Revised List.

We have already named a number of the candidates for Sheriff on the Demo cratic ticket, but as the list has swelled so of late we herewith submit an amended report. | Leading authorities say that the list now stands about as follows with "Chewaucan still to hear from:" W. J. Plymale, C C McClendon, N F Steadman, Geo A Jackson, J W Ingram, B W Dean, Dan'l Chapman, J A Wilson, Thos E Nichols, Wm Bybee, Jr., A J Barlow, W A B Temple, James McDougal, Wm A Owen, W Berry, R M Garrett, J W Simpson. At least sixteen of the above will think that a poor selection was made for the office after the convention .-[Sentinel.

Taken to Salem.

Mr. F. McHattan, one of the old and highly respected citizens of Ashland, whose attack of partial paralysis was reported two weeks ago, has evidently fallep a victim to softening of the brain, and his mental derangement reached such a point this week that it was necessary to send him to the state asylum. On Tuesday morning he was taken to Jacksonville by I. O. Miller and H. C. Hill, Judge DePeatt going with them to comply with the law requiring an examinaion. This having been made, Mr. Mc-Hattan was taken to Salem on Tuesday evenin's train, H. C. Hill and deputy having the care of him. He is weak and almost helpless, except during short attacks of raving. His condition is very discouraging, and there is little hope of his permanent improve-

Unlucky Accident.

An accident at the new hall on Church street resulted in the serious injury one of the men employed there last Monday forenoon. The heavy rafters, already framed in pairs, had just been set up in place-thirty pairs of them-and the men were just preparing to put in the cross-braces, and make them permanently fast, when the temporary stays gave way from some cause and twenty-six pairs of the rafters fell upon the upper timbers of the walls with a crash that was heard all over town. Marion Knighten was at the ridge of the roof and fell with the timbers, receiving such injuries in the region of the groin that Songer, Parson and Helm were called in to consider his case, and he has since been under the care of Dr. Parson, who reports his condition as improving somewhat, with good prospects of his being about again soon.

The accident, although serious enough, might have caused the great injury or er sewing machines received this week death of the several men at work, and the escape of all except Mr. Knighten was remarkably lucky. One thing satisfactory about the affair is that the test has shown the building to be of the most solid character. The heavy rafters, weighing some 1000 ths., fell with immense force upon the walls, and yet not one of the timbers was started a hair'sbreadth from its place.

Sudden Death.

Hon. Thos. F. Beall, one of Jackson county's representatives in the state legislature, died suddenly and unexpectedly at his home pear Central Point last Monday afternoon. A short time ago he received a bruise or slight wound of some kind which resulted in the formation of an abcess, and it is supposed that his up in it. death was caused by blood-poisoning Casebi through this source. (We have not yet heard the statement of his physician.) For several days Mr. Beall had been complaining considerably, but was not supposed to be in any immediate danger. On Monday afternoon he was sitting in an easy chair at home, and was alone when the "swift-winged messenger" came. The members of his family, who were about the premises entirely unconscious of the near approach of death, were horrified upon entering his room to find urday, one which he considered worth that he had seen the last of earth. ## PIONEER REMINISCENSES.

The following thoughts are suggested by reading an article in the "Oregon State Journal" regarding the Pioneer commenced in Jacksonville, in 1852, by Congressman Jo. Smith, then a Methodist minister. He carried subscription papers among the pioneers who were then the bone and sinew of the place.

True, the gamblers gave liberally, for gambling then was more popular and more lucrative than now. The principal J. H. Russell in a job of rock cutting gamblers in those days were Captain Lamerick, the Hillman brothers, Simms brothers, Nick Belcher, Charley Wilhame, and a host of others too numerous to mention. But kive honor to whom honor is due, and let us not forget the pioneer settlers, such as the Rosses, Kahlers, Cluggage, McCully, Kenney,

T'Vault, Taylor and many others, some of whom still live to remember the early Rev. Jos. Smith raised some twelve or fifteen hundred dollars, and erected the frame of the church building, on the old Hoover lot, now owned by John Miller. In the fall of 1853 Rev. T. F. Royal crossed the plains to Jacksonville and took charge of the unfinished building, spring session of the Oregon Presbytery pulled it down and moved it to the lot on which it now stands. The mines soon came into too close proximity to where it stood, and all thought it advisable to move it out of the reach of pick and shovel. Rev. Mr. Royal, with indefatigable energy, circulated another subscription paper, which was liberally respended to by all classes, regardless of creeds. The little white church, built the Oregon Pacific road the other day by McDonough, Pyle and Linn, carpenters, was then finished and dedicated on

Church was built, through the exertions of Father Blanchet. After T. F. Royal of the Methodist church, came Reverend Flinn, then Rev. Belknap, and after them Rev. I. D. Driver, as late as 1859. I. D. Driver was a good preacher, and very much liked by the whole community. When he favors us now, at this late day, with one of his grand sermons, all turn out to hear him, gamblers, infidels, and Chrisconvention. Mrs. Atkinson will spend | tians of all denominations.
