CULTURE IN CHICAGO.

A Trifling Mistake Has Made Things Unpleasant For a Noted Author. When the president of that exclusive literary organization, the Twentieth Century club, introduced Dr. A. Conan Doyle to a Chicago audience Friday evening, he committed an error which is likely to give rise to serious complications and to involve Dr. Doyle in embarrassment. Dr. Doyle is not a theologian-at any rate, not a professional theologian. He must have been startled when the Hon. George E. Adams announced him as Canon Doyle. Presumably many of the cultured men and women who were present at the Twentieth Century club reception take it for granted, upon the authority of the club's president, Mr. Adams, that Dr. Doyle is a canon, an associate perhaps of Canon Farrar, and high in the councils of the august church of England. We hear it rumored that Mr. Higinbotham, president of our late ever glorious and ever lamented World's fair, has not yet disabused his mind of the serious error arising from Mr. Adams' blunder: that he addresses Dr. Doyle as Father Doyle, and that at luncheon yesterday he said to his distinguished guest, "Will your reverence ask the blessing?"

We don't know how true it is, but we understand that Dr. Doyle has been invited to "fill the pulpit" in a number of our churches, and that he is besieged with letters addressed variously "Rev. Dr. Doyle," "Rev. Canon Doyle," 'The Very Rev. Canon Doyle," etc. Altogether much confusion has been precipitated by the little slip made simply in carelessness by the president of the Twentieth Century club. We think Lv. 4:40 P. M. Ar. 4:10 P. M. Lv. 7:00 P. M it incumbent upon that leading literary organization of the west to set about correcting the error its executive has innocently sprung upon the public and upon a very distinguished visitor. -Eugene Field in Chicago Record.

The circumstances of the recovery in brief are as follows: A man was arrested in New York for murder, and when that she has fitted up dressmaking parlors a certain lawyer was asked to defend him he inquired of the prisoner if he had any money. "No," said he, "but I can give you a pointer so I can get Dressmaking and Cutting $1,500, and you shall have $500 of it. The rest will have to go to a pawnbroker." In this way negotiations were opened by the New York attorney, who wrote to a certain Boston lawyer, he When you visit Portland, stop at the New Esmond Hotel, one of the best in the city with reasonable prices to suit every one. titled to condolences. She has become the Princess Belloselsky-Bellozersky. Perhaps she may find life endurable after she has learned her visiting card by heart. Mrs. Mullens, a fair, frail and law defying moonshiner, is the pride of Hancock county, Tenn., and when she plumps down the scale at 600 pounds the revenue officers show no strong desire to carry her to jail. Lizzie Borden and her sister have placed a beautiful monument over the graves of their murdered parents in Oak Grove cemetery, Fall River. It is one of the most costly and artistic structures on the

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, with her family, will spend the winter at the Marble House in Newport. This appears to be a change in the Vanderbilt programme, for it generally has been understood the family would go to New York for the winter.

Josephine Suffeenszka Javoska, who is said to be a grandniece of Pulaski, the Polish patriot who fought for this country in the Revolutionary war, and once a countess in St. Petersburg, sells newspapers in front of the postoffice in Brooklyn. Mme. Henri Schneider, wife of the proprietor of the great Creusot iron works, is said to wear the magnificent diamond that was among the crown jewels of France and was sold at public auction at $100,-000. She lost the diamond not long ago, and it was found by a street sweeper.

JEWEL AND GEM.

Diamond bracelets are seen in their best state as lacework with a pearl or some other gem as the principal form. Bows of pale satin ribbon have fine feathery aigrets held by light diamond ornaments. These are for the hair. The prettiest necklace observed was chain held together by diamond bars. Mercury wings prove to be very adaptable in jewelry. A frequent use is as a brooch of gold and imbedded seed pearls. The only form of the bowknot seen is double rosette shaped. The broad enamel ribbons are ornamented with gold. In the center is a jewel.

A magnificent network sown with pale amethysts and a framework of diamonds held up large fire opals. Another of diamonds held bunches of wistaria of amethyst quartz. Certainly a novelty was a chatelaine imbedded in gold, and instead of the usual cherub's head a comical face in enamel under a silk hat. There is an increasing tendency to mount back combs in plain shell and overlay the ornament on the shell. The design takes definite floral forms, and the flowers pin made of Mercury wings of seed pearls are in tinted gold. The wreath brooches grow lovelier and more costly. Two were seen with rubies and emeralds as tiny flowers with diamond leaves. Another was a wreath of emeralds and diamonds tied with a bowknot of diamonds. - Jewelers' Circular.

Not every one knows that the elk teeth, or rather the tusks, of which work. two only are found in the mouth of the adult elk, have a practical commercial value. The teeth are used as jewelry, from 50 cents to $2.50, according to its size, color and marking. Mr. Losekamp has now over 86,000 elk teeth deposited in safety vaults. Many of the old Indian dresses were highly ornamented with elk teeth, some | Yreka Journal. of them being fairly covered with the teeth. Mr. Losekamp has lived on the frontier all his mature life and understands Indian trading perfectly, yet he has sometimes paid over $100 for a single garment thus ornamented, caring, of course, for nothing but the teeth. The Indians brill the teeth to fasten them on their dresses, and this does not injure the value of the tooth, but they have a much worse habit of sometimes staining the teeth a bright red. This dye cannot be extracted and depreciates the value of the elk teeth for a white customer. The Indians do not dye the teeth so much now since they have learned they can sell them for more in their natural state. - Forest and Stream.

Mr. J. P. Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaize sent to the nearest drug'store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaize regards his cure as simply wonderful. For Sale by Ashland Drug Co.
