

NOTES AND NEWS.

Decency will applaud the action of Judge Murphy of the San Francisco court in taking prompt measures to suppress, during the progress of the trial at least, the production of the play founded upon the Emanuel church murders.

The Harvey-Horr debate upon the silver question ended Monday. Of course both sides claim a victory. The greatest benefit that will come from the combat between the two intellectual gladiators will be in the placing of the two sides of the free coinage question before the reading public liberally, allowing the people to educate themselves upon the subject.

The proceedings in the trial of Theodore Durrant, the supposed murderer of Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams in San Francisco are dragging along before Judge Murphy. After the denial of the motion for a change of venue the work of empaneling a jury was begun and so far only two jurors have been secured, and the special venire of 150 drawn to try the case has been exhausted.

The Portland Oregonian announces that its subscription list has had nearly 4000 names added to since the reduction in price was inaugurated on July 1st, showing a growth unexampled in the newspaper history of the northwest.

The secretary of the democratic state central committee of Oregon recently sent out a circular letter to the various members of the committee apportioned over the state, asking their opinion as to the advisability of calling a meeting of the state committee to arrange for a state convention of democrats to take some action upon the silver question.

Halo Fighting Yet. The reports from the scene of troubles with the Bannock Indians continue conflicting. No reports, however, indicate that there has been much beside a general scare yet, though fears are expressed that the Indians, who have massed in the Jackson Hole country, will attack defenseless points.

Washington, July 30.—A telegram received at army headquarters from Major Bisbee, in command of the detachment of infantry sent to support the cavalry on its way to the scene of the Indian disturbance in Northern Idaho, reports that his force reached Market Lane at noon today. He will proceed at once toward Jackson's Hole with a view of being near the scene of operations as soon as possible, in case of emergency. Major Bisbee also says he has forwarded thirty days' rations to General Coppinger.

The Evolution of the Wheel. Rev. Thos. P. Boyd, pastor of the Centenary M. E. church at Portland, and a young man formerly residing in Ashland, and married to a daughter of one of the pioneer families of this place, is an enthusiastic wheelman, and held a special bicycle service last Sunday evening at his church, which is referred to at length in Monday's Oregonian.

Our modus operandi in this greatest of all reforms is to set in motion at first an interchange of services between men and women out of employment and paralyzed for lack of money. To do this requires no capital, and there is no possibility of a failure.

An Acknowledgment From England. It is surprising to find in a London paper a bit of philosophy so broad and strikingly true as the following, which is printed in The Daily News: "Independence day brings no bitterness of memory to the present generation of Englishmen. They know how many liberties they owe to it. But for the day and its lessons our empire might be a thing of the past."

Convicts to be Employed. Governor Lord this week entered into a contract with Julius Loewenberg, the Portland stove maker, for the hiring of convicts of the Oregon state penitentiary. The contract provides that 100 convicts shall be employed at once and 25 additional to be added every six months until all the available prisoners are employed. The price to be paid for their labor is 35c per day of ten hours.

A Successful Worker. Work cannot be successfully continued unless there is an active mental interest in it. If the mind is not clear, bright and active, then the work is drudgery and the worker is a machine. An occasional dose of Moore's Revealed Remedy will put the body and mind in such harmony that the hardest tasks will seem as play.

THEY WANT NO MONEY.

There is a quiet organization in San Francisco whose leaders say they have solved the financial problem by inventing a fractional system of exchanges which does away with both gold and silver as money.

The new society is known as the Labor Exchange and is based on the idea that the people seldom want what they themselves produce. Therefore they say that the way to solve the labor problem is to put the products of industry in the market for exchange for other commodities.

Carl Glesser is one of the leaders of the new society, but the Labor Exchange also conducts a general store which is managed by Henry Warfield. To his store the idle shoemaker or other manual worker brings the products he has manufactured at home or in his shop during a lull in business.

The founder of the system is G. R. de Bernardi, of Independence, Mo., an old organizer of Granges and other farmers' societies. His plans are said to have been recently indorsed by the eminent Michael Flurscheim of Switzerland, and by prominent political economists of Germany, who have organized exchanges on the same basis that finds practical illustration in the little store on Valencia street.

The following sentences from the prospectus of the organizer of the exchange show the general purposes of the reform. He says: "Behold the fundamental principle and aim of the true Labor Exchange which is not visible in any other similar movement of our day.

By such progressive methods we expect to be able not only to liberate the industries from the obstructions and exactions of the money power, but also to clear the mind of man of the money hypothesis."

It is surprising to find in a London paper a bit of philosophy so broad and strikingly true as the following, which is printed in The Daily News: "Independence day brings no bitterness of memory to the present generation of Englishmen. They know how many liberties they owe to it. But for the day and its lessons our empire might be a thing of the past."

Washington, July 29.—A review of copper and copper mining for the year 1894 made by the United States geological survey has been completed. It says that copper mining suffered from the general depression of the year, still the consumption was in advance of 1893.

Work cannot be successfully continued unless there is an active mental interest in it. If the mind is not clear, bright and active, then the work is drudgery and the worker is a machine. Jacksonville Items.

Editor Roberts of the Gold Hill Miner was in Jacksonville Saturday.

