ASHLAND, OREGON. JAMES THORNTON, President. E. K. ANDERSON, Vice President. Ashland Woolen Mills.

At the conclusion of Mr. Blaine's speech he withdrew. The delegates were then called to order by the Honorable Secretary Blaine.

On motion of one of the South American delegates, the following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That the members of the International American Congress accept with pleasure the invitation of the President of the United States of America to be the guests of his Government on an excursion through the territory of the United States, and that we express our thanks for said invitation.

A number of committees were appointed, and the congress adjourned until Monday, November 16th.

Mr. Blaine then received the members of the White House, where the President gave a special reception to the delegates at 1:30 o'clock, one of the features of which was an informal lunch served in the state dining room at 2 o'clock.

The reception took place in the Blue parlor. The members were presented by Mr. Blaine first to President Harrison, then to Mrs. Harrison, and then to the members of the Cabinet.

After the social interchanges the party repaired to the dining-room and

THE BEST BAKING POWDER. Some Official Tests, showing their Comparative Strength and other Merits.

The below tabulated statements are extracts from public tests of baking powders, made to ascertain their relative value in practical use in baking. The powder containing the largest amount of available leavening gas (excluding the alum and phosphate powders) not only produces the finest, most delicious and wholesome food, but is the most economical in use.

Table with columns: Name, Purity, Leavening Power, etc. Lists various brands like 'The Standard', 'The Household', 'The Family', etc.

It is to be noted that the Royal Baking Powder is made from purest ingredients, and is consequently that much more economical.

The Government Chemist, Prof. Edward G. Lipp, who made the analysis of baking powders for the 'New York State Board of Health, as well as for the U. S. Government, says: 'I find the Royal Baking Powder composed of purest ingredients, and is consequently that much more economical.'

A SPEECH BY BLAINE. Opening Session of the Congress of American Nations.

Washington, October 2.—The delegates to the International American Congress assembled at the State Department at noon and proceeded in a body to the diplomatic reception-room, where they were presented to Secretary Blaine, who delivered a felicitous address.

Secretary Blaine gave a banquet to the delegates at the Hotel Normandie. The banquet was very elaborate in its preparations. The dining-room was splendidly decorated in white and gold.

All around this center of grees and lights was a mass of multi-colored lanterns, and the ceiling was covered with a canopy of white and gold.

The neighborhood of Union Depot, Tenn., was distracted with feuds during the war, says a correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

White considerations of this character inspire Americans, both South and North, with the liveliest anticipations of future grandeur and power.

And yet we cannot be expected to forget this common fate has made us the subjects of two conditions, which, at the close of four centuries, are still regarded as beyond the scope of human sympathy and aid.

STORIES OF WEALTH. A Chilian Woman Said to be the Richest in America.

The richest woman in America is a resident of South America. Her name is Donna Isadora Cosma, and she lives in Chili. She is not only the richest woman in the Americas but is the wealthiest woman in the world.

Donna Isadora Cosma must have been born lucky. Any resident of the United States who had easily attained a fortune so vast as hers would certainly be called that. In this country even under the most favorable conditions, but few men have amassed over $25,000,000.
