

THE ASHLAND TIDINGS

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1878

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

"M. M." next week.

Weather warm and sultry.

Geo. Deal, of Cottonwood, was in town this week.

The days are growing shorter, and the nights cooler.

Silas J. Kilgore has gone to Langell valley on business.

McCall & Co. are now prepared to supply you with wool sacks.

If it's Klam's place of business you are looking for, see his new sign.

Rufus Cole Esq. was over the mountain this week, on a business trip.

Several interesting letters from our Josephine correspondents, will be found on our outside.

We are glad to see our old friend Jacob Shurtle on the streets again after his severe illness.

W. A. Wilshire inflicted a pretty severe gash in his instep, a few days ago, while chopping wood.

A lady's kid glove was found near the Post-office Store, on last Saturday, and left in our sanctum.

Our friend Sperry, didn't die "worth a cent." He's around again, and nearly ready to run a foot race.

Dense smoke pervades the atmosphere, from the extensive fires in the mountains south of town.

Miss Ellen Shepherd, after spending the summer in Lake Co., has returned to her home on Emigrant creek.

Mr. Nutley was so busy booting his customers, that it is barely possible that he missed his "advertisement" last week.

We left out Kentner's "ad." last week and put an item in its place which so amused him that he didn't discover his loss.

POSTPONED.—We have information that Mr. Flagler, the photographic artist, will not be in Ashland until the 17th inst.

We learn by Nort Eddings that a German by the name of Barnes shot himself in the stage, near Levin's, one day this week.

Capt. Sol. Tetherow, the old mountain man, now nearly eighty years of age, is amusing himself by bee hunting in the Cascades.

Our four blacksmith shops are "head over heels" at work and all our carpenters are "run to the nines," to complete their orders.

Rev. W. T. Chapman, Pastor of the M. E. Church at this place, will preach in the Presbyterian church, at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

R. H. Klippel, late foreman of the Tidings, was over on a visit from the Conobar region. The mountains seem to set well with him.

Mr. Robt. Taylor, of Clear lake, hurriedly passed through town this week, on his way to see that big daughter of his for the first time.

A little boy of Richard Roach, of this place, fell out of the door, on last Tuesday and broke his arm. Dr. Inlow set the fractured bones.

We learn that the ball which was gotten up by the guests of the Half Way House on the Linkville road, Tuesday night, was a decided success.

One of the handsomest business signs erected this season, is that of Messrs. J. S. Eubanks jr. & Samuel Morgan, displayed on their blacksmith shop.

A G Rockfellow's adjustable gate, the Occident, an elegant and valuable invention is on exhibition at J. M. McCall & Co's. All who take interest in gates should call and see it.

Mr. and Mrs. James Kilgore and Misses Josephine and Florence Kilgore have returned from Langell valley, where they have been visiting for some time.

The Conference recently in session at Salem has appointed the Rev. Wm. T. Chapman, a graduate of Drew Theological Seminary, as pastor of the M. E. Church in Ashland.

We noticed last week, that J. D. Fountain was being overworked from a big rush of customers, so we just stopped his "ad." a week, to give him a rest, but it didn't seem to work.

J. Crit Tolman came in from Oregon's metropolis yesterday, looking robust and feeling cheerful. After tarrying with us a while he will return to his place of business, at Portland.

Mr. Bish, the veritable vegetable man, ventured into our office, this week, with two very fine watermelons, of some very valuable variety, for which he has the thanks of this office and yours very truly.

Mr. Bish, the "garden truck" man, has taken a load of the good things of his garden, and gone on a raid to the Lake country, via Linkville. If you want a good bargain, wait for his wagon.

Table with 4 columns: Date, Thermometer, Wind, and other weather-related data for two weeks ending Sept. 11th.

The following is the report of the thermometer for two weeks, ending Sept. 11th; observations taken at sunrise.

PREACHING.—Rev. M. A. Williams arrived at his home, after a long visit to the Eastern States, on last Wednesday, and will preach at the Presbyterian Church in Ashland, on next Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m.

We are proud to call attention to another practical gem, written for the Tidings, in to-day's issue. Were it not for the excessive modesty of the author, we would be glad to have given his name in full, or at least signed it W. W. F.

