent the steam saw mill, ere long.

A Butte creek bachelor wants a wife. For particulars, enquire at Sane Sage's little old log cabin.

A dance at the residence of J. C. Robinson recently. No "benzing," a good supper, splendid music, a pleasant gathering.

T. J. first met on Saturday—promised on Sunday—became secured on Monday, and engagement "burst" on Tuesday. Verily there is "bitter mixed with the sweet." The course of true love does not run very smoothly in the Big Butte clime.

Our disciple who liveth in the City of Peth, which is in the valley of Big Butte, did enthrust about the late days of jubilee, and accordingly wended his way on an ass to the land of Sodom and Gomorrah, where he partook of the spirils freely. He came near handing in his checks, and passing to the grave of his fathers. "Should my stomach crave more of that which giveth redness of eyes, I shall take strychnine straight, instead of the liquid." Thus depose this disciple of Peth.

Dr. J. P. Parker came "the plains across" in the year '52, in quest of health, hardly expecting to reach this shore alive; has been badly ruptured twice since; horses ran away with reaper, and broke some of his ribs; was kicked by a horse three or four years since, and his life was almost despaired of; has done enough hard manual and mental labor to kill half a dozen ordinary men; is 62 years of age, and yet he is on Big Butte doing more hard work than any man of ordinary muscle, at the age of 35 could do. Does this not speak well for Oregon climate?

A wife was standing in the kitchen door, with a pitcher of cream in her hand, watching her husband cut up a quarter of beef, near by. Thomas—the cat, was mewing for fresh meat. Tige—the canine, an inveterate hater of the feline species of animal creation came along and made a furious attack on his catship. The latter sprang to the door, the dog in close pursuit, and ran against the lady with such velocity as to knock her sprawling on the floor as flat as a flitter. On arising, she perceived her husband standing with mouth stretched from ear to ear. Chagrined at the humililty, she struck with the pitcher at the canine, but struck the cream in her own face, and threw the stove instead. Result: A humiliated woman; a broken pitcher; a pint of cream lost; a cat scared out of a year's growth; a dog conched under the table; five children wiping lacteal fluid out of their mother's optics; a broken broom handle and a prostrate husband; a friend applying irritating plasters to the sides of a spectator to remove pains, caused by exhaustive laughter. JONNY SMOKER.

July 22d. Josephine Items.

MURPHY, August 3, 1878. Grain and vegetable crops doing well, despite the dry hot weather. Corn twelve feet high, potatoes weighing two pounds, and onions five inches in diameter are not uncommon here.

You report some one having shown you a stalk of oats 6 feet 9 inches in height. I have, growing, oats eight feet, and rye nine feet. "How is that for high?"

Fruit of all kinds is plenty, and to spare. One half of our crop will be for sale, and there will be plenty left.

D. P. March was the first to have his wheat threshed, and got the first grain to the mill on Applegate. Lawden & Co. are doing the threshing for this part of the county.

I notice many of your "lovels of creation" flee to the mountains, during the present heated season. Some do the same here and leave their wives and children at home, to fight the fleas and house flies, while they camp in the cool shade and discuss such delicacies as mountain trout and fat venison—shall take a mountain airing, soon, myself, but can neither take a wife along or leave one at home.

Quiet all along the line in the matrimonial field. Not a shrimage to report, even in Western-waters or higher up William's creek. Expect news from that foreign clime soon, however, of a startling character—will report should any hostile movement occur.

A little daughter of M. M. Woody, died last week—no other cases of sickness to report. MACG.

ASHLAND, August 6, 1878. ASHLAND TIDINGS.—In a late number of your paper, you made inquiry regarding the name of the man who was with Dilly, the packer, at the time he was killed, by the Indians, near Phoenix in 1851. His name was Virgil Quivy. He emigrated to Oregon in 1850, and traveled in the company with which I crossed the plains that year.

The two men were traveling alone, with a small pack train loaded with flour, and had camped near where Phoenix is now located, when two Indians were allowed to enter their camp, stealthily got possession of their guns and fired upon them. Dilly was killed but Quivy escaped and made his way to Yreka, then known as Sasta diggings. A company of miners volunteered to accompany Quivy back to the scene of the murder, but if I am not mistaken, the body of the murdered man had been buried by another company of gold seekers, who had arrived before them.

I was mining at Yreka at the time, and to the best of my recollection, the date of the affair was June 13, 1851. M.

Pursuant to adjournment, the citizens of Ashland met at Helman's Hall on Monday evening, August 5th.

Committee on constitution and by laws asked for further time to report, which, upon motion, was granted.

Committee on how to utilize water, made, through their Chairman, Dr. J. H. Whitwood, a lengthy verbal report, stating that the committee had considered the practicability of the construction of a reservoir on the Hargadine ditch, from which water could be used in the business part of town by hydraulic pressure; also the purchase of a Turbine wheel and force pump, to be placed in the flouring mill, with sufficient hose to flaring the business part of town. After considerable discussion, the committee was instructed to make a written report and present the same at next meeting. The committee was also instructed to correspond with parties in Portland and San Francisco, and ascertain the cost of pump, hose, etc., and report at proper time.

The meeting seemed to be unanimously in favor of the immediate organization of a hook and ladder company, the expense of procuring necessary fixtures to be paid by assessment made by the town board.

On motion, meeting adjourned to meet at the same place on Monday, August 12th, at 7 1/2 o'clock in the evening.

JACOB WAGNER, Chairman. W. A. McPHERSON, Sec. pro tem.

Death of W. T. Watson.

By a letter received last Saturday, by W. W. Watson, foreman of this office, word was received conveying the sad intelligence of the death of his father, W. T. Watson. Deceased was, for three years, a resident of this place and only last May, with his wife and four of his children, hoping to regain his then failing health, he moved to Bonham, Fannin county, Texas, where he had a daughter and son-in-law residing. The change gave him no relief and on the 21st of last month he passed peacefully away, leaving a devoted wife and eight children. Besides many warm friends to bear him in affectionate remembrance, Mr. Watson was born in Vermillion county, Indiana, and, at the time of his death, he lacked one day of being fifty-four years old. From Indiana he emigrated to Illinois, where he resided for many years. When the war of secession burst upon the country in 1861, he volunteered in the hundred and sixth regiment of Illinois volunteers and served in the Union army for three years. He participated in the memorable battle of Pittsburg Landing and a number of other severe engagements. In one of these, in the Summer of 1863, he was prostrated by sun stroke, and never again recovered his former health. At the close of the war, he received an honorable discharge and at the time of his death, he was receiving a pension from the Government which he gave his health and life to defend. In his life, he illustrated the maxim: "An honest man is the noblest work of God," to whom he has been called, "sustained and soothed by an unflinching trust" in His beneficent justice and goodness.

DON'T FORGET IT. If you are troubled with nervousness, are disheartened, tired of life, fear death or feel out of sorts, as the saying is, you may safely conclude that you have the Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint. The liver is very apt to become torpid this season of the year, as poisons arising from stagnant water or decaying vegetation, are more numerous, and are, through inhalations, taken into the blood. Unless the liver is strong and active, and furnishes a supply of fresh and pure blood to drive out the impurities, the above-mentioned symptoms are sure to follow, and if not heeded, may end in more terrible diseases and death. White's Prairie Flower proves itself the Great Liver Panacea. Its action on the liver is different from any medicine ever compounded. Its effects are truly wonderful. Try it. Price, twenty-five cents and seventy-five cents. For sale by CHITWOOD & ATKINSON. (No53ft)
