Some time ago, during a snow storm two small boys were attracted by the sight of snow being thrown skyward from the ground on a hill about one mile south of Hornbrook. Supposin the commotion to be caused by some wild animals playing around, they cautiously approached the spot, only to find nothing in sight. Drawing nearer they discovered a volume of hot air issuing from a crevice in the ground. Half frightened at the strange phe nomenon they hastened to the house of John Wagner, near by, and conducted him to the spot. Mr. Wagner, with another gentleman, a few days later made the opening larger and found the hot air issuing up a chin ney of two perfectly smooth rock walls. and by sounding ascertained its depth to be 80 feet. Suicide of a Young Man.

Dick Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs Erastus Wells, of this precinct, fatally shot himself at the farm-house of M A. Walker, south of Ashland, las Tuesday afternoon. He was working with Mr. Walker, and they both had ne into the house a short time before. Dick took down a large pistol hanging | The reform administration is economiin a holster on the wall, and made some remark about looking at it. Stepping the pistol against his own breast and fired. Milo turned quickly and asked at Geo. H. Currys. him if he had hurt himself. He said: "Yes, I'm hit," and staggered backward. Milo caught him and laid him on the floor, and a man who was working near was the matter. The wound was dis-covered at once by the clothing being on fire, and after putting out the fire Milo jumped on a horse at once and come to town after assistance. Drs. Songer and Beebe went up and found the young man mortally wounded. The bullet passed through the stomach and lungs, and caused death in a little over three hours. It was about 3 o'clock when he fired the fatal shot, and he suffered greatly most of the time until sundown, when death came to his relief. To his mother and others who were about him, he said the shooting was not an accident; he wanted to die, and had been wanting to die for three years. Further than this he gave no reason for his rash act.

Ayers is building on Spring street, had terrible fall, and almost miraculously escaped death. He was on the roof, then the foothold pieces loosened and he shot down the steep pitch. Near the edge he struck his heel against a 2x4 nailed on the roof, and broke the descent. From there he turned over once and sixteen feet lower his arm the scaffolding. This piece of timber broke beneath his weight, but so softened the fail that when he struck the ground on his hip he was only badly shaken up, sprained snd bruised, instead of killed, as he would in all probability have been, had he not fortunately struck the extending piece of timber. He has been laid up for a few days, but will be at work again to-day. From where his fall began to where the ground caught him is a descent of ing, writes from Green . Elle : About four years ago - was attacke this crysipelas. My appetite failed in entirely, and I had an intermitting pulse and very irregular pulsations of the heart A terrible pain soon came into my chest and shoulders, and I became so helpless that I could attend to no business at all The pains were movable, and would sometimes pass from one part of my body to another. Finally the erysipelas of disease left except a stiffness in my hand, a result of the crysipelas. While taking the medicine I gained on an average two pounds of flesh per week. I think S S. S. a valuable medicine, and I frequently recommend it to my trends."