OYSTER SUPPER.—The ladies of the Mite Society, of the Presbyterian Church, will give an oyster supper at the Goodchild house, in Ashland, on next Wednesday evening. Twenty-five cents will be charged for supper; all are invited.

A protracted meeting will be commenced at the District School house in Ashland, on the 4th Sunday, being the 22d day of September, by Elders Martin and Richardson. On Sunday Sept. 22d, Elder Martin will preach the funeral sermon of the late Mrs. Hutchings.

Yesterday morning, Capt. O. C. Applegate stepped into our sanctum, looking as hale and pleasant as ever. He accompanied his mother and sister on their return from the Lake country, where they have been sojourning among relatives during the summer.

Judge Groves, accompanied by his wife and daughter and the Misses Holton and Daggett, arrived in our town during the latter part of last week. Mr. Groves and wife returned to their home at Fort Jones, California, and the young ladies remained to attend the Academy.

We learn from parties returned from attendance at the Pioneer Reunion at Jacksonville, that the affair was a decided success. The address by Wm. M. Colvig, was exactly the thing required to interest and enthuse the multitude of old timers who were on hand. A full report next week.

THE FIRST LOAF.—Wm. Mayfield has branched the services of a first class baker, and has already commenced operations in his new bakery. We will add that we have the honor of becoming the proprietor of the first loaf baked in the new oven and can say truly that it was a No. 1 article.

M. E. CONFERENCE.—The following appointments for this section were made by the M. E. Conference, in session at Salem, last week: Presiding Elder, J. S. McCain; Jacksonville, D. A. Crowell; Ashland, W. T. Chapman; Klamath, L. M. Nicholson; Yainax, G. W. Roark; Linkville, to be supplied.

The Oregon and California Railroad Company was organized at Jacksonville, and the Oregon and California Telegraph Company was organized at Yreka. Yet we will predict that the most important enterprise to the citizens of this country is the Narrow Gauge Company just organized at Jacksonville.

Miss Luella M. B. Ide, who is already a young artist of no ordinary ability, has gone to Portland and is now taking lessons under one of Oregon's best artists, Mrs. Dowd, who took the first premium at the State fair last year. After completing a course of lessons, Miss Luella will return to Ashland and teach painting at the Academy this winter.

We are pleased to announce a very pleasant call this week from Mr. E. D. Ross of Crescent City, who is at present visiting his father's family in this place. Mr. Ross is a very genial and intelligent young man, and stands a head and shoulders above any other "typo" on this coast, measuring seven feet and one inch in height. May his shadow never grow shorter.

The surrounding hills seem totally enveloped in a dense cloud of smoke. It appears that somebody in the neighborhood of the newly discovered mining district, has been careless and allowed the fire to escape from camp. From the amount of smoke rising out of the woods in that direction, we would suggest that they had better be "stamping it out."

The first term of the Ashland Academy and Commercial College was commenced on Monday morning, the 9th instant, under the most favorable promise of a successful term. By the number of students who have wisely availed themselves of the opportunity of entering this institution at the commencement of the first term, and the public favor the present faculty have gained as educators, we feel amply justified in bespeaking for them a very satisfactory degree of success.

A TREAT FOR ASHLAND.—The following epistle will explain to the people of this town that there is a treat in store for them:

"JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 4 1878. I will lecture upon The Fulfillment of Prophecies at Ashland School house on 3d Sunday in Sept; morning and evening. H. FARNSWORTH. Please advertize."

Mr. J. B. Bigdon has purchased Mr. Hayes' interest in the Ashland Soap Factory, and is now sole proprietor. He desires us to say that he will collect all the outstanding accounts of the late firm and will pay all its indebtedness. He has also ordered a new stock of material and is now prepared to carry on the business on an extended scale.

Dr. Whittemore, now located at Phoenix, has evidently seen much of the "rough and tumble" side of his profession. In 1861 and 1862 he was surgeon for the Pacific Mail Ship Co., from San Francisco to Panama; from 1862 to 1865, he was first Ass't Surgeon to the First Washington Ter. regiment of volunteers, and in 1865, he was Assistant Surgeon of the First Oregon Infantry Volunteers.

