CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach." CARLOS MARTYN, D. D., New York City. Late Pastor Bloomingdale Reformed Church.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion, Without injurious medication.

"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results." EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., "The Winthrop," 125th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.

HE MET JOE JEFFERSON.

Happy Result of Richard Mansfield's Introduction to the Famous Comedian.

Joseph Jefferson and Richard Mansfield met for the first time recently, and the members of the Twelfth Night club now reckon events from that time.

It happened in this way: Mr. Mansfield had volunteered to take part at their recent benefit at the Empire theater, but a few days before the event sent word that it would be impossible for him to appear. The Twelfth Nighters do not like to cause any disappointments, so the young women were thrown into a great flurry. Mr. Mansfield was one of the strongest cards of the event.

Miss Beatrice Cameron, who is Mrs. Mansfield in private life, and who is also a loyal member of the Twelfth Night, was appealed to by her fellow members and it appears that under her influence Mr. Mansfield declared that he would appear without fail.

It is conceded, even by his opponents, that Mr. Mansfield has genius. Genius, too, has its eccentricities, and this may explain why Mr. Mansfield, on the very day of the entertainment, made it known that he positively would not appear.

Another reason advanced is that a comic opera comedian between whom and him existed an arctic void was on the bill, and Mr. Mansfield felt that he couldn't consistently appear on the same stage. But this is mere gossip—folks will talk, you know.

Whatever the facts, the leading Twelfth Nighters who were on the stage nearly fainted when they heard this final decision. There sat Mr. Mansfield in a box, looking at the performance as coolly as though he was to have had no part in it at all. Miss Alice Fischer, who is the vice president of the club, had some one bring him behind the scenes.

This was just after Mr. Jefferson had contributed his share to the entertainment and Mr. Mansfield had heartily applauded the dean of the American stage. Mr. Mansfield, after leaving his box, was surrounded by a bevy of young women, but all their pleadings didn't have the slightest effect on him.

Miss Fischer saw this and realized that some master stroke must be made, and quickly at that. She caught sight of Mr. Jefferson. Her mind was made up in an instant. She ran to him.

"Oh, Mr. Jefferson," said she, "do come with me. I want you and Mr. Mansfield to meet."

And with a cheery smile the old actor readily assented. The younger actor was just tearing himself from an almost sobbing circle of women when Miss Fischer came to save the day. She introduced the men.

"I am charmed to meet you, Mr. Jefferson," said Mr. Mansfield, cordially shaking the hand of Rip Van Winkle.

"A like pleasure is mine," said Mr. Jefferson. "I have heard much of your art, and this will be the first time I have had an opportunity of seeing you, and I have looked forward to it with the keenest enjoyment."

There was nothing but sincerity in the speech, and the young women who had been pleading in vain stood expectantly to one side awaiting the answer.

"Thank you," replied Mr. Mansfield. "I trust you will not be disappointed."

And neither was he. It is said Richard Mansfield walked on the stage and gave a brief performance which for brilliancy of execution has been seldom, if ever, excelled.—New York Herald.

MATTERS IN MAY-HEE-CO.

The Financier is advocating the erection of a $16,000,000 hotel in Mexico—pronounced as above, with the accent on the "hee."

Mexico is a semitropical country, but nearly everybody has the "catarro" or catarrh, because of the almost utter lack of heating facilities in the houses.

Pulque, the Mexican national drink, is made of fermented juice of the aloe, or Agave americana. The aqua aridienta of old Spain was made in a similar way from the Spanish agave.

The Mexican exposition next year will undoubtedly bring to the city a large number of visitors. By that time the great drainage tunnel will have been finished, and the health of the city will be improved.

AN AMAZED INDIAN CHIEF.

Two Stars' Introduction to the Kinetoscope and the Phonograph.

Probably no Indian who ever visited Washington to counsel with the great father returned to his tribe better satisfied with the results of his trip than the Sisseton Sioux Two Star. He not only accomplished the object of his mission, but he was entertained in a style that falls to the lot of few of the nation's wards. Agent Keller was with him, as well as the interpreter, Joe Brown. The latter, by the way, is a somewhat notable figure himself. He is a son of that Major Brown who commanded the troops at the battle of Birch Cooley during the Sioux outbreak. He has lived all his life among these Indians and now keeps a large store on the reservation.

