KEEP DOWN THE WEEDS

A gentleman from California, who made a tour of our little valley a month or more ago was charmed with its beauty and fertility of soil, but expressed surprise that our farmers should allow their broad fields to become so foul with weeds. He was not the first to call attention to the nuisance, many travelers and visitors notice and remark upon it. Every year, in many portions of the valley, the pernicious weeds grow thicker and rarer, and they will soon become such a pest that farmers will be glad to adopt any means to exterminate them: "Clean farming" is something quite rare yet in this section of the country, but farmers will soon learn its advantages. Times are altering rapidly on this coast, and farming, like every other business, must undergo its share of changes. We are not yet crowded in this valley to such an extent as to render necessary such close economy in the utilization of land as is seen in the New England states, but many changes that the last decade has brought compel the husbandman here to use more care and do more work in farming than was necessary when agriculture first turned the sod in Southern Oregon. One of the additions to his labor is the battle he is required to fight with new varieties of weeds which increase with astonishing rapidity where neglect allows them an opportunity. Many grain and hay fields in the spring present a mass of weeds which entirely conceals the growing crop and seriously impairs its value. This could be easily remedied by a persistent course of summer following, and it is a matter that should be attended by every farmer who wants to make the maximum profit from his business and keep a good farm that he can be proud to call his own.

In the North American Review for April was published Chief Joseph's story of the Nez Perce war, in which Joseph attempts to justify himself and cast upon General Howard the responsibility of causing the war. As was to be expected, many eastern journals accepted Joseph's bare assertions, as against the testimony of the official record of the campaign kept by honorable and responsible men. For the purpose of correcting erroneous statements of such journals, Gen. Howard published in the July number of the Review a clear, concise history of the whole trouble, which completely vindicates himself and the government at Washington. No one can read the article of Gen. Howard without being convinced that it was written by a truthful conscientious man, and before its logic and array of facts Joseph's charges against this pure and brave officer and against the government present not even a shadow of credibility.

There is anticipation of trouble with the Indians in the upper Missouri country. It is reported that Sitting Bull with 500 warriors has come this side of the line, and a band of British Indians recently came across the boundary and camped near Fort Belknap, acting very defiantly and insolently. Gen. Miles has been sent into the field to protect navigation of the Missouri, and is feared he may precipitate hostilities.

The "little auger" of the Lakeview Herald is now the proud author of one of the most perfect specimens of journalistic slum that we have ever had the privilege to examine. Some are inclined to class it under the head of "Oregon style," but we have too much respect for the state to be guilty of entertaining such a suspicion.

Judge Bellinger has decided that the law does not allow mileage to sheriffs for conveying convicts to the penitentiary. This supports the position taken by the investigating committee in that part of their report which pointed out that over thirty thousand dollars had been illegally paid to sheriffs during the Grover-Chadwick administration.

A band of renegade Indians, called the "Sheep Eaters," 100 strong, are stirring up the people of Northern Idaho. Several companies of U. S. troops are after them, and a company of volunteers is being raised in Council valley to assist. Lieut. Farrows and his Unadilla scouts are pursuing them.

The San Francisco Alta expresses the opinion that Fort Orford is the place most likely to be selected for the harbor of refuge, basing the opinion upon the testimony given by the underwriters of the coast to the board of engineers when in session at San Francisco.

Wm. C. Chandler, chairman of the National Republican committee, has been interviewed upon the presidential prospects and says: "In my opinion the fight in the Republican convention will be between Sherman and Grant, with the chances decidedly in favor of the former. Grant will never go into the convention unless positive of securing the nomination and going through with a rush. The success of Sherman's resumption scheme has helped him, but in a square fight between him and Blaine, the latter would win. There is little likelihood of a 'dark horse.' Tilden is undoubtedly the strongest man the Democrats could put at the head of their ticket. He would carry as many southern states as any man they could nominate, and make a better fight in New York than any other man."

Governor Thayer has directed J. J. Whitney, prosecuting attorney of the third judicial district, to commence suit against M. V. Brown, publisher of the Albany "Democrat," to recover the sum of $10,940 which it is claimed was illegally paid to Brown for state printing. The printing done by Brown during the time he held the office of state printer was submitted by the investigating committee of the last legislature to two printing experts, Himes and Munkers, and these gentlemen report that Brown overcharged the state to the amount mentioned above.

A commission of the national board of health of the United States are now in Cuba, studying the symptoms and progress of yellow fever (which is now prevalent in Havana) hoping to discover the origin of the poisonous germ of the pestilence. They visit the hospitals daily to watch every feature of the development of the disease; make post mortem examinations of the victims and collect statistics and information which will no doubt be of value in the efforts to solve the mystery enshrouding the origin of the disease.

The State elections this year will be, Kentucky, Aug. 4, State Officers and Legislature; California, September 3, State and judicial officers, four Congressmen and Legislature; Ohio and Iowa, October 7, State officers in part and Legislature; Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Wisconsin, November 2. Governors are elected in all the States except Mississippi, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

New cases of yellow fever are reported every day at Memphis, but the board of health have not yet officially declared the disease epidemic. Some few Memphis refugees have died in other towns, but the disease has taken no start outside the city. No cases at all have appeared in New Orleans. Since the above was set up telegrams report three cases in New Orleans.

General News Items.

Vice President Wheeler is in feeble health.

The negro exodus from the South still continues.

Disastrous floods are reported throughout Belgium.

The crop prospects of Washington Territory are excellent.

A Memphis refugee died in New York last week of yellow fever.

Ben Butler says he will again be a candidate for Governor of Massachusetts.

"Sleepy Tom," the pecker, made a mile at Chicago last Saturday in 2:12, the fastest time on record.

The Bonapartists have decided that Prince Jerome Napoleon, by the death of the Prince Imperial, becomes the head of the Bonaparte family.

Tom Lawton, who confesses to participation with Dye and Anderson in the murder of T. J. S. in the Sacramento river, has been captured at Walla Walla.

A disastrous fire occurred in Seattle, W. T., on the evening of the 20th, causing a loss of about $100,000. On the day before a fire at Kalama, W. T., resulted in the loss of $10,000 worth of property.

A committee appointed by the House of Representatives to inquire into the causes of the depression and stagnation of labor and business in the way to San Francisco to make an analysis of the Chinese problem.

It is now proposed by an eminent French engineer to build a railway instead of a canal across the isthmus of Panama. The plan contemplates a track composed of a great number of rails wide enough to carry a dry dock on wheels. The docks are to be raised from the water to the track with the ships held in an upright position upon them by a system of arms or clamps. Vessels of 7,000 tons may be thus carried over dry land. The cost of such a railway would be much less than that of a canal, and it is said that the tariff on passing over the railway need be no higher than $1.50 per ton, against $3 per ton by the canal, to insure a fair percentage on the money invested.

THE GRISWOLD CASE.—The jury in the case of U. S. vs. W. C. Griswold, in the U. S. Circuit court at Portland returned a verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $35,280 last Monday. A previous trial in the same court resulted the same way, and it looks very much as though Dowell had success on his side. An appeal will likely be taken to the supreme court.
