

THE ASHLAND TIDINGS
FRIDAY, JANUARY 20, 1890
THE SITUATION IN LAKE COUNTY.

As might have been noticed, in our last issue the views of different correspondents upon the situation and prospects of stock in Lake county differ widely in some respects. This difference is owing chiefly to the fact that the opinions expressed by our correspondents upon the fate of much of the stock in the county are of necessity conjectural in a great degree. No doubt there has been some exaggeration in the reports of present or past danger to the stock, but just what the loss will be, if it be greater than usual, it is useless to attempt to predict. One thing we know, that a winter as severe as some few that have been experienced by some of the present inhabitants of this section of country would cause much loss. We also know that stock men in most instances could have been better prepared for a hard winter than they are, and that if mild weather should ensue and their stock come out all right in the spring they may thank the fickle Goddess of Fortune alone for saving them from the probable losses from their own improvidence. One of our correspondents charges that the large stock-owners overstate the danger from a hard winter in order to keep out immigration, which may crowd their herds now occupying the range, and doubtless the accusation is just in many instances. On the other hand, however, it is charged that the class of citizens who would be most directly benefited by the settling up of the country are only too willing to attract immigration, even going so far in their efforts as to paint the advantages of the country in colors a little too high for exactness. Now, in our opinion, those of the latter class do as much harm to the real interests of the country as do the croakers. The exact truth is what should be made known, and then the growth of settlement will be steady and permanent. Our aim is always to give as accurate information as possible, and to this end we shall endeavor to keep posted upon the condition of the stock, and, if the winter should prove a destructive one, we shall make it a point in the spring to learn as near as possible just what the losses shall have been.

The recoil of a boomerang argument is often amusing to spectators at a safe distance. Whenever either of our county papers has ventured to point out the injustice and the inadvisability of the removal of the Klamath Indians from their reservation in Lake county, the Herald has declared that its penetrating gaze could detect beneath all the sophistry of its Jackson country contemporaries the hidden motives of their action in the matter—motives mercenary, unworthy, venal: "The people of Jackson county wanted the trade which the military post threw into their hands." And the Herald held up its hands in Peck-suffian horror at such base motives, such unpatriotic a condition of mind. To this very effective argument the Sentinel retorted in kind by pointing to the long advertisement in the Herald of land restored to the public domain, and suggested that the Herald would not be any the poorer if a few more advertisements like that should come in from the Land office, and that perhaps the Herald might have thought of that itself.

The latest breezes that sweep from the Northeast do not exactly "bring to our ears the clash of resounding arms," but bear the echoes of resounding tongues and are freighted with portentous indications of storms. The "war dogs" have not yet been let slip, but they are howling dreadfully. An Augusta dispatch of the 24th says: "Three companies of troops and a Gatling gun garrison the State House. Many of the Fusionist legislators have gone home, but some still remain firm, and they have resolved to memorialize Congress and submit certain questions to the Supreme Court of the State. The action of Governor Davis in calling the militia to guard the state house has caused considerable excitement, and the Fusionist Governor, Smith, hints that the Republicans may get all the fighting they want. Gov. Davis says he feels no regret at the step. It had been urged upon him for some time by his military advisers, but not until evidence of a conspiracy to seize the state house had accumulated to a startling amount did he feel at last justified in exercising his prerogative as Commander in Chief."

J. Z. George has been elected U. S. Senator for Mississippi, and R. L. Gibson has been elected by the Legislature of Louisiana to succeed Senator Kellogg.

Fifty thousand shares of Central Pacific Railroad stock were recently sold to a syndicate of Eastern capitalists.

A fearful accident occurred in a coal mine at New Castle under Tyne, England, recently. An explosion of fire damp occurred, and as many persons were killed as perished in the Tay bridge accident.

Mr. A. W. Collins, a colored resident of Washington who believes with Fred Douglass that the exodus of Southern freedmen is ill-advised, has begun a tour through the South to expound his views at meetings of colored men.

Dennis Kearney is back East making incendiary and vulgar speeches. He states that he will act with the Democrats hereafter. By all the heathen Gods, what could the Democratic party have done that they should be thus afflicted.—[Star.]

The President has nominated John Russell Lowell, of Massachusetts, to be Minister to England; John W. Foster, of Indiana, Minister to Russia; Lucius Fairchild, of Wisconsin, Minister to Spain, and Eli H. Murray, of Kentucky, Governor of Utah.

Already, says the Portland Bee, U. S. Marshal Waters has received nearly forty applications from parties in various parts of the State, asking to be appointed deputy census takers. Mr. Sukesdorf, who is State Census Commissioner, will be handed the applications on his return from Alaska. Formerly the marshal acted as commissioner, but things have changed.

The Pacific Coast delegation in Congress has determined to push action on the Chinese immigration bill and take the chances of another veto from the President. The present bill, it is said, will not be any more moderate than the one passed and vetoed, and no provision will be made for the abrogation of the existing treaty with China. In an interview President Hayes declined to intimate his probable action should the bill be presented to him.

Measures have been taken, says the Salem Statesman, for the organization of a "women's college" in connection with the Willamette University. The reasons given for the movement are: "That the specialties in the functions allotted to women required it; that young women away from home should be surrounded with more effective social safeguards; that special sanitary provisions should be made for them; and ampler means for personal and domestic comfort."

A subscriber of Harper's Weekly wrote to the editor inquiring whether he would support Grant for the Presidency if he were nominated. In reply Mr. Curtis said that there are two periods in a presidential campaign, one preceding the nomination and one succeeding, and that in pursuance of the advice of a prominent Republican he had resolved never to cross the river until he reached it. The journal is outspoken, however, in the opinion that the nomination of Grant would be injudicious.

The House committee on public lands has agreed to report favorably a bill authorizing the President to select from the public lands of the United States, in the State of California, tracts on which are growing either the "Redwood" or "Big Trees," or both of said timbers, as he may deem proper, not exceeding in the aggregate two townships of land, to be set apart and dedicated as public parks, for the benefit and enjoyment of the people, said parks to be under the exclusive control of the Secretary of the Interior.

The New York Herald reports an interview with Geo. W. Curtis, editor of Harper's Weekly, in which Mr. Curtis, speaking of Grant's prospects for the nomination, said: "His strength is very great in this state. It consists in what is known as the 'machine element.' Cornell, Hoskins, Arthur and Speaker Sharp are among its leaders. So is Silas B. Dutcher, who has just been made superintendent of public works. His office controls most of the patronage of the state, and that will undoubtedly be used by the machine for the furtherance of the third term project. Whether or not they will be able to throw the weight of New York in the national convention in favor of the scheme remains to be seen. It is probable that Conkling will also tend in that direction, and he is all powerful with the machine. He has private reasons for not wishing the nomination of Sherman or Blaine. Undoubtedly a majority of Republicans will follow them, but there will be a great number who will act independently."

The Bee says the race for the nomination for Congressman in the Democratic Convention will be between Gen. Lane and J. W. Nesmith, and "goes its pile" on Lane.

Bogus standard dollars of the issue of 1879 are in circulation about the Bay City. They are an excellent imitation, and are deceiving many persons.
