NOTES AND NEWS.

The matter has at last been settled. A newspaper run by a minister tells all about it: "The Grippe" as it is denominated by those who have more technical knowledge than brains, is nothing more than the "colds" our ancestors wrestled with from the time the fig leaf was discarded as a garment and people began to live in houses.

The methods employed and the care necessary in the production of articles in daily use are rarely fully appreciated, our familiarity with them preventing conjecture. An article published by the New York Tribune, in which it is stated that 30,000 geographies were sent to the paper mill by one New York publishing house because of the admission and division of Dakota, and that another house expects its maps of Africa to be left out in the cold on account of Stanley's discoveries, shows some of the tribulations of cartographers.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Secretary Noble submitted to the president the draft of a proclamation declaring lands in the Sioux reservation in Dakota open to settlement. It is expected that the proclamation will be issued in a few days. Land will be made available to be taken up by settlers early in the spring. Some seven million acres will by this proclamation be restored to the public domain.

A proclamation will also be issued in the course of a few weeks declaring open to settlement several hundred thousand acres of land belonging to the Chippewa Indians in North Minnesota. All this land has been obtained from the Indians with their consent, and as a result of the negotiations of commissioners appointed by the president as directed by act of Congress.

A party of two hundred and eight wretched exiles have just been sent to Siberia to drag out a miserable existence in the coal mines. And yet the Czar wonders why Nihilism is rampant throughout the length and breadth of his colossal empire.

Georgia has a postoffice named "Talking Rock." Some one in the vicinity found a large stone upon which was printed the words, "Turn me over." It required great strength to accomplish this, and when it was done the command, "Now turn me back, and let me fool some one else," painted on the under side of the stone, met the eye.

The Pope and eight cardinals were down with the grippe at Rome last week.

People Everywhere

Confirm our statement when we say that Ecker's English Remedy is in every way superior to any and all other preparations for the throat and lungs. In whooping cough and croup it is magic and relieves at once. Remember this remedy is sold on a positive guarantee, by Chitwood Bros.

STATE AND COAST.

Somebody has "started a paper" at Butte creek in Marion county, called the Busy Buzz Bee, and here is its summary of local news, being about all of interest no doubt that was going on in that neck of woods during the week: Plant potatoes in the ground. Never sell eggs until they are laid or chickens before they are hatched. Pumpkins in this country should never be planted in the moon, as their enormous size would cause them to drop off. A young man from the country while in town one day last week viewing the sights of the city took in the rooster fight back of the Grange Hall, which so excited him that he was heard to yell: "Forty dollars on Mazingo, by Jingo!"

Every few days some change that makes it conform to the Southern Pacific is made along the line of the O. & C. railroad. The last one occurred Wednesday, being a general change of switch locks. The old ones were of the Oregon and California pattern but the new ones conform to the style in vogue over the entire Southern Pacific system.—[Ex.

Caution to Mothers.

Every mother is cautioned against giving her child laudanum or paregoric; it creates an unnatural craving for stimulants which kills the mind of the child. Acker's Baby Soother is specially prepared to benefit children and cure their pains. It is harmless and contains no opium or morphine. Sold by Chitwood Bros.

DIGS POTATOES, TOO.—All kind of charges have been made against the Chinese pheasants; but the following from Argenti, Marion county, rather breaks the camel's back: "The false, fleeting, perjured Mongolian pheasants come. He paid the premises of Mr. Holt a visit in his absence and kindly dug all his potatoes and carried them away. Mr. Holt says he would not complain if he had left him enough for seed as it may be necessary to have these birds as they are a foreign importation and therefore very valuable. But as the heathens have been protected by law for nearly five years, would it not be well for the next legislature to offer a bounty for their bills for the next five years?

Pimples on the Face

Denote an impure state of the blood and are looked upon by many with suspicion. Acker's Blood Elixir will remove all impurities and leave the complexion smooth and clear. There is nothing that will so thoroughly build up the constitution purify and strengthen the whole system. Sold and guaranteed by Chitwood Bros.

A Real Arizona Kicker.

It does not pay to fool with the Arizona journalist. The Tempe News had a delinquent advertiser. The editor man took out the "ad" and replaced it by the following: "This space was taken by ——. He owes $—for it and won't pay. Look out for him." The advertiser got mad and obtained an injunction restraining the publication, but a judge dissolved the injunction.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS.

Oh, the gorgeousness of autumn blooms,
The clusters bright and rare,
Oh, the concentrated sunlight beams
That blossom ev'rywhere!

Springtime flowers long have faded,
Summer blossoms droop and die,
But the gorgeous autumn flowers
Gold and crimson colors vie.

All the long and sultry summer,
Just a bank of living green,
Just a restful row of verdure,
It was all that could be seen.

But there hovered ardent fairies
In the gloomy summer weather,
Stowing sunshine, dew and laughter,
Love and beauty altogether.

And they burst forth with the gladness
Of the daylight and the dawn,
And 'tis at this lovely season
That the fairest flower is born.

Oh, the gorgeousness of autumn blooms,
The clusters bright and rare,
Oh, the concentrated sunlight beams,
That blossom ev'rywhere!

Springtime flowers long have faded,
Summer blossoms droop and die,
But the gorgeous autumn flowers,
Gold and crimson colors vie.
—Margie K. Bell in Atlanta Constitution.

