> Says the Chronicle of June 11th: An opinion was filed by the Supreme Court yesterday in the case of Simon Hamberg, convicted of obtaining money under false pretenses from F. M. Parker. The false pretenses consisted in representing to Parker, an unsuspecting granger from Oregon with more money than a knowledge of the ways of the world, that he was the owner of certain lots in this city, and, relying upon such representations Parker paid $9500 for the mythical property. The defendant was tried, convicted and sentenced to one year's imprisonment and to pay a fine of $19,000, double the amount secured, or in default suffer 19,000 days in jail. The appellate court affirmed the judge ment in so far as it fixed the term of imprisonment, but following the case of Rosenheim, recently decided, but held that in so far as it imprisons for