Some unknown man, from some unknown place, but evidently somewhat out of sorts with the "ager," sent to Dr. Whitwood, on last Monday, a prescription for ague, with orders to fill and send by return stage, C. O. D., but unfortunately forgot to give either his name or place of residence, and there was not even a post mark on the envelope to give a clue to the unfortunate sufferer.

Mr. Alex. McKay, of Fort Jones, California, and Messrs. Robert Garrett and Leander Neil, of this place, left Ashland, on the 9th inst., on a surveying expedition for C. B. Watson. The territory to be surveyed is in the vicinity of Steins Mountain, some three or four hundred miles from this point, and perhaps two months time will be required to complete the survey. The remainder of the party will join them at Lake View.

REBECCAS TO THE FRONT.—On last Tuesday evening, a delegation from Ruth Rebecca Lodge, No. 4. I. O. O. F. of Jacksonville, consisting of Mr. W. J. Pymale and lady, Hermon v. Helms and lady, F. Loy and lady, Mr. A. Bish and lady, Mrs. John Miller and John A. Byer, D. D. J. M., paid a fraternal visit to the Rebecca members of Ashland Lodge, No. 45. It was one of the most enjoyable affairs that has transpired in Ashland for many a day. After the order of business was disposed of, a lunch was spread in the hall and all went well. Just before the advent of the shortest hour of the night, the visiting brothers and sisters stepped into their carriages and were soon wheeling their way homeward. Of each pleasant experience are life's most pleasant memories made.

We frequently hear of the murmurs of our friends in consequence of some misfortune, but always endeavor to console them with the fact that we are all constantly exposed to the vicissitudes of fortune. In this instance, it appears that a party of young men unconsciously (?) came upon a splendid meadow patch of one of our local horticulturists, and, discovering a capital feast spread out before them, in the yellow light of the declining moon, proceeded to help themselves. We were not permitted to make note of the second scene, but are informed, however, that the doctor's bill was light, and that the expense of the "treat" was not much heavier than it would have been, had they purchased these worthy members of the vegetable kingdom at a fair price, like gentlemen, and eaten them without the necessity of establishing a picket line.

THE NEW MINES.

Good Prospects for the Coming Winter.

Since our last issue, new developments have been made on the mines recently discovered above Ashland. There seems to be a large extent of country on which gold has been found in paying quantities. It does not seem to be confined to the gulches alone, but is found all over the extensive flats in the vicinity. The dirt is from one to four feet deep and prospects from the surface down. We have heard of one experienced man washing out two dollars in a part of one day with a rocker, and prospects from one to two cents to the pan, almost on the top soil, are common. Investigations have proven that a very good supply of water for sluicing, in the winter time, can be had. One company has already surveyed a ditch three miles long and commenced digging it. We have our information from experienced miners who give it as their opinion that these mines are both extensive and rich. If they are but half as good as they are supposed to be, by those who have examined them, Ashland will be a stirring place this winter. Mines like these that will give employment to a great number of men, even at ordinary wages, are better for the country than all the hydraulic claims put together, as the latter can employ but a few men at most.

Items from the "Times."

Hamilton & Chappel are putting in a new hydraulic near Uniontown.

J. A. Cardwell is to build a half mile race track on his place, soon.

Thermometer up to 100 last week, in Jacksonville.

A number of ladies and gentlemen from Eugene City will visit Crater Lake during this month.

E. C. Brooks is repairing the old Pat Ryan brick for a livery stable.

IN MEMORIAM.

DONNA HOWELL.

The following Preamble and Resolutions were unanimously passed at the last regular meeting of Ashland Lodge, No. 189, I. O. G. T.:

WHEREAS it has pleased Almighty God to remove Sister Donna Howell from this earthly Lodge to the Grand Lodge above, therefore, be it

Resolved, That, in the Death of Sister Donna Howell, the Lodge has lost one of its most worthy members.

Resolved, That this Lodge extends its heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family and friends.

Resolved, That a copy of these Resolutions be furnished the family of the deceased, to the ASHLAND TIDINGS for publication, and that the Resolutions be placed on the permanent record of the Lodge.

Submitted in Faith, Hope and Charity.

J. D. FOUNTAIN, KATE THORNTON, W. T. LEEKE, Committee.

A Disastrous Fire.

