DEBATE OF LIVELY. Senator Single Variety of Topics

WASHINGTON, D. C. - The Senate yesterday was the scene of a lively debate, in which the members of the Senate were divided, as usual, in their opinions. The debate was carried on in a spirit of good feeling, and was attended by a large number of spectators.

The debate was opened by Senator Single, who made a short speech in favor of the bill. The Senator was followed by Senator Variety, who made a long and elaborate speech, in which he advocated the bill in every particular.

The other members of the Senate then took turns in speaking, and the debate was carried on in a spirit of good feeling.

COMPANY DENIES REPRESENTATION

LETTER FROM WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC AND MANUFACTURING COMPANY CONTRACTS STATEMENTS OF W. S. FOWLER.

This letter has been so much as rumor for the past few days that some further information of interest may be gleaned from an examination of the contract.

The letter was written by Mr. Fowler, who is a prominent member of the board of directors of the company, and is addressed to Mr. J. B. Westinghouse, the president of the company.

In the letter, Mr. Fowler says that the company has no intention of entering into any contract with any of the individuals named in the report, and that the company will not enter into any contract with any other individuals.

The fact that the company has no intention of entering into any contract with any of the individuals named in the report, and that the company will not enter into any contract with any other individuals, is clearly shown by the following statement, which is taken from the letter:

"We wish to state categorically that the company has no intention of entering into any contract with any of the individuals named in the report, and that the company will not enter into any contract with any other individuals."