Harry Lay, Fred Page, John Orth and M. Taylor returned from a two weeks' trip to Cinnabar.

H. W. Grimes and family, Mrs. Alex Thompson, and others, will leave for an outing at Dead Indian next week.

Hon. C. C. Beckman left for Portland Wednesday whence he will go with his family for an extended eastern trip.

Robt. Bybee, youngest son of Wm. Bybee, of this place, returned Monday from an extended sojourn in Eastern Oregon.

Hon. N. Langell went to Ashland last Wednesday where he went by special appointment to meet Senator Mitchell, who was en route to San Francisco.

Dr. and Mrs. Geo. Barber, who have been in the confectionery business in this place, have sold their stock to J. K. Kinney and removed to Salem, as business interests demand their attention there.

Rev. T. L. Jones, presiding elder of the M. E. church for this district, held the last quarterly conference for the current year at the M. E. church in Jacksonville last Saturday. On Sunday he preached a most able and interesting sermon and held communion services immediately after. A large audience was present.

W. C. Englewood, who was accidentally hurt while assisting in loading the quartz mill machinery, is still suffering intensely from his injuries. H. W. Grimes is able to be out but is quite a dilapidated condition and does not care to repeat the experience.

Judge R. S. Dunlap went to Medford on Wednesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Eliza J. Hamlin, which occurred that day. Mrs. Hamlin was a pioneer of this county, having resided in Jacksonville in the '30s, and has lived on the home farm four miles east of Medford ever since.

A suit is on trial in Justice Dunlap's court in which Robt. Potter sues the Toledo Mining Co. for the recovery of $465 for wood cut and delivered for the company. Mr. Potter has attached the wood and some of the tools belonging to the company.

Jacksonville would better resurrect its sanitary committee, since the report is in circulation that diphtheria is prevailing in some of the northern counties of the state. A preventative is always better than a cure, and the deposit of garbage and the contents of cow stables in the alleys is not likely to be a health producing practice.

There is just the suggestion of a complaint of the process of food manipulation on the railroad depot block is a mistake, for two reasons. It is not a safe place to hitch teams as the most tractable horses are known to be in Jacksonville.

Indigestion is a result of a partial suspension of the process of food manipulation in the stomach and organs of assimilation. A gentle cathartic, such as Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Pellets, followed by a few, placing the bowels in the Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier will relieve and cure this distressing ailment and cause the digestion to proceed with a sense of comfort and gratification.

Jack Brady Confesses. Sacramento, July 29.—Jack Brady, the notorious outlaw, has made a confession to the officers that he is such a straight-forward story, bearing out the facts already in their possession, that they have no reason to doubt the genuineness of his assertions.

Brady made a clean breast of it, admitting that he and Browning had robbed the train near the sheep camp. He told his story in such a manner that there can scarcely be any doubt as to its truthfulness. Brady says that before holding up the passenger train they went out on the railroad track and experimented with some torpedoes, placing them in front of a freight train. They worked satisfactorily and next night they went out to hold up the express train.

Children, especially infants, are soon run down with cholera, infantum or "summer complaint." Don't wait to determine, but give DeWitt's Colic & Cholera Cure promptly; you can rely on it. Use no other. E. A. Sherwin.

Take My Advice

and look out for your health. Prevention is better than cure, but cures depend largely on having prescriptions correctly compounded and prepared of absolutely fresh and pure drugs. Our prescription department is unsurpassed in this country, praised by all local physicians and esteemed by the public.

We carry a full line of the standard remedies and medicines and the hundred and one little preparations that are constantly needed, at the most reasonable prices.

MINING NOTES AND NEWS.

Yreka Journal: The Espey, Hunter & Co. pumping plant at Shasta river, works finely, and is a grand success in raising water nearly 500 feet to a flume, extending towards Hawkinsville.

Grants Pass Courier: George Wimer and W. J. came over from the Wimer placer mine near Waldo this week. The clean-up of '95 has been most satisfactory on these big placers and the owners have just completed their ditch for dumpings and tailings upon which they have worked so faithfully for several years.

Bloomer and Bloomers. EDITOR TIDINGS:—The following is clipped from a recent issue of the Oregon Independent: "When Charles Nickell, of the Jacksonville, put his thoughts into verse, he is more of a success than he is in some other lines, as witness the following on the question of bloomers:

Seeking climes with greener pastures, viewing scenes that's ever new, Memory crowds our mental vision, of blighted faith no pen can tell; Some hope that he is clad in bloomers, dancing now a jig in the moonlight. Yes, we remember festive Bloomer and the time he did abscond, Also the night we held the snipe sack, wandered home and paid his bond. J. M. Ashland, Oregon, July 29, 1895.

Great Wallace Shows. Saturday's Baker City Democrat: The arrival of the Great Wallace Shows in Baker City was delayed yesterday on the O. R. & N. west of Huntington by the lack of locomotive power.

Notice to Water Consumers. It has been found that if everybody using water for irrigation purposes tries to irrigate at the same time, some persons get more water than they are entitled to, while others cannot get any. Therefore it is ordered by the fire and water committee that all persons living west and north of Ashland creek may use water from the city water mains for irrigation and sprinkling only on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday of each week, and that all persons living east and south of Ashland creek use water for said purposes only on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each week.
