Supreme Court Cases.

The state supreme court docket for the March term contains only two cases appealed from the First Judicial District, presided over by Judge Webster. Following are the cases:

Hamin Acquitted.

The Hamin case, on trial at Grant's Pass last week, on a charge of venue from Jackson county, was given to the jury Wednesday evening, and after being out overnight, the jury rendered a verdict of acquittal. It is gratifying to note that a verdict had not been reached after a trial before four different juries, and the case thus finally and legally disposed of.

Death of an Aged War Veteran.

Grandfather Jas. Woody, of Grant's Pass, died on the 24th of this month, in his 85th year. The immediate cause of his death was a fall about twelve hours previously, which injured him about the back and hip, and from the shock of which he could not rally. Deceased was a veteran of the war of 1812 and also of the Mexican war, and he believed, and took part in the battles with the Indians of Rogue River in the early days of settlement in Southern Oregon. His aged wife survives him.

Planting Trees.

It doesn't take long to set out fruit trees, and you have the ground and trees ready, and the right men to do the work. Mr. Simmons is putting out the trees on the thirty-acre tract near J. P. Walker's just cleared for Akinson, Mills and Carter. After the ground is marked out, holes dug and seed set and trees distributed he takes a team of four men as helpers and sets out the trees at the rate of from 1000 to 1000 a day, and he leaves the trees in the best possible condition for growth, loss of experience has shown with those he has set out during the past two years. The trees on this thirty-acre tract are twenty feet apart each way.
