

OBITUARY.

Thomas Moore Gale, whose death we announced last week, was born in Bloomfield, Iowa, Sept. 2d 1818, and immigrated across the plains to Oregon with his father, in 1853. His father settled in Lane county, and he commenced his career as a printer in Eugene City, and in the various branches of printer, publisher and editor, with but short intervals, he has continued ever since. In 1865 he commenced, in connection with his brother, H. H. Gale, the publication of the Roseburg "Enterprise," and continued in connection with that paper for over five years. In 1873 he started the "Haweye" in Eugene City. In 1874 he published a campaign paper in Oakland, Oregon, called the "Umpqua Call." During the years of 1875 and '6 he was foreman of the Roseburg "Plainsdealer." He came to Ashland in 1877, to take charge of the Times, and continued in it until his failing health compelled him to retire. He was a man of a high sense of honor and of undoubted integrity and universally respected. He was a sparkling local writer, and among his editorial articles are many showing marked ability. He was a man of indomitable will, and his will alone, stood between him and his grave during the last year. But when it is said that he was a kind and affectionate husband and father, the greatest eulogy is pronounced. When this is spoken of any man in truth, it is enough, he cannot be a bad man.—Rest, brother, in peace.

Geological and Paleontological Cabinet.
The Faculty of the Ashland Academy are collecting some fine specimens of minerals and fossils, for their cabinet. They have already received some rare forms of cinabar from the mines of Pope valley, California; petrified woods from the Siskiyou, agates from the ocean beach near Crescent City; and numerous specimens from the surrounding country. The skeleton of the Mastodon found in the placer mines of Mr. E. K. Anderson has been secured, and will form one of the most interesting studies in the collection. Arrangements will be made to procure specimens of the numerous fossils from the Lake and desert country of Eastern Oregon. When complete, this cabinet will afford rare facilities for the study of Geology and Paleontology. Persons possessed of specimens of any thing of interest, who are engaged in collecting a cabinet for themselves, could do no better than to donate them to this cabinet where they will be displayed with due credit to the donors.

Our History.
In our manifold duties in connection with the TIDINGS, we find it impossible to give that attention to the study of our Historical Sketches that they deserve. Many rhetorical errors appear, some of them very annoying to us at least. Although imperfect the style, we believe they will be the means of preserving some interesting occurrences of the past. It is our present intention, if spared an opportunity, some day to compile a history of this part of our country, and we hope to elicit the aid of all who are interested in the matter. And right here we will call the attention of those who have promised to furnish data, and have failed to do so, that we are still anxious to hear from them. Friends in Josephine county, especially, we would remind of their promises. There is much pertaining to the War of '53, in that county, that we were compelled to omit for a want of sufficient detail to make it useful. Let us have it now, before we begin on the War of '55 and '6.

Gloomy.—Indian affairs at Umatilla are again in a threatening condition, and are likely to lead to more trouble. We do not endorse any unlawful acts of violence against the Indians but as we predicted, it requires no prophet to foretell such aggressions under the present state of things. The authorities will find it much easier to protect the Indians by removing them from the country they have so recently devastated. If, as it is claimed, there are bad men in the country, who will kill an Indian every opportunity, it is the duty of the authorities, to either place a sufficient force there to protect both the Indians and innocent whites, or remove the Indians to some other location. Because it is wrong to kill an Indian, is no argument that it will not be done, and the recent murder of an Indian might have been predicted from past experiences with such much certainty as that winter will bring rain.

One of the hardest things an editor has to do, is to write an article to exactly fill out four lines at the bottom of an editorial column.

Patent Outside Etc.
Just now it seems that the rage is for patent outside. It is not, however, by means confined to news papers, for we find them indulged in by all classes regardless of age, sex or condition, and so cheap that to one so poor they cannot afford to get up a respectable outfit in some shape or other. The ladies will don their patent outside, consisting of switches, curls, pads and paints, go to church and while the minister is doing out spiritual consolation from a second hand sermon, they will be engaged studying the make up of the array of patent outside spread out before them expressly for inspection. We have not any word of praise for these patent outside enterprises, for they do not really make the best part of a news paper, the most profound sermons, transform a homely old maid, and sometimes a married woman, too into a Venus. The latest, if not the most successful application of this ready made patent outside business is a patent application to be presented by Emily Himmell, and copyrighted for the special use of the Episcopal church by the house of Bishops, and ordered for them to be used for the cure of yellow fever. It certainly has the merit of great strength and beauty of action giving it a literary merit worthy of imitation, but whether it will be the desired effect or not, we are not sure. For our part we would rather risk a good white frost which is known to be an infallible cure for this terrible scourge. It is as follows:—