About 2 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, the alarm was given that a disastrous fire was raging in the upper end of the valley, along the foot hills and that assistance was needed immediately. A back from the stable was procured, and a half dozen men were dispatched to the fire-lad field, and found about a half section of wooded country utterly ablaze. It was seen that nothing but immediate and prudent action could rescue the entire upper end of this arm of the valley from the ravages of the fire.

About twenty men were fighting the progress of the flames and it was only by all possible effort that it was checked in its violent course for the adjoining stubble and hay fields. It had already reached John Walker's pasture, and a few more of its mad leaps would have taken it into his hay field and barn yard, and the surrounding fields and farm houses would have been in imminent danger of being destroyed, as it had been impossible to stop it when it succeeded in reaching the fields of dry stubble. Just before sunset, it was checked at every point, but until it had reduced to ashes Mr. J. Reel's barn, about ten tons of hay, a portion of his harness, a saddle wagon box, tools, all of his farm implements, his chicken house and probably his chickens with a string of rail fence nearly half a mile in length. The origin of the fire is not known, but it is supposed that some mindless individual set it out without a knowledge of the extent of the offense. If there be any one so void of common-sense judgment, the people should, at once, see that he is immediately brought to a proper observance of the laws relative to his duty as a citizen among us. Since the fire was set out at two different points simultaneously, on the day before, and shortly after extinguished, and again set out at the same places, and also near Mr. Reel's residence the next day, it is highly probable that malice impelled some fiendish scoundrel to resort to this method of satisfying a revengeful feeling against his fellow.

VAGABOND.—We don't often get the ague, and very seldom get funny, but when we do, it shakes us all over. The first symptoms of the latter came on us suddenly while taking a stroll around town the other day. We stopped in at the harness shop. Hearing A. Ball in the back room, we rushed in to see what was the matter. We found two young men busily engaged at their work. Taking a hasty glance around the room, we pointed to one of them and enquired the difference between him and the young man who called upon his girl when she was making a night gown. As simple as the question was, he couldn't answer it, and we had to tell him that one was stitching a halter, and the other was halting a stitcher. We then Klum out of there in a hurry, or we'd have been Stude.

Hurrying through a large brick store, we saw something funny. We saw a fellow with a geological prefix to his name, trying to spell "Bum" with an a in it—thus: B(a)um. We didn't say anything but started for another item.

We had some Miss Glean in visiting the Variety Store, so we just peeped in long enough to see a live and handsome Jackson county Herrin.

As we passed the wagon shop, we took a glance through it and concluded that we could find nothing there, for they had been having a Hunt there for several weeks.

We next stopped at the door of the City Drug Store, but didn't go in, lest we might get our good boots muddy, for there was a great Myer right in the middle of the floor, caused, we presume, by the Walters from up Ashland creek, running through there every day. El. asked us how that was for High. We replied somewhat sarcastically, if he called that high, we'd like to know where he'd got Par-lose. Fearing that we'd got In-low company, we left.

As we passed the Post-office, we saw through the window, the man who had only half a name left, the first part having recently been abolished by Beecher. We didn't say anything or do anything, but kept right on, until we ran against a striped pole. We then called "Ed." out and asked him, if, among all the Riggs he ever saw Rigid on the sidewalk, he'd ever seen anything that would beat that pole for High.

Feeling somewhat Harris(ed) at the Way things were going, and fearing our Talent for penning would fail us, we sat down in the meat market and went into a Brown study, and the following conundrums were the result:

Sposed our new bridge wasn't finished (not a supposable case, however), and the other one torn away, how'd we all get over the creek?

We'd Al-ford, of course.

What usual custom has been changed in building one of our new churches? They usually put the church on the hill, but in this case, they put Hill on the church.

Why would it be disagreeable to live in the house with the Principal of the Ashland Academy, in the winter time?

Because it would always have a big Lecko in it.

Just as we had got fairly started in the conundrum business, a young American hoodlum came on the new bridge, repeating:

"Give us this Day, our Daley Grab, well Dunn, and—"

This was too much; we made one grand rush for our sanctum and threw ourself back in our easy stool, not feeling half so funny as when we started, and pretty well Tucker-ed out withal.