Two Star was sent here by his tribe to ask the immediate payment to them of $199,000 of their principal now in the custody of the United States. This sum amounts to $1,699,000. The Indians are in very destitute circumstances this winter, owing to an almost complete failure of their crops, and the interest due them is not sufficient to carry them over until next fall. The impairment of the principal is a matter which by law rests entirely with the president. In this case he has promised to follow the recommendation of the commissioner of Indian affairs, which is to the effect that the grant be made.

It is a somewhat singular fact that, although Two Star was one of General Silbey's scouts and has always associated with the whites upon terms of the friendliest intimacy, he cannot speak a word of English. His enjoyment of the white man's amusement is, however, none the less keen. Senator Kyle's clerk, Duncan McFarland, took him in to see the kinetoscope. As he looked in upon the picture in motion a look of amazement, not unmixed with a degree of consternation, crept over his face. He stepped back and looked around, above and below the case to find out what caused the exhibition. It was some time before he could be persuaded to again apply the eye to the aperture, and when the machine stopped with a click the noble red man jumped as if he had heard the warwhoop of some of his tribal enemies.

He was equally amazed, but none the less pleased, with the phonograph and insisted upon having a selection by the Marine band repeated. He was taken to an amateur athletic and gymnastic performance at the Columbia Athletic club and witnessed the exhibition of skill and prowess with a delight that was almost childlike. Just before his departure for the west Two Star said to our correspondent:

"I was here in 1867, but no one paid any attention to me then. I think Washington is a much nicer place now. It will be no use for me to tell my people about the things I have seen and heard (referring to the kinetoscope and phonograph), for no one would believe me. They would say I was not speaking the truth."—Cor. St. Paul Pioneer Press.

J. A. Richardson, of Jefferson City, Mo., Chief Enrolling force 38th general assembly of Missouri, writes: I wish to testify to the merits of One Minute Cough Cure. When other so-called cures failed, I obtained almost instant relief and a speedy cure by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. E. A. Sherwin.

SAVED HER SLIPPERS.

A Bit of Hitherto Unpublished History of the War of 1812.

This is a chapter of semiofficial, semidomestic history, and it is vouched for by a granddaughter of the hero's family line, a Chicagoan who now lives on Dearborn avenue.

Prominent in Mr. Madison's cabinet sat, fourscore years ago, Secretary of the Navy Jones, the son of a famous shipbuilder, a man gallant not only in spirit, but in dress and manner. His fitness for his office is attested by the naval histories of the war of 1812. But the successful secretary had more wit than hair, and a wig was a sine qua non of his political and social life. All went well with this adornment until the luckless August day in 1814 when the British marched from Bladensburg upon Washington.

It will be remembered that President Madison and his cabinet stood not upon the order of their going on that occasion, but went at once—to a very retired summer resort. Every one knows how Lady "Dolly" remained behind long enough to save some valuable White House portraits from having their eyes put out by English bayonets, but few have heard how collected Mrs. Secretary Jones was in this national crisis.

Presence of mind is said to be promoted by absence of body. This lady displayed in the face of danger presence of both mind and body. As the secretary emerged from his doorway, his hands full of such family valuables as his agitated condition had allowed him to collect, Mrs. Jones confronted him with the appalling words:

"My dear, you have forgotten my slippers. You must go back and get them."

General Ross was almost at his door bringing imprisonment or death, but the unhappy man turned back to hunt the slippers, which, it is only fair to Mrs. Jones to add, were adorned with diamond buckles. In his headlong quest for these treasures—which he secured—his wig dropped off in a dark corner, and he did not dare to take time to hunt for it nor to attempt the purchase of another. The shorn appearance of the secretary, hitherto faultless in all appointments of dress, is said to have very much lessened the melancholy of the cabinet journey. It is further asserted that during the time of retirement, no matter how depressed any member of the presidential party felt over public and private woes, if he but glanced at Secretary Jones peal upon peal of irresistible laughter was sure to follow and that the despoiled Adonis cordially joined in these bursts of merriment.—Chicago Tribune.

Wrong, Always Wrong.

For about 24 months the country has suffered from a variety of experiments made by a party that for the first time in 30 years had complete control of our national legislation. Their success in doing the right thing at the wrong time and the wrong thing at the right time is now historical. They have seemingly preferred any wild method to cover a tariff reform deficit rather than foster home industries or reciprocity with foreign nations. The tax collected on foreign importations has not prevented buying gold on borrowed money at a 25 per cent increased rate of interest.—Clapp's Circular.