Almighty God, our refuge and strength in time of trouble, give ears to our prayers in behalf of Thy people who at this time are suffering under grievous sickness and mortality, and bid not the face from them in this season of distress; remember them in mercy—not in wrath—and stretch forth Thy mighty hand to stay this pestilence; heal the sick and deliver them not over unto death. Cover with the shield of Thy protection all those who are exposed to danger; strengthen the weak hearted, comfort the bereaved and desolate, and give to them that are sorrowful beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, and the garments of praise for the spirit of heaviness. Bestow Thy blessing upon those at home and abroad who minister to the relief of the afflicted; sanctify this visitation to the good of this whole nation, melting our hearts and binding us in sympathy one with another, and by Thy grace making us a people serving God and working righteousness. So may we have to honor Thy name and extol Thy merits, through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

Mixed News.
Two Frenchmen got into a row at Marsfield a few days ago, and one shot the other through the leg. No less than thirty barns, with their contents, have been burned in the Willamette valley during the past six weeks. Seven persons are confined in the Douglas county jail. Miss Carra Wass has been appointed an assistant keeper of the light house at Cape Foulweather. The public school building just completed at Eugene City cost $12,000. A boy named Charles Sergeant, who has been living near Eugene recently stole $85 from a Mr. Lord, and "hit out" for San Francisco. A correspondent says that the government pays enough to support the Indians of the Siletz Reservation to board them all at a first class hotel. Twenty five years ago, beginning on Aug. 11th, and continuing until the 14th, a terrific war swept over the United States and Canada with terrible results. The thermometer registered 100 degrees in nearly every locality, and in the city of New York there were 400 deaths, of which 200 occurred on the 14th of August. The Utah Northern railroad will soon be completed to the Snake river. The Oregon Central railroad is to be constructed 50 miles further south of St. Joseph. The bridge across the Santiam at the old Rose ferry, on the road between Seiad and Albany, is finished up and has been received by the county. It cost $12,000. Last month the Seattle Coal Company shipped 15,212 tons of coal to San Francisco. The real name of the late Carl Bosco was Charles Isaac. Bosco was only a professional name. Wire cloth and sieves of a superior quality are now manufactured at Albany. Hehe Jim a Umatilla brave, was found dead seven miles from Pendleton. There was a hole in his body, which no doubt broke his heart. The Indians claim that he was murdered by whites. If so, the guilty man or men should be hunted out and punished as an example to the Indians of the white man's sense of justice. A negro aged 70 and weighing over 300 pounds, direct from Louisiana, passed through Union, Eastern Oregon, a few days ago, en route for the lumber regions at Puget Sound. He came all the way on foot, and it took him all summer. Forty five convicts were pardoned by Governor Chadwick during his term of office. Mr. Straight's little girl built a fire in his woodshed last week at Walla Walla which entirely destroyed his handsome residence worth about $6,000. Tommy, a ten-year old son of Gold Hubbard, living near Dallas, had his jawbone broken on Wednesday of last week, by being kicked by a horse. While the steamer Ohio was going down on Dayton on the 4th inst., and was passing Clackamas rapid, she struck a rock and immediately sunk. John and Ida married. Lived in Idaho for ten, Cause John hung round the tavern and let Ida do the corn.

OREGON CROPS.
The farmers near Vancouver are sowing Fall grain.
Mr. W. B. Carter, State Printer, returned home on Thursday of last week in very feeble health, having taken cold on his way down on the Monday previous. He was able, however, to return to Salem on last Monday morning.
One hundred thousand bushels of wheat has been landed into Roseburg so far this season. One fourth as much more will probably come in yet.
Wheat is worth 72 cents per bushel, from the warehouses at Oakland are filled with wheat.
Over 4,500,000 feet of saw logs have been put into California creeks and as soon as the fall rains come, will be floated out and sold to the mills on the Willamette.
The Oregon Presbytery of the Cumberland Presbyterian church will meet at Fairfield, Marion county, Thursday, the 22d inst., at 7 p. m.