The Horses Had Brains.

Down on West street the other day there was a big truck loaded with boxes stalled across the street car track. The driver of the truck was shouting and lashing his horses, and, after two or three attempts to move the load, they gave up in despair. The driver of the car was an old man, and, after watching things for a few minutes, he stepped down and approached the truckman and queried:

"Did you ever see a horse's head dissected?"

"Naw! What are ye givin' me?" was the angry reply.

"Well, you'd better find opportunity some day. You'll be perfectly astonished. You imagine that his head is hollow, or stuffed with bran or sawdust, but you are way off. Nature gave him brains. Let me prove it."

He stepped to their heads, rubbed their noses, spoke a few kind words, and then called upon them to put forth their strength. They buckled down to it, pulled together, and the truck went over the rails and far beyond. The crowd cheered, the car driver looked pleased, and the truckman got away as soon as possible to hide his chagrin.—New York Sun.

An Ingenious School Boy.

An ingenious English school boy, who wanted an answer to an arithmetical problem, dropped into a grocer's store on his way to school and said he wanted certain commodities at certain prices. After exhausting his list, he said: "Now, if I give you a half sovereign, what change shall I get back?" The grocer told him, whereupon he thanked the shopman and turned to go. "Wait for the things," called the grocer; and his disgust can be imagined when the urchin told him he was late for school, and, as he hadn't learned his arithmetic lesson, he had adopted that method of getting the problem worked for him.—Exchange.

A Great Encyclopedia.

A recent Pekin Gazette contains a memorial from the chancelor of the Hanlan or Imperial college on the necessity for re-editing the great encyclopedia compiled 100 years ago in the reign of Kienlung, and of which only four copies in manuscript are now supposed to exist. This work, the index alone to which consists of fourteen large volumes, contains a complete compendium of the classics, and includes also a collection of everything written and revised by the emperors themselves or published under imperial authority. It embraces, says the chancelor, all knowledge under heaven, and reflects, as in a mirror, the past and present.

Parisian Barber Shops.

Long ago a royal decree compelled barbers and hairdressers to hang at their door a white basin, so as to distinguish them from surgeons, who sheltered themselves behind a copper basin, and these basins are still used for sign purposes.

They are of oval shape, and a small piece is chipped out at one end. This is intended to show that the basin will fit the neck under the chin.

But nowadays there are no such basins inside French barbers' shops. You must wash the lather off your own face when Figaro has finished shaving and cutting you. Then, if you want your hair dressed, you get back into the chair—and such uncomfortable chairs as they are too—again, and the fellow recommences.

There are some hairdressers who are not barbers, but all barbers are hair dressers, and most of them are also wig makers. They put some very queer signs over their shop doors sometimes.

There is one old man up by the College of France who has an oil painting outside his premises which represents Absalom hanging by his hair to a large tree while his horse is galloping away in the distance, and below the following words are written: "If he had worn one of our wigs this misfortune would not have happened him."

A barber of my neighborhood has a sign which reads: "Shaving done here today for money and to-morrow for nothing." This "to-morrow" that never comes, and which the evening before is so often promised, is it not the most bitter sarcasm of all the illusions of life that we are acquainted with?—Cor. New Orleans Picayune.

Terrible Asian Heat.

The horror of the heat is unknown to us, or indeed to any part of Europe, though Naples and Athens are desperately trying sometimes. But to the native of Scinde, Central Asia, the shores of the Persian gulf, the sun of Greece is but a trifle. The utter helplessness of man under this infliction adds horror to his sufferings.

There is no hope and no resource when the red hot air penetrates to those underground chambers in which the summer is passed in Central Asia. "The inhabitants," we learn, "are shutting themselves up to escape"—probably closing all the apertures of their subterranean abodes, except those absolutely necessary for ventilation. The air down below, under such circumstances, cannot be imagined by one who has not a touch of experience. Houses of good class are solidly constructed under ground, with chambers and doors and corridors, but the mass of the people inhabit big holes, roofed over, with no kind of permanent convenience. Every winter the frost and snow and rain play mischief with these rough pits, and the damage is not always, nor often, repaired by the following summer. Fancy thousands of Mongols in these dens, pursuing their filthy habits in semi-darkness, suffering the awful torment of heat, children wailing, adults raving, always in want of water and generally of food, in an atmosphere beyond conceiving.—London Standard.

Uses of Safes.

Foreman Dakota Slasher—I see the big safe you spoke of has arrived.

"Yes; had it hoisted in this morning. Beauty, ain't it? Ten feet square on the inside, walls a foot thick, solid iron. I just tell you, nothing can go through that."

"But you say you can't raise money to pay the printers; what do you want of a big safe like that?"

"Oh, that isn't to put money in. It's for me to get into when my great reform crusade starts."—New York Weekly.

The Hebrews' Good Example.

The Hebrews set the world an example by the way they care for their own people. In Philadelphia on a single day collections taken up in two synagogues netted $12,000. Their helpfulness is by no means confined to measures of this kind, for there is a system among the "chosen people" by which every brother's welfare is made the concern of the whole body. It is an example which might profitably be followed more thoroughly than it is by other religionists.—Pittsburg Times.
