Opium for the Chinese.

Says the Yreka Journal of last Wednes day: "One day last week $1,250 worth of opium from below, was taken by the Scott Valley stage, to supply the Chinese of Scott Valley, Scott River, and Salmon river, and almost every day or two boxes arrive here by express for all sections of the country. The other portions of country average about same proportion as the places above named, making firstclass express matter, as the great value of the insignificant little boxes, causes an extra per centage, to cover any loss in transportation"

Inspection of Mines.

It is understood that the visit of Messrs Koehler and Brandt of the O. & C. R. R. to the quartz mines at Wagner Creek, Gold Hill and other places last week was for the purpose of ascertaining what Dodge's. prospective support exists here for the proposed reduction works in Portland. The gentlemen expressed themselves as much pleased with the prospects at the mines, and apparently have hope of seeing an extensive mining business established soon in Southern Oregon. It would greatly improve the business of the railroad, as they are well aware.

Property Transfers.

Mr. F. H. Carter, who came to Ashland recently from Mexico, has bought the Asa Fordyce place, south of Ashland, for $5,500, and will take possession soon and make some improvements.

Mr. E. V. Carter, cashier of the Bank of Ashland, has bought the place of Abram Bish, in the same neighborhood; consideration, $2,500. These gentlemen both intend to prepare a portion of their land for the fruit business, and the TIDINGS is pleased to see procerty in this vicinity falling into the hands of enterprising and progressive people who will urge on the general improvement so greatly to be desired.

O'Neil's Condition.

A correspondent of the Tidings writes from Jacksonville that O'Nell is growing weak from the nervous strain and suspense of his position, and some people think he will manage finally to save the sheriff an unpleasant duty. He is irasci-ble and snappish, and has lost the control tice's blanks for sale at the Tidings office over his words and actions that he at the lowest prices. formerly mantained. It was reported that he would be sentenced last Monday, and some one at the jail was asking the officer in charge if that was the case, not thinking that O'Neil could hear what was said. O'Neil overheard, however, and cried out from his cell: "Say, are right d-d anxious to hear a man sentenced to be hung?" He wants the judge to extend to him the fullest time allowed by law, saying he still hopes they will find "the right man." Improvements at the Woolen Mills. In addition to the new improved turbine wheel being put in at the Ashland Woolen Mills, a number of other improvements about the buildings are being nade. In the fourth story, where the picking machine is located, the floor, walls and the ceiling are being lined with sheet iron, to lessen the danger of fire, and as a further protection to the building two large tanks, each holding a thousand gallons, will be placed at the top of the room in the highest story and kept full of water by pipes from the West Ashland ditch. From these tanks a large pipe will run down through the center of the building to the basement, and in every room hose will be kept attached, ready for immediate use. The tanks were made by C. W. Avers at the Marsh planing mill, and are being put up under the supervision of Mr. Hammond, who

Come to me O words, nor tarry;

Gather grandeur as you go.

Pass Mt. Shasta and the Klamath,

Climb the towering Siskiyou, Clad in fir-trees tall and mammoth; Then a valley comes in view.

Down it speeding. Ashland greets you, Paradise of fruits and flowers.

There seek out, if no one meets you, Those dear, those old friends of ours,

Roots and Reesers, all will know them;

Love and marriage them combine. Winged-words, go try to show them, Promptly, January nine,

How their friends in Napa valley
Wish that they might join the throng
Who with warm hearts then will rally,
Merry all with feast and song.

At their happy silver wedding
Be ye present faithful words
Friendship bearing, fragrance shedding,
Sing like glad canary birds.

Though no present you convey them,
Silvery be your every sound;
Our best wishes bear and lay them
