Colnit's is temperance, and Wilson, of Iowa, is astride of the Probibition horse, and he believes there will be a Prohibition President of the United States by and by. Senator Stewart's hobby is silver. Riddleberger's hobby is the abolishing of executive sessions, and Mat Ransom's of North Carolina, is the whiteness of his cuffs. Tom Palmer's hobbies are many. Mrs. Howe says: "I slept as usual that night, but away like a horse in a treadmill and says: "I slept as usual that night, but awoke before dawn and soon found myself trying to weave together certain lines which could be sung to the "John Brown" music. I lay still in the dark room, line after line shaping itself in my mind, and verse after verse." On her return to Boston she took the poem to James T. on railroad lands: Oregon & California R. R. Co. Portland, Or., April 9, 1888. Mr. John B. Wrisley, Medford: Dear Sir: The lands of the Oregon & California Railroad Company, south of Roseburg, may be entered upon by actual settlers for the purpose of set-tlement or improvement, upon the con-dition that they will purchase the same upon the regular terms of sale, and at prices to be fixed by the company. (Improvements made by settlers will not be taken into consideration when prices are made.) As soon as these lands are ready for sale, notice will be published in the Daily Oregonian, and the "principal paper of each county" in which the land is situated, when settlers must, within ninety days after the date of such notice, enter into a regular con-tract with the company for the purchase of such lands; should they fail to do so, the land will be sold without any regard to their improvements. This notice refers only to agricultural and grazing lands, and not to lands chiefly valuable for timber. Persons destroying or cutting timber on company's land, without permission from the company, will be prosecuted—except actual settlers, who may cut sufficient timber for building and fencing purposes.

The company does not reserve lands settlers must watch for themselves. Yours truly. GEO. H. ANDREWS, Sec'y. Ten Gold Bars.

Ten gold bars in a canvas bag jolted out of an expressman's wagon near an ash dump at the foot of Third street,in New York a few days ago. The bars were worth $500 apiece-$5000 altogether. Along came a gang of Italians, one of whom kicked the bag up on the side of the dump. Looking in the bag they saw the bars, but had no idea of their value or possible use; so there the gold remained. A dirt-cart driver subsequently saw the bars and decided to take them home for his boys to play with, so he threw them in his feed bag. When he fed his horse he took the bars out of the feed bag and threw them down on the ground, where they remained all the afternoon for anybody in the world to pick up. But when the dirt-cart driver finished work again that examing he again put them in the between C K Klum and Isaac Miller, and nearly opposite (across Granite street) the northeast corner of lot three (3), block eight (8), in the town of Ashland; thence along the line of said alley in an east-along the line of said alley in an east-night.