A Valuable Ally.

Our servant girl's a dandy,
Mary Ann.
We confess she's rather handy
With a pan,
But she's rather too ambitious,
And when things go 'gainst her wishes
She demolishes the dishes
Like a man.
We are put on the defensive,
Mary Ann,
And as porcelain's expensive
We've a plan.
Whereas she doth confine her
Strange antipathy to China,
We shall at once consign her
To Japan.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

Many years ago Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., compounded this medicine of vegetable ingredients which had an especial effect upon the stomach and liver, rousing the organs to healthful activity as well as purifying and enriching the blood. By such means the stomach and the nerves are supplied with pure blood; they will not do duty without it any more than a locomotive can run without coal. You can not get a lasting cure of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, by taking artificially digested foods or pepsin—the stomach must do its own work in its own way. Do not put your nerves to sleep with so-called celery mixtures, it is better to go to the seat of the difficulty and feed the nerve cells on the food they require. Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness and Nervous Affections, such as sleeplessness and weak, nervous feelings are completely cured by the "Discovery." It puts on healthy flesh, brings refreshing sleep and invigorates the whole system.

MRS. HENKE.

MRS. K. HENKE, of No. 846 North Halsted St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I regard my improvement as simply wonderful. Since taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in connection with his 'Pleasant Pellets' I have gained every respect, particularly in flesh and strength. My liver was dreadfully enlarged and I suffered greatly from dyspepsia. No physician could give relief.

Now, after two months I am entirely relieved of my disease. My appetite is excellent; food well digested; bowels regular and sleep much improved."

English Iron Trade.

The representatives of the iron trade of the United Kingdom are becoming desperate. Their exports of iron and steel have decreased 35 per cent since 1890, and Ryland's Iron Trade Circular, Jan. 12, gave the following advice:

"We have taken our coats off to meet our foe in time of war and come out with glorious laurels. Why not take them off again to meet our foe in trade matters? Get into the same boat, men, and row with your masters. Then we feel convinced the enemy will soon go before us, and old England, who, we are sometimes told, is fast going to the dogs, will look up once more, and at the end of 1895 we think we should be in a position to record a better state of affairs for master and man."

For physical ailments, especially those incident to declining years, there is no remedy that produces such satisfactory results as Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm, its general and invigorating effect on Liver and Kidneys is remarkable. Sold by E. A. Sherwin.

JEWEL AND GEM.

Lorgnettes are now wreathed in enamel flowers.

The new belt buckles are set effectively with barbaric gems.

Light pearl necklaces of several rows, held together by diamond bars, are still very fashionable.

A graceful bracelet shows a succession of rings, of a rippling character, in chased gold, with a garland of flowers formed of precious stones running through them.

A corsage garniture, consisting of jeweled gold stalks symmetrically arranged, with flowers of varicolored stones or of diamonds spreading about the stalks, is very elegant.

Some brooches consist of a miniature portrait framed with finely worked gold of three tints, yellow, red and green, with pear shaped pearls hanging on each side, and one at the top, on a motif in pierced work.

An artistic sterling silver brooch just offered bears in relief the head of Trilby, surmounted by the dainty cap of the blanchisseuse de fin. Surrounding it is a raised scroll border, in which appear the heads of the Laird, Taffy, Little Billee and Svengali.—Jewelers' Circular.

Dr. H. R. Fish of Gravois Mills, Mo., a practicing physician of many years experience, writes: De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve has no equal for indolent sores, scalds and burns. It stops pain instantly, heals a burn quickly and leaves no scar. E. A. Sherwin.

The Backbone of Trade.

The markets of the world are wide open to us under the Gorman tariff, but still our exports are not showing any wonderful gains; neither is there an extraordinary demand from foreign countries for American products and manufactures. The tendency of values is to cheapness, and if we had buyers here from England, France, Germany, Russia, Italy, Australia, India, China and Japan competing with one another to buy our goods there would surely be some stiffening to the backbone of trade.

A Successful Worker

Work cannot be successfully continued unless there is an active mental interest in it. If the mind is not clear, bright and buoyant, then the work is drudgery and the worker is a machine.
